

FROM ALL OVER THE MARITIME PROVINCES

Saturday, June 18.

Surely never before has the weather been so kindly disposed as when, on the first days of the week, he treated the inhabitants of St. John to such glorious and balmy sunshine as rarely falls to the lot of "The dwellers of cities." That every advantage was taken of the rise in temperature was evidenced when on afternoon and evening, passing through the streets and squares, one noticed the crowds of pedestrians who seemed bent on enjoyment of one kind or another. The festive portion having assumed their proper raiment, gave to the landscape the appearance of a perpetual moving panorama, so bright and attractive are the costumes worn this season. Especially was this so at Rothersey on Tuesday and Thursday, when numbers of visitors were assembled on the beautifully laid out grounds surrounding Netherwood and the Collegiate School to witness the closing exercises of the girls' and boys' schools. As is customary on such occasions, each school has its own very particular social function. On Tuesday evening the young ladies graduated of the present and past years united in giving a dinner at the Kennedy House, at which about seventy guests were present. The students of the Collegiate School on Wednesday evening, in the college reception hall, gave a dancing party to which several guests from the city were invited. Mrs. E. T. Sturdee chaperoned a merry party of young ladies from town, who after spending a delightful evening, returned by backboard, reaching home about where about 12 o'clock. Being moonlight the drive to the city was most thoroughly enjoyed. Among the party were the Misses Emily and Kathleen Sturdee, Miss Jennetta Bridges, Miss Portia MacKenzie, Miss Constance, Miss Dorothy Bizzaz, Miss Dell McVeany, Miss Kit Schofield, Miss Nancy Kingdon, Miss Valerie Steeves, Frederick; Miss Elsie Teed. Others at the dance were Miss Norah Lee Robinson, Miss Lillie Raymond, Miss Alice Green.

An engagement of interest to St. John society is that of Miss Eileen Anglin, daughter of the late Hon. Timothy Anglin, formerly of St. John, to Mr. Hutchins, of the United States Navy, son of Admiral Hutchins, U. S. N. The marriage will take place next October, in Toronto, and will be a fashionable military function. Mrs. Fred Barker, Mount Pleasant, received at the tea hour last Wednesday in honor of her daughter, Mrs. De Milie, of California. Mrs. Stetson and Mrs. George K. McLeod presided at the tea table. Included among the guests were Mrs. G. Rolfe White, Mrs. George West Jones, Mrs. Harold Schofield, Mrs. John Burpee, Mrs. Robert L. Ellis, Quebec; Mrs. Alexander Fowler, Mrs. Roy Campbell, Miss Warner, Miss Vroom, Miss Edna Austin, Miss Celia Armstrong, Miss Mary L. Harrison, Miss Alice Walker, Miss Mollie Robinson, Miss Avia Armstrong, Miss Janie Stone, Miss Victoria McKenzie, Miss Nancy Kingdon, Miss Christie, Miss Grace Robertson, Miss Madge Robertson, Rothersey. The young ladies who assisted with the refreshments were Mrs. George Lean, Miss Frances Stetson, Miss Madeline De Soyres, Miss May Harrison and Mrs. Harry Harrison.

While in the city the distinguished author, Ralph Connor, otherwise Rev. Dr. Gordon, of Winnipeg, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Smith, Carleton street. Mrs. Smith entertained most delightfully at dinner for Dr. Gordon on Saturday evening. Mr. John E. Moore having graciously placed his automobile at Dr. Gordon's disposal, it gave the reverend gentleman an opportunity to visit some of the beauty spots of St. John and vicinity. He left for home on Sunday evening. Mrs. Robert Thomson entertained at luncheon this week for Miss Grace Robertson, whose marriage to Mr. Nichol will take place at the Wesleyan church, Friday. Miss Robertson's bridesmaids were the Misses Madge and Sophie Robertson and Miss Nan Brock. Mr. Ferris, of Halifax, will support the groom.

The Thursday teas at the golf links were also attended only fairly well, the reason being that so many of the members are residing out of town. The fashion so prevalent at the present time of society fitting to the country has interferred seriously with these social affairs at both tennis and golf clubs. This Thursday afternoon tea, at the hostesses were Mrs. J. S. MacLaren, Mrs. JeB. Carritte and Mrs. George Wetmore. Noticed among those present were Mrs. DeMilie, Mrs. William Harrison, Mrs. Stetson, Mrs. George K. McLeod, Mrs. E. A. Smith, Mrs. Harold Schofield, Mrs. James L. Thomas, Miss Madeline Thomson, Miss Sara Hare, Miss Mollie Robinson, Miss Frances Stetson, Miss McGivern.

If the weather proves agreeable an automobile tour to Sussex has been arranged to take place today, leaving Mr. C. A. Pugsley's garage at 2 o'clock. Supper will be served at Sussex, and the return drive will be accomplished the same evening.

The Sault Ste. Marie Express gives an elaborate account of the Spjested-McAdam races, going on to say: "One of the prettiest and most fashionable weddings ever celebrated in the Soo was witnessed on St. Luke's Pro-Cathedral at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, when Miss Sjoested, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Sjoested, was married to Mr. Henry Norval Spjested, manager of the Steaming Bank at Fort Erie. The bride's dress was a beautiful robe of white satin with pearl and silver trimmings, the yoke and sleeves of exquisite hand-made lace having been made by the grandmother of the bride, and was worn by the bride's mother on her wedding gown instead of the conventional bridal bouquet a bunch of Swedish myrtle was carried by the bride, a custom peculiar to Sweden, whose brides regard the myrtle as an emblem of good luck. The guests of myrtle were also entwined in the bridal wreath, the maid of honor, Miss Thorne, and the bridesmaids wore pale green with large black hats, and carried shawer bouquets of pink carnations." In connection with this wedding it is noteworthy that the beautiful bridal costume was a St. John creation, made in an establishment in King street. The bride is a niece of Mr. Charles Bestwick, st. Carleton street. The bridal gifts, which were mostly silver, came from different points in Canada, the United States, Sweden and France.
