PLAYING WATER POLO.
 One of the largest crowds of the season visited the public swimming scow at St. Mark's Cove yesterday and today to dip in the river. As a result of the additional facilities provided by Commissioner Bullock, the swimming scow and ferries department more patrons can be accommodated. The instructor, Mark Burns, is making a great impression in his work and in addition to teaching the art of swimming and life saving he has introduced a new sport, water polo, which is making quite a hit with the men and boys.

A BIG LOSS.
 On Monday evening last a swimmer at the public bath in the mountains, went into the dressing room of the instructor to prepare for a swim. He left his clothes there while he went for a dip in the briny. The instructor, Mark Burns, left his room for a few minutes to go down to the scow to see the swimming scow, which was being moved from Carleton, come in. On his return he was greeted by the swimmer who told him that between fifty and sixty dollars were missing from the pockets of his clothes which the swimmer had left there. A thorough search failed to reveal the whereabouts of the money and the swimmer is mourning his loss.
