

Young Men's Christian Association OF ACADIA.

Extends to you a hearty greeting. Standing on the threshold of a new session, all Acadia men, new and old, are given a most cordial welcome. In this issue of the Hand-Book we have tried to give such information regarding the University and its Societies as shall be of service in the present year. It is desired that every Student will take a personal and hearty interest in the Association and Christian Work of the University, and that, during the present year the tide of Christian life may rise higher than ever before.
