LONG HIDDEN UNDER THE GRIME OF LONDON; AMERICA RE-DISCOVERED

(Times Special Correspondence)

London, Feb. 13—America was discovered all over again in London recently. At the long-hidden statue of America was found. It is really no use putting up a statue or any other kind of memorial in London for the biggest of London's railway stations, it will be practically enveloped in a pitch-black cloak of London soot, some 6000 tons of which, according to an engineer's estimate, is always hanging in the atmosphere of this metropolis.

The statue of "America" which has just been discovered adorns the front of the Cannon Street Hotel, which adjoins one of the biggest of London's railway stations, and is a favorite place for big political and other gatherings. It was put up in 1860, since when its walls have not been cleaned, hence for forty years or more all the rather elaborate decorations which cover them have been hidden from sight as completely as if they never existed. The pall of mingled soot and grime above the level of the ground, was removed after what is known as "wire-brushing" the surface, becomes fairly clean.

Four statues, it appears, representing the four continents, besides some balustrading and arching with decorative panels, compose the long-shouldered facade of the Cannon Street Hotel. Of these statues, two, Europe and Asia, have now been brought completely to light. America has just been located and partly unveiled, and Africa, appropriately enough is still the "dark" continent.

Hearing of the discovery of America in Cannon street, the writer hastened to the spot, and after mounting to dizzying heights, by means of a ladder, and crawling along a stone ledge some eighty feet above the level of the ground, was rewarded with a sight of the partially exposed statue, which stands some fifteen or sixteen feet high.

It is the figure of a woman holding in one hand a gun, and in the other some ears of corn. On the ground is something which may represent either a tomahawk or the axe of the pioneer, and underneath in letters that once were gilt, appears the word "America."

If the whole of London would thus be cleaned over night, its druzens would get up next morning and fancy themselves in a strange city.

ALLEGED BRIBERY TO GAIN THAW'S FREEDOM

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 26—John Nicholson Anhalt, a New York lawyer, accused by Dr. John W. Russell, superintendent of the Massachusetts Hospital, of having offered him a bribe of $50,000 to release Harry K. Thaw, was a witness today before Governor Satter's committee of inquiry.

Anhalt testified that "I was a Hoffman said to be Thaw's agent, called at my office on November 29 and paid $25,000 on the following agreement: '$12,000 was to be returned by January 1, unless the matter of Thaw's release was commended and the remainder was to be returned by July 1, 1913, unless Thaw was released by that date. 'I knew the man I wanted was Dr. Russell. I telephoned him and he came down the next day. I told him about my relations. In the course of his conversation he told me he released about 25 per cent of the inmates of Mattawan each year.'

CONDENSED DESPATCHES

New York, Feb. 26—Abraham Steinberg, a walking delegate of a union, was murdered on orders from contractors who feared the results of his labors would injure their business, according to the alleged confession of the men charged with the killing. Miss May Bourdage, New Richmond, N. B., writes:—"For years I was troubled with sick headache, and dizziness, and was also constipated. Rev. Frederic P. Dennison occupied the pulpit of Zion church, Yarmouth, on Feb. 14. He spoke before the Yarmouth county Quarterly on the 19th, and also lectured in Temple church, and his bride has been spending part of her honeymoon with Rev. C. T. and Mrs. Clark at Temple parsonage.

Rev. I. C. Corey will be remembered by many in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. He was a year and a half with the Fairville, N. B., church, but nearly all his ministry has been spent in the United States. He is just closing a five years' pastorate at Fremont, Nebraska, where he had previously spent sixteen years as pastor.

Rev. E. J. Grant writes us of a call he made on Rev. W. M. Knollin at his home in Salem, Yarmouth county, N. S. He has been in partial retirement for a few years, and for more than a year has been wholly laid aside from work. By the older people, especially of the former Free Baptist body, Brother Knollin will be kindly remembered. He was ordained in 1857, and labored for a few years in New Brunswick, his native province, one of the churches of which he was pastor being Waterloo street, this city. After more than half a century of faithful and fruitful ministry, he awaits the Father's call home. May great peace fill his closing days.
