Bootleggers and Whiskey Smugglers are Disgracing Canada

Abolish Importation on April 18 by Voting YES

SINCE January 1, 1920, when war-time restrictions against importation were lifted, liquor shipments, by express alone, for a long period averaged four to six carloads per day. Four cars per day means at least 1,600 cases or 19,200 bottles daily—a rate of over 5,000,000 quarts per year!

Breaches of the Ontario Temperance Act since that date have increased in even greater proportion.

This imported "booze" is the stuff which enables the bootlegger and the whiskey smuggler to defy the officers of the law and disgrace Canada.

"After an experience in the administration of the Ontario Temperance Act covering the period since it first came into force in September, 1916, I am in a position to state that importation is seriously hampering its effectiveness," states the Chairman of the Board of License Commissioners.
