MUNICIPAL SOLONS IN SHORT SESSION

FINISHED BUSINESS IN LESS THAN AN HOUR

Number of Communications About Inadequate Drainage-City Engineer's Report and Trio of Motions.

Something went smash at the meeting of the city council last night. It was a record. The municipal legislators were in their seats exactly forty-five minutes when the motion to adjourn was put and carried. The time was phenomenal, and will doubtless not be equalled this term. The business, which was entirely of a routine order, was polished off handily. the majority of the communications go-ing to the city engineer's department for report. Now that the wet season has set in that official will have a crop of matters weekly to incorporate in his daily duties. Ald. Kinsman and Yates were not present last night, and they therefore missed and interference of the therefore missed participation in the record breaking.

After the usual formalities a communication was read from Drake, Jackson & Helmcken, on behalf of the Donald Fraser estate, James Bay, regarding the appointment of an arbitrator in th matter of the expropriation of lot 1 block 70.

Frank Page, clerk of the police court and secretary of the board of police com communicated the application of the chief of the board, for detectives' winter clothing and constables shoes and trousers. Referred to the finance committee for report.

Sidney Wilson drew attention to the bad condition of Michigan street in front of his property, which lacked adequate drainage, causing water to accumulate. Referred to the city engineer.

Sarah A. Smith asked permission to move her house on Dallas road to an-other lot, a short distance away. Referred to city engineer and building inector for report.

F. Elwoorthy, secertary of the Victoria, B. C., Board of Trade, reported that the 14,000 copies of the pamphlet, Victoria, Past and Present, had been nearly all distributed. He commented on the ad-visability of a new pamphlet being prepared to continue the good work, and asked for an additional contribution of $350, on condition that the committee o the board raise the remainder from other

Ald. Stewart moved that the commun cation be received and filed, and that the writer be informed that the council had no funds available for the purpose. He idered the time had arrived when these applications should be stopped.

Ald. Williams held a contrary opinion referring to the excellence of the idea and the fact that the board were willing to meet the council half way. He want-ed the communication referred to the finance committee for report. The amendment was lost and Ald. Stewart's motion carried. J. F. Sprinkling accepted the council's award of $100 in compensation for in-juries sustained by him through an accident to a hose reel while en route to a fire, Filed. Alex. Smith directed attention to de-

It had always been used for recreation grounds and the people in the vicinity would not tolerate its enclosure. Received and Mr. St. Clair to be informed that the council has not the available funds required for the improvements requested.

John Floyd offered the sale of lots on Cormorant and Pandora streets for building sites, for the new fire when the artment headquarters are moved. Laid on table.

W. G. Eden, of Foul Bay, wanted to know if the council intended instituting proceedings against those who did not pay the "special discriminating vehicles tax, 1901," or those who did not intend to pay; if not, would the money of those who had paid be refunded. It was moved that the communication be tabled, but Ald. Williams contended that no such discourteous action should be taken. The inquiry should be an-swered. Ald. Hall held a similar view. Ald. Cameron remarked that this tax was an unfair one, and it was necessary that it be either collected from none or It was hardly right that those who had paid their business tax should be compelled to pay the impost on vehicles which constituted necessary parts of their business. He advised that Mr. Eden be informed that the by-law would be enforced until repealed. This course was decided upon. Reay vs. Reay et al.-Partition suit. trial line was concerned. The Pinder party reached the canyon, time its construction was fraught with no little difficulty, a great deal of rough and unexplored country, presenting some considerable obstacles, giving the sur-veyors hard work. Latterly rain fell in torrents, and the members of the part were doubtless heartily tired of the daily saturation by the time they were finished. The parties had their contingent of Indian guides and packers.
