MESSENGER AND VISITOR

This and That 32

LEAF-CUTTING BEES.

Perhaps the readers may have noticed on rose bushes a number of leaves in which neat round of oblong holes were cut. This is the work of the leaf-cutting bee, a pretty little insect looking much like the common insect looking much like the common honey bee, but with stout orange-red legs and metalic-green reflections about the head. Although the muli-lated leaves are so common, the nest for which they are sacrificed is sel-dom seen; for this little bee is a carpenter as well as a leaf-cutter, and hides her home away deep in the heart of some old post or board. The hole is much like that of her busy re-lative, the carpenter bee, but smaller, and instead of forming a tunnel at right angles to the entrance, pene-trates directly into the wood.

right angles to the entrance, pene-trates directly into the wood. When the hole is drilled to her sat-isfaction, our little friend stops car-penter work, and, flying to the near-est rose bush, selects a tender, per-fect leaf. From this she cuts oblong pieces, which are carried to the nest and formed into a thimble-shaped tube at its bottom. This tube is next illed with pollen and honey, on which a tiny egg is placed. Another trip is taken to the rose bush, and this time perfectly circular pieces a trifle larger than the diamoter of the tube are cut. These the little worker forces in-to the upper end of the tube, forming a tightly fitting stopper. These opera-tions are continued until the hole is filled with tubes one above another. The lowest eggs are hatched first, and each young bee waits for the one be-yond to go forth in the same man each young bee waits for the one be-yond to go forth, in the same man-ner as the young of the large carpenter bee

THE TRUTH ABOUT WAR.

It is foolish to suppose that fight-It is toonsh to suppose that ngut-ing men of today are at all different from their compeers of yore—the only change is that the rapine and the pil-lage are not boasted of so openly— but there is just as little of the spirit of Christianity in a so-called civilized army as there used to be in a legion of Julius Cassar, perhaps even less. Many people will regret this, yet you always find the goody-goodies and even the women loudest in crying out for war to avenge the wrongs, or fan-

A HILL TALE.

A Blunt old Colorado Miner on Postum.

A clergyman may be eloquent, may use the choicest language, dressing his earnest desire to help his fellow-man in the most elevated, chaste and beautiful language, and yet not touch the hearts of his hearers. Another man, having little education and no grace of speech whatsoever, may tell his message in the common, everyday vernacular he is used to, and the vernacular he is used to, and the simple faith that glows within him oarries quick conviction with it. Such a man writes from the towering peaks of Colorado, preaching of Postum tum: "I had drank coffee all my life until it about killed me, when I concluded to try Postum, and in a short time I got relief from the terrible misery I suffered from coffee. "When I drank coffee I bloated up to the I would not heather at times.

"When I drank coffee I bloated up so that I could not breathe at times; my nerves were so shaky that I could not hold myself still. "But thanks to Postum I am all well now and can say that I hope to remain so.

"I was very much disgusted with it the first time I tried it, but had it made stronger and boiled longer till mide stronger and boiled longer till it tasted as good as good coffee." No amount of rhetorical frills and literary polish could add to the con-vincing power of the old miner's testi-mony. Name given by the Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. There's a reason. Look in each package for the fam-ous little book, "The Boad to Well-ville."

sti

cied wrongs, of their country or to acquire new territory and new trade. I say this: If the women of the world only once realized to the full what war means to the women of the losers they would throw all their weight in-to the calls of new Further and the there to the scale of peace.—From A Mod-ern Legionary, by John Patrick Le Poer (E. P. Dutton).

THE BUTTER THAT SPED THE GUESTS.

"Ma wants two pounds of butter exactly like what you sent us last. If it ain't exactly like that she won't take it," said the small boy. The grocer turned to his numerous

The grocer turned to his numerous customers and remarked blandly: "Some people in my business don't like particular customers, but I do. Its my delight to serve them and get them what they want; I will attend to you in a moment, little boy." "Be sure and get the same kind," said the small boy, while the storeful of customers listened to him. "A lot of pa's relations are visiting our house, and ma doesn't want 'em to come again."

CARNEGIE'S TEMPERANCE PRIN-CIPLES.

CIPLES. The New York Tribune says: "And drew Carnegie will not have anything to do with any enterprise, however tempting financially, that has any-thing to do with the sale of intoxi-cating liquors. This is the report brought to a party of Pittsburg busi-ness men, who some days ago sent one of the number down to New York to interest Mr. Carnegie in a Pitts-burg hotel project, which would in-volve the outlay of about $2,000,000, and would give Pittsburg a fine ho-tel. tel.

"Mr. Carnegie declined to take the "Mr. Carnegie declined to take the subject under advisement, though ad-mitting that there would be much money in it, giving as his reason that he would have nothing to do with any project which would include the sale of liquor to insure success."

