ARSON CASE CONTINUED

Magistrate Refused to Dis-charge Thornton

Mr. Carvell Claimed No Case Had Been Made—Defense Will Call Witnesses

HARTLAND, N. B., Sept. 4.—The examination into the charge of arson against W. P. Thornton was resumed today and quite a number of witnesses examined. S. H. Shaw testified that he had acted as Mrs. Tracey's agent in renting the store to Thornton, and the correspondence between Thornton and Mrs. Tracey and the lease of the store were put in evidence showing that the store was to be used as a drug store and that Thornton was to vacate on August 1st.

Dr. McIntosh testified that no member of the Thornton firm was residing under the N. B. Pharmacy and that no druggist's diploma hung in the shop.

H. B. Cox swore that Thornton had been prosecuted under the Canada Temperance Act on his (Cox's) evidence, and that the witness was living in the Tracey building and had lost all his effects without insurance, having been at Brown's flats at the time of the fire.

HID GLASS EYES FROM SWEETHEART

Telegram Gave Italian Police an Anxious Day—Sent by a Timid Wacoer

TURIN, Sept. 4.—A mysterious telegram furnished a day's excitement to the authorities here the other day. It had been despatched from Bra, a small railway junction in Piedmont, where an excited individual had jumped from a train and hurried to the telegraph office with the following message to an address in Turin: "Carefully hide eyes on dressing table. Destroy all evidence. Burn this message."

The telegraphist remarked on the strangeness of the telegram to his colleague in Turin, who had also notified it, and took the message to his chief, who in turn handed it to the prefecture, whence it was sent to the police. The opinion of the latter was that a crime had been committed and detectives were put on the case.

Their investigations led to the harmless explanation that the sender of the suspicious telegram had lost one eye and wore a glass one. He was engaged to be married and did not want his fiancée to know of his infirmity. In Turin, where he had two reserve eyes made, he stayed at the house of his prospective brother-in-law, who alone was in the secret. He left his two reserve eyes by mistake on the dressing table in his bedroom, and when he reached Bra, suddenly remembered them, and knowing that his fiancée was going to visit her brother's house, he rushed to the telegraph station so that the eyes might not be discovered and his suit thus spoiled.

ROME, Sept. 4.—Pope Pius is greatly interested in a proposal to bring about the beatification of Marie Seton, founder of the American Christian Charity Schools. He has assured the American ecclesiastical authorities the matter will be placed before the competent congregation as soon as possible.

TWO WOMEN ASPHYXIATED

Country Visitors Blew Out the Gas

Mother and Daughter, Visiting the Toronto Exhibition Met Tragic End

TORONTO, Sept. 4.—Two exhibition visitors, Mrs. John Shannon and her daughter, Mrs. Alex. McEwing, lost their lives through asphyxiation by gas in their room last night at the Osmonds Hotel.

The women were sleeping together in room No. 5, on the first floor of the hotel. The husband of the younger woman and his uncle had accompanied the women to the city and they were sleeping in a room near by. The party all came from Huron county, some ten or twelve miles north of Seaford.

LIVERPOOL PAGEANT SPLENDID SPECTACLE

City by the Mersey Celebrates Its Seven Hundredth Birthday Anniversary.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 4.—The celebration of the foundation of Liverpool was successfully inaugurated by two representations of the great pageant depicting the city's history from 1207 (when King John granted the first charter to Liverpool) to the present time.

The weather blessed the occasion, and there were 50,000 spectators. The principal stand in the arena on the corporation's Edge Lane estate was occupied by the Earl and Countess of Derby, the Earl of Lathom, the mayor and mayoress of East Liverpool, Ohio, and by thirty mayors and mayoresses of Lancashire, Cheshire and provincial towns, who had previously been the guests of the Lord Mayor and Mayoress of Liverpool at lunch in the Town Hall.

