HOME V. HOTEL LIFE. Rev. Dr. Talmage Discourses on a Question of Domestic Interest.

He Points Out the Disadvantages of a Life Spent in Hotels and Boarding Houses.

The Wholesome Influences Surrounding the Home.

WASHINGTON, July 9.-Home life versus hotel life is the theme of Dr. Talmege's sermon for today, the dis-Dr. advantages of a life spent at more less temporary stopping places being sharply contrasted with the blessings the village or city.

that are found in the real home, h ever humble. The text is Luke x, 34 "And brought him to an inn and 35took care of him. And on the morrow when he departed he took out two when he departen he took out two pence and gave them to the host and said unto him. Take care of him, and whatsoever thou spendest more when I come again I will repay thee." This is the good Samaritan paying the hotel bill of a man who had been probled and simost billed by hor dits robbed and almost killed by bandits. The good Samaritan had found the unfortunate on a lonely, rocky road, where to this very day depredatio are sometimes committed ut on travel-lers, and had put the injured man into the saddle, while this merciful and well-to-do man had walked till they got to the hotel, and the wounded man was put to bed and cared for. It must have been a very superior hotel in its accommodations, for, though in ountry, the land ord was paid at the soundry, the land ord was paid at the rate of what in our country would be $4 or $5 a day, a penny being a day's wages, and the two pennies paid in this case about two days, wages. More-over, it was one of those kind-hearted landlords who are wrapped up in the happingss of their guests, because the good Samaritan leaves the poor wound-ed fellow to his entire care, promising that when he came that way again he would pay all the bills until the invalid Hotels and boarding houses are ne cessities. In very ancient times they were unknown, because the world had omparatively few inhabitants, and those were not much given to travel, and private hospitality met all the or hostler or bell boy will. wants of sojourners, as when Abraham rushed out at Mamre to invite the three en to sit down to a dinner of veal; as when the people were positively commanded to be given to hispitality; as in many of the places in the eas as in many of the places in the east these ancient customs are practiced today. But we have now hotels pre-sided over by good landlords, and boarding houses presided over by ex-cellent host or hostess in all neighbor-hoods, villages and cities, and it is our surpass all other lands. They rightly come the permanent residence any people, such as those who as thout families, such as those who siness keeps them migratory, suc as those who ought not for various reasons of health or peculiarity of cir-cumstances, to take upon themselves the cares of housekeeping. LAWFUL AND UNLAWFUL USE OF But one of the great evils of this day is found in the fact that a large popu-lation of our fowns and cities are giving up and have given up their homes and taken apartments, that they may have more freedom from domestic du ties and more time for social life, and cause they like the whirl of publicity etter than the quiet and privacy of a idence they can call their own. The lawful use of these hotels and bourd-ing houses is for most people while they are in transitu, but as a terminus they are in transition, but as a they are in many cases demoralization, inter and complete. That is the point at which families innumerable have acgun to disintegrate. There never has been a time when so many families, healthy and abundantly able to support and direct homes of their own have struck tent and taken permanent abode in these public establishments It is an evil wide for Christendom, and by voice and through the newspaper press I utter warning and burning protest and ask Almighty God to bless the word, whether in the hearing or In these public caravansaries the demon of gossip is apt to get full sway. All the boarders run daily the gountlet of general inspection how they look when they come down in the morning and when they get in at night, and what they do for a living, night, and what they do for a living, and who they receive as guests in their rooms, and what they wear and what they do not wear, and how they eat, and how much they eat, and how little they eat. If a man proposes in such a place to be isolated and reticent and alone, they begin to guess about him: Who is he? Where did he come from? How long is he going to stay? Has he How long is he going to stay? Has he How long is he going to stay? Has he paid his board? How much does he pay? Perhaps he has committed some crime and does not want to be known. There must be something wrong about him, or he would speak. The whole house goes into the detective business. They must find out about him. They must find out about him right away. If he leaves his door unlocked by accident, he will find that his rooms have been inspected, his trunk explored, his letters folded differently from the way they were folded when he put them away. Who is he? is the question asked with intenser interest until the subject has become a monomania. The simple fact is that he is nobody in par-"ticular, but minds his own business. The best landlords and landladies "cannot sometime's hinder their places from becoming a pandemonium of whisperers, and reputations are torn to tatters, and evil suspicions are aroused, and scandals started, and the parliament of the family is blown to atoms by some Guy Fawkes who was not caught in time, as was his English predecessor of gunpowder reputation. The reason is that while in private homes families have so much to keep them busy in these promiscuous and multitudinous residences there are so many who have nothing to do, and that always makes mischief. They gather in each other's rooms and spend hours in consultation about others. If they had to walk a half mile sefore they got to the willing ear of some listener to detraction, they would be out of breath before reaching there and not feel in full glow of animosity or slan-der, or night, because of the distance, not go at all. But rooms 20, 21, 22, 23, 24 and 25 are on the same corridor, and when one carrien crow goes "Caw! carded of neglectel because there is no homestead in which to arrange no homestead in which to arrange them. And yet they are the case in which the pearl of domestic happiness is set. You can never become as at-tached to the appointments of a board-ing house or family hotel as to those things that you can call your own and are associated with the different mem-bers of your household or with scenes of thrilling import in your domestic history. Blessed is that home in which for a whole lifetime they have been gathering, until every figure in the carwhen one carrion crow goes "Caw! Caw!" all the others hear it and flock together over the same carcass. "Oh, I have heard something rich! Sit down and let me tell you all about it." And gathering, until every figure in the car-pet and every panel of the door and every casement of the window has a chirography of its own, speaking out the first guffaw increases the gather-ing, and it has to be told all over again, and as they separate each carries a spark from the altar of Gab to some something about father or mother or son or daughter or friend that was with other circle until, from the coal heaver in the cellar to the maid in the top