TO BE ON THE SAFE SIDE.

An old farmer in Scotland once went to have a troublesome tooth a: tracted. Said the dentist, after look-ing at the offending molar: "It is a very ugly one. I would ad-vise you to have it out by the pain-less system. It is only a shilling ex-tra".

tra

He showed the farmer the appara-tus for administering gas, remarking that it would cause him to fall asleep for a minute, and before he awoke the tooth would be out. After a slight resistence the existomer consented, pro-ceeding to open his purse.

"Oh, never mind paying just now," said the dentist, kindly. "'Hoots!" answered the cautious old Scot. "I wasna thinkin' o' that; but if I'm gaen tae sleep I thought I wad like ta coont ma siller first."

THE REMOVER AND REDEEMER.

At the great disaster in the Brock-ton shoe factory not long since, the timbers fell without a moment's warn-ing and caught the operators at their work, holding many for the flames. In one room a man and woman were thus held down. The timbers on the thus held down. The timbers on the body of the man were heavy, no hope for him. But his hands were free. Renching over he pulled the lighter materials from the body of the woman and told her to run for her life. He is on the list of the honored dead! When the woman was free, she could save herself. One made her free, and she lives. she lives.

she lives. If we were free of the past and of the old nature, Christ had never come and we would not preach as we do. It is because we are caught in the wreck of life, and tripped by tempta-tion and pinioned by sin, that we want him to come and set us free, that we way find our may hold the that we may find our way back to God

Tized. Nervous Mothers

Make Unhappy Homes-Their Condition Irritates Both Husband and Children-How Thousands of Mothers Have Been Saved From Nervous Prostration and Made Strong and Well.

A nervous, irritable mother, often on the verge of hysterics, is unfit to care for children; it ruins a child's disposi-tion and reacts upon herself. The trouble between children and their mothers too often is due to the fact that the mother has some female weak-ness and ahe is entirely unfit to bear ness, and she is entirely unfit to bear

That the mother has some female weak in the strain upon her nerves that governing children involves; it is impossible with strain upon her nerves that governing children involves; it is impossible with the strain upon the nerves, consequently ninetures, and she involves; it is impossible with the strain of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency. "the blues," sleep lessness, and nervous invitability of 1 women arise from some derangement of the female organism.
Do you experience fits of depression hwith restlessness, alternating with a carterne irritability? Are your spirits easily affected, so that one minute you feel like orying?
Do you feel something like a ball rising in your throat and threatening to choke you; all the senses perverted, morbidly sensitive to light and sound; pain in the ovaries, and sampy?
If so, your nerves are in a shattered condition, and you are fureatened with nervous prostration.
Proof is monumental that nothing in the word is better for nervous prostration.
Aroof is monumental that south in in the word is better for nervous prostration.

Ask Hrs. Pinkham's Advice-A Woman Best Understands a Woman's Ills.

Mrs. Chester Curry, Leader of the Ladies' Symphony Orchestra, 42 Sara-togs St., East Boston, Mass., writes: Dear Mrs. Pinkham:-"Bor eight years I was troubled with ex-treme nervonaness and hysteria brought on by irregularities. I could neither enjoy life nor aleep nights, I was very irritable, ner-vous and despondent. "I Judia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended and proved to be the only remedy that helped me. I have daily im-proved in health until I am now strong and well, and all nervouaness has disappeared." The following letter is from Mrs.

well, and all nervousness has disappeared." The following letter is from Mrs. Albert Mann, 154 Gore Vale Ave., Toronoto, Ont.: Dear Mrs. Einkham; --"I suffered a long time with ovarian trouble having intense pains in the back and abdomen and very sick headaches every month. I was tired and nervous all the time and life looked very dreary to me and I had no desire to live unfil I begran to take Lydia E. Pinkhamis Yegetable Compound and to get some relief. My recovery was slow but it was sure and I have never regretted the money spent for the Compound as it brought back my good health."

Women should remember that Lydia Women should remember that by the E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the medicine that holds the record for the greatest number of actual cures of female ills, and take no substitute. ourse of Free Advice to Women.

Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write to her foradvice. Mrs. Pinkham's vast experience with female troubles enables her to tell you just what is best for you, and she will charge you nothing for her advice.

St. John Branch ; 17 Germain Street. Head Office ; Fredericton, N. B. CLARK & SC WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALERS IN

FARM IMPLEMENS, CARRIAGES, SLEIGH

A Complete Stock of Farm Machinery including the Deering Ideal Mowers:

A large variety of High-Grade Carriages. Express and Road Wagons. Right prices and easy terms. Good discount for cash.

When answering advertisements please mention the Messenger and Visitor.

and