The show commenced with a display of physical drill by 2,000 school children in costume. Then came the pageant, divided into twelve periods of the city's history, with a prologue in the shape of a banner of Liverpool, showing the city arms and crest, with the "Liver" prominently in the center, and in the top corner the arms of the see of Liverpool and the university.

The first period of the pageant showed a company of ancient Britons, Norsemen and Saxons, with banners borne by Drusus, on the banner was a representation of Runcorn Castle, built by Princess Ethelfleda, daughter of Alfred the Great, to resist the Norse invasion. In the picture she was seen reviewing her fleet from the banks of the Mersey.

Period the second dealt with the martial times of the Normans and Plantagenets, in which King John (portrayed by Professor Ramsey Muir, prime minister of the city) was the most striking figure. Knights in armor, squires, heralds, falconers, sheriffs, balliffs and monks populated this scene, which was also remarkable for two cars of striking design. One bore Liverpool's patron monarch, on his caparisoned steed, as in his effigy in Winchester Cathedral, and ready to hand to the standards of the West Derby Hundred, the first charter of the city. The other, commemorating the foundation of Birkenhead Priory at the end of the thirteenth century, was surrounded by chanting monks, bearing cots, in token of the establishment of the first Mersey ferry.

The age of the Tudors, in which local history is but a slender thread, was illustrated in the sixth period. The feature of this section was a representation of the type of ship used by the adventurers of the sixteenth century, carrying traders and their tales.

ABUSE MADE BOY A MURDERER

Parental Cruelty and Neglect His Ruin

Defendant in Bath, Maine, Murder Case Tells Shocking Story of Hardship

BATH, Me., Sept. 4.—The defense completed its case tonight in the trial of Sidney K. Froese on the charge of the murder of Doris W. Heath, and it is expected the case will go to the jury by tomorrow night, the state still having some rebuttal to put in.

The feature of the trial today was the appearance of the young respondent on the stand, and his testimony took up a greater part of the forenoon. He told the story of his life, detailing the story of abuse to which he said he had been subjected by his parents from his first remembrance and of going without suitable clothing in winter.

Dr. Harry W. Mitchell, superintendent of the Eastern Maine Hospital at Bangor, who had examined the respondent on three occasions and Edwin T. Wentworth, superintendent of the state school for boys at South Portland were also of the opinion that the boy was somewhat deficient in mental powers.

GIRL HORSEWHIPS MAN AT BALL GAME

Crowd in Grand Stand Cheers as Lash Descends on Baker Accused of Gossping

MINEOLA, L. I., Sept. 4.—During a base ball game between the Mineola and Pocomoke teams today near the Long Island Railroad Station, Miss Frieda Horther, nineteen years old, daughter of Andrew Horther, a wealthy baker of Harrison Avenue and Main street, horsewhipped Ferdinand Stabb, twenty-six years old, a baker, because he was alleged to have insulted her. She struck him a dozen times, while several hundred persons who were watching the game cheered her on.

Stabb formerly worked for Mr. Horther, and recently a neighbor told Mrs. Horther that the young man had spoken disrespectfully of her daughter. Mrs. Horther told her husband, who started down town to give Stabb a thrashing. Meanwhile the young woman also took the warpath in search of the baker.

She put the whip under her coat, and after a search through the village found Stabb sitting on his bicycle watching the base ball game. She drew out her whip and without a word slashed him across the face and back several times. While those in the grand stand laughed and cheered the young woman continued to lash him until she was told away by her girl friends.

Miss Horther said she thrashed Stabb as much in the interest of ethics as in her own, for she declared there never was a night that she went home that she was not insulted by some corner loafer.

PREFERRED DEATH TO SCHOOL

Girl, Forced by Her Parents to Resume Her Lessons, Shoots Herself

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 4.—Emma Graham, eighteen years old, daughter of Burgess J. H. Graham, of Elizabeth, is dying in the Mercy Hospital from a revolver shot in her side, which she inflicted herself this morning. The girl is a member of the graduating class of the high school. School opens today, but she declared that she would not go. This morning, when the bell rang, she still refused to go until her mother ordered her to dress and start for the schoolhouse.

