JUSTIN M'CARTHY'S LETTER.

The Government Giving the Secessionist Liberals the Go-By.

New York, Aug. 22.—Justin McCarthy writes from New York to the New York Herald.—"The debate on the address after the usual formalities of opening the session of Parliament began on Thursday, went on through yesterday, and will go on on Monday, and for some days I must not say to many, but to many, to adopt the words of Edgar Poe, 'Still to come.' We, the Irish party, shall have two amendments, one on the Belfast riots, and one concerning evictions and the general land question. The general policy of the Government in regard to Home Rule we shall discuss. We have already discussed it to some extent, as in the remarkably telling and clever speech of T. P. O'Connor yesterday, on which he received the congratulations of Mr. Gladstone. But we don't intend to move any formal amendment to the address on that subject.

MISLEADING STATEMENTS.

I would advise your readers always to distrust paragraphs from the London papers professing to tell in advance what the Irish party will do in this or that emergency. We do not make up our minds long in advance; we could not possibly do so. We may be guided by the conditions and events of the hour, and you may be sure if we did make up our minds long in advance we should not confide the result of our deliberations to the London daily papers. There is a paragraph in one of the morning papers to-day announcing that the Irish party have determined to prolong to the uttermost possible moment the present sitting of Parliament by debating the estimates when they come on line.

NO SUCH RESOLVE.

has been made by the Irish party. The Irish party will prolong the session if it seems to them that prolonging the session will do the slightest good for the interests of Ireland. We would resolve on Tuesday to prolong the session if a sudden reason showed itself founded on the interests of Ireland, even though we had resolved on Monday to let the session close quietly to an immediate close. At a moment it will be seen the Government are leaning distinctly on the support of the Irish landlords, and are letting the secessionist Liberals go. They promise to maintain order, as their phrase is, in the first instance, and then will do something for the landlords in the way of land purchase, now.

THE CONDITION OF THINGS IN IRELAND.

is just this:—The winter will show a terrible strain on the tenant farmers in many places. It is as clear as light that over large tracts of country the judicial rents cannot be paid. The farmers can barely live; they can barely strap out of the land means for feeding themselves and their children. How, then, can they pay the judicial rents? But, judging from the utterances of Salisbury and Churchill, the Government are prepared to raise judicial rents as a thing fixed, irrevocable, and sacred, invested with that sacred sanctity which Robert Lowe years and years ago declared surrounded all the property of landlords.

WILL THERE BE WIDESPREAD EVICTIONS.

The landlords in many places feel exasperated against the Nationalist tenantry, and at the same time are inspired with new courage by the advent of a Conservative Ministry. I have no doubt they will endeavor to enforce with all the vigor of an unquitting law what they have been taught so long to regard as their rights. Under such conditions it is utterly impossible to repress all outrage in Ireland. Parnell may do his best; Davitt may do his best to maintain order over the country. General order will be maintained, the voice of Parnell and of the League will be listened to, but here and there disorder will be inevitable and irresistible, born as it is of men's natural passions and of men's unnatural sufferings. The result is the Government will next session try to bring in a coercion bill.

BRING IN A COERCION BILL.

What then? Then, if the secessionist Liberals stand by their promises to resist coercion without remedial measures, the Tories will go out or will have to apply their minds beforehand to the task of devising remedial measures. Only one remedial measure is worthy of consideration, and that is Home Rule. Will the Tories take that jump? On the whole I am bound to think they will. There is no way of keeping long in office without settling the Irish question. I am disposed to think the Tories are determined to keep long in office if they possibly can. Some men whose judgment I highly respect are of the opinion that the Conservative will divert the attention of the country from home politics by finding

AN EXCUSE FOR ENGAGING IN A FOREIGN WAR.

Well, if they want such an excuse they have it ready in their hands in the papers about Batoum and Russia just laid before Parliament. Russia simply snubs our late Foreign Secretary and tells him the Russian Government are alone to judge whether Russia has kept or broken her engagements. So if it is the Tory cue to fight they have the widest Tory is inclined to bring on a war with Russia while the Irish question is still unsettled. Several years ago Disraeli said to an American statesman, who told me the story, "England is counted out of European politics while Ireland remains an enemy at her gates." Gladstone saw this. Among other things, he would have turned the enemy as his guest into a friend. If he had had his way that grand result would have been accomplished. But even the Tories must see the danger of that enemy at the gate; they must turn him into a friend, or must take good care not to get into a quarrel with an enemy who is at the gate. "Where is Chamberlain's side the Pall Mall Gazette. So lately as last April Chamberlain declared that if he had power he would, in view of the dangers of the coming winter, bring in a bill to stay all evictions for a period of six months in Ireland. Now the Tory Government have announced that they

to enforce the existing law. Why does not Chamberlain get up and denounce them? As yet no secessionist Liberal of any mark has spoken in the debate. Apparently the Tories just now do not take the trouble to conciliate them. If something is not said on the part of the Government on Monday to conciliate them by modifying Churchill's utterances and Chamberlain's resolutions, Chamberlain and his set will, for very shame's sake, have to repudiate their Tