

mittee is exemplified in the diploma received for faithful work from the Cleveland Convention of 1894. Several missionary meetings were held during the year, and the Missionary Committee provided interesting papers on mission topics, and succeeded in making each meeting instructive as well as enjoyable to all who attended. The members of the Visiting Committee have been very active in visiting sick members during the year, providing (when possible) each one with flowers, and giving a cheering and comforting word wherever they went.

A deputation from the Managers of our Church met with us in one of our meetings in 1894, for the purpose of laying before us a scheme, viz.: That we raise the sum of $100 for furnishing the Bible Class room. We heartily acquiesced in the proposal, and at once made arrangements for raising same. We are sorry that this report will not show a receipt of the amount in full; but at present we have on hand $25, and hope in the near future to have the balance.

One of the many motions passed by the Society during the year 1894 was to organize a "Bureau of Information." A Committee was formed for said purpose, but as yet completions towards this scheme have not been made. Our idea of this department was to have an office in the vestibule of the church, at which place names of strangers and sick members might be recorded, the same to be handed to the Elders.

We would like to make special mention of an interesting meeting held on the evening of Dec. 31st, 1894. As it was our last meeting together, we arranged to have all the members present who were in the city,