"All right," she declared, as she started upstairs. A moment later there was a revolver shot, and she was found unconscious in her room. She was hurried to this city, where it is stated at the Mercy Hospital that she cannot recover. The only reason that she can be assigned for the act is that she did not want to go to school.

LIBERALS MEET ONTARIO

New Minister of Railways Heartily Received

Protest Against Passing Over Old Stalwarts—Independence in Press Deplored—Mackenzie King Again.

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 4.—The meeting of the Ontario Liberal Association was terminated this afternoon by some talk relative to the removal of Hon. Geo. P. Graham from the provincial leadership to the cabinet. The proceedings of the gathering all the morning were harmonious and enthusiastic. Reports, resolutions and addresses were received with acclimation, and Hon. Mr. Aylesworth's statement that Mr. Graham was chosen for cabinet preference because he "was unequalled by any other man in Ontario," passed unchallenged.

Dr. Chamberlain entered stout protest against the way in which the old stalwarts who fought the battles of the party were overlooked when chances of preferment came.

In the course of his presidential address, Mr. Mowat deplored the tendency to independence in some of the Liberal press. Party men, he said, were unappreciative of uncertainty, and if the party newspapers were to suffer gradual elimination the Liberal party in Ontario would be less well equipped to understand and argue political questions.

Hon. Mr. Aylesworth in his address said he was no longer the baby minister. He paid a tribute to Mr. Graham as the right man in the right place, and said he had been chosen because he was unequalled by any other in Ontario. Alluding to the past, Mr. Aylesworth said that no Liberal had any cause to be ashamed of Hon. Mr. Hyman. He had been attacked and vilified in a most unworthy and disgraceful way by the Tory press.

Hon. Mr. Graham promised to devote his attention particularly to Ontario. The outlook was not discouraging in provincial affairs. He urged the members of the legislature to get together at the earliest possible moment and choose one of themselves as their new leader. In the Dominion arena, Mr. Graham would always devote himself most heartily to Ontario. He hoped to assist in securing a majority for Sir Wilfrid Laurier from this province.

Friends of Mackenzie King, deputy minister of labor, feel that if he is inclined to enter the political field, the Ontario house offers a better opportunity for a man of his years and talents than the federal house holds out at the present time. The first thing to secure for Mr. King is a seat and the constituencies mentioned are Brockville, from which Mr. Graham has just resigned; North Oxford and Brantford. Liberals think that Premier Whitney will appeal to the country in June next, and while Dominion Liberals hope for two more sessions they would not be surprised if Sir Wilfrid Laurier appeared to the country in September, 1908.

Queen's Rollaway.

Another large crowd was present at the Queen's Rollaway last evening, and the delightful exercise is once more the proper thing. There will be a band again tonight, and it is expected that the old-time crowds that were always present on Thursday nights will be present tonight.

A MAN OF MANY PARTS.

Here is an amusing old handbill printed and circulated in Cumberland, England, early in the nineteenth century.

"I, James Williams, parish clerk, sexton, town crier and bellman, make and sell all sorts of haberdasheries, groceries, etc., likewise hair and wig dress and cut, on the shortest notice. Also—

"N. B.—I keep an evening school, where I teach at reasonable rates, reading, writing, singing and sums. "N. B.—I play the hobby occasionally, if wanted.

"N. B.—My shop is next door, where I bleed, draw teeth and shoe horses, all with greatest skill.

"N. B.—Children taught to dance, if agreeable, at six pence per week, by me, J. Williams, who buy and sell old iron and coals—shoes cleaned and mended.

"N. B.—A hat and pair of stockings to be exchanged for the best in 5, on Shrove Tuesday. For particulars inquire of the churchwarden, on either side of the way.

"N. B.—Look over the door for the sign of the 2 pigeons.

"N. B.—I sell good aye, and sometimes cyder—lodgings for single men."
