SURVEY

The York campus was designed from the ground up by Canadian architects. Unfortunately the master plan has not yet been completely built, as a result the campus does not handle the university's winter activities as well as we would like.

The Faculty of Environmental Studies is engaged in research to revise the form and function of the campus to make it more liveable in the winter. Our researchers are taking photos and mapping behaviour to help formulate design alternatives.

We need your participation. Fill out the short questionnaire and deposit it in the boxes located at the bookstore entrance, the main entrance to Scott Library and at the Faculty of Environmental Studies on the fifth floor of Scott Library.

How many times a day do you go outside on campus?

Which buildings do you visit while on campus?

How do you rate the campus during the winter?

How would you improve the campus in winter? Feel free to expand your answers and comments onto another sheet.

We will keep you informed of the progress of the project. Thank you for your assistance.