THE GRACE OF HOSPITALITY. the defamation, and that in the top the defamation, and that evening all who leave the house vill bear it to other houses until autumnal fires The public residence of hotel or boarding house abolishes the grace of hospitality. Your guest does not want to come to such a table. No one wants to run such a gauntlet of acute and sweeping across Illinois prairies are less raging and swift than that fiame of consuming reputation blazing across erciless hypercriticism. Unless you have a home of your own you will not be able to exercise the best rewarded of all graces. For exercise of this GOSSIP OF THE BOARDING HOUSE. grace what blessing came to the Shun-ammite in the restoration of her son Those of us who were brought up in the country know that the old-fashioned hatching of eggs in the haymow reto life because she entertained Elisha, and to the widow of Zarephath in the quire four or five weeks of brooding, but there are new modes of hatching by machinery, which take less time and perpetual oil well of the miraculous oruse because she fed a hungry pro-phet, and to Rahab in the preservation of her life at the demolition of Jericho do the work by wholesate. So, while the private home may brood into life an occasional falsity, and take a long cause she entertained the spies, and to Laban in the formation of an intertime to do it, many of the boarding houses and family hotels afford a esting family relation because of his entertainment of Jacob, and to Lot in swifter and more multitudinous style his rescue from the destroyed city be-" moral incubation, and one old gossip will get off the nest after one hour's cause of his entertainment of the anbrooding, clucking a flock of 30 lies af-ter her, each one picking up its little gels, and to Mary and Martha and Zaccheus in spiritual blessing because they entertained Christ, and to Publius worm of juicy regalement. toss of sivery scale they defy the sportsman in the beach, and after awhile the fishermen begin to draw in the net hand over hand and hand over hand, and it is a long while before the captured fins begin to feel the net, and then they dart this way and that, hop-ing to get out, but find themselves ap-proaching the shore and are brought up to the very feet of the captors, so the memory of an early home some-times seems to relax and let men go farther and farther from God and farfarther and farther from God and far-ther and farther from shore—6 years, 10 years, 20 years—but some day they find an irresistable mesh drawing them back, and they are com-pelled to retreat from their prodigality and wandering, and, though they make desperate effort to escape the impres-sion and try to dive deeper down in sin after awhile are brought clear back and held upon the Bock of Ages. THE PRIVACY OF HOME.

A home is four walls inclosing one family with identity of interest and a privacy from outside inspection so complete that it is a world in itself, no one entering except by permission bolted and barred and chained igainst all outside inquisitiveness. The phrase so often used in law books and legal circles is mightily suggestive-every man's house is his castle. As As much so as though it had drawbridge, portcullis, redoubt, bastion and armed turret. Even the officer of the law may not enter to serve a writ unless the door be voluntarily opened unto him. Burglary or the invasion of it a crime so offensive that the law clashes its from jaws on anyone who attempts it. Unless it be necessary to stay for long-er or shorter time in family hotel or boarding house-and there are thou sands of instances in which it is necessary, as I showed you at the beging-unless this exceptional case, let such permanent residence. The probability is that the wife will have to divide her husband's time with public smoking or reading room or with some coquettish spider in search of un-wary flies, and if you do not entirely lose your husband it will be becaus he is divinely protected from the dis-asters that have whelmed thousands of husbands with as good intentions as yours. Neither should the husband without imperative reason consent to such a life unless he is sure his wife can withstand the temptation of social dissipation which sweeps across such places with the force of the Atlantic ocean when driven by a September equinox. Many wives give up their homes for these public residences so for these public residences so that they may give their entire time to operas, theatres, balls, receptions and levees, and they are in a perpetual whirl, like a whiptop spinning round and round and round very prettily, until it loses its equipose and shoots off into a tangent. But the difference is, in one case it is a top and in the other a soul Besides this there is an assiduous accumulation of little things around the private home which in the aggregate make a great attraction, while the gate make a great attraction, while the denizen of one of these public rest-dences is apt to say, "What is the use? I have no place to keep them if I should take them." Mementos, bric-a-brac, curlosities, quaint chair or cozy lounge, upholsteries, pictures and a thousand things that accrete in a home are dis-

man, to one prudent and provident is the beginning of a competency and a fortune for the reason he will not be satisfied until he has paid it off, and all the household are put on stringent economies until then. Deny youself all superfluities and all luxuries until you can say, "Everything in this house is mine, thank God!-every timber, every brick, every foot of plumbing, every loorsill." Do not have your children born in a boarding house, and do not yourself be buried from one. Have a place where your children can shout and sing and romp without being overhauled for the racket. Have a kitchen where you can do something for the reformation of evil cookery and the lessening of this nation of dyspeptics. As Napoleon lost one of his great bat-tles by an attack of indigestion, so many men have such a da ily wrestle with the food swallowed that they have no strength left for the battle of have no strength tert for the patte of life; and though your wife may know how to play on all musical instruments and rival a prima donna, she is not well educated unless she can boll an Irish potato and broil a mutton chop. since the diet sometimes decides the fate of families and nations. Have a sitting room with at least ne easy chair, even though you have to take turns at sitting in it, and books out of the public library or of your own ourchase for the making of your fam. ily intelligent, and checker boards and guessing matches, with an occasional blind man's buff-which is of all games my favorite. Rouse up your home with all styles of innocent nirth, and gather up in your children's nature a reser-voir of exuberance that will pour down refreshing streams when life gets parched, and the dark days come, and the lights go out, and the laughter is smothered into a sob. First, last and all the time, have

Christ in your home. Julius Caesar almed the fears of an affrighted boatmah who was rowing him in a steam by saying, "So long as Caesar is with you in the same boat no harm can hapn." And whatsoever storm of ad vehsity or bereavement or poverty may strike your home all is well as long as strike your home all is well as long as you have Christ the king on board. Make your home so far-reaching in its influence that down to the last mo-ment of your children's life you may held them with a home board in the source of the sourc hold them with a heavenly charm. At 76 years of age the Demosthenes of the American senate lay dying at Wash-ington-I mean Henry Clay of Ken-fucky. His pastor sat at his bedside, and "the old man eloquent," after a long and exciting public life, transat lantic and cisatlantic, was back again in the scenes of his boyhood, and he kept saying in his dreams over an over again, "My mother, mother, mo ther!" May the parental influence w exert be not only potential, but ho and so the home on earth be the ves bule of our home in heaven, in whi place may we all meet-father, mother, son, daughter, brother, sister, grand-father, grandmother and grandchild and the entire group of precious ones of whom we must say in the words of of whom we must say in the words o transporting Charles Wesley:

One family we dwell in Him, One church above, beneath: Though how divided by the stream-The narrow stream of death; One army of the living God, To His command we bow; Part of the host have crossed the flood And part are crossing now.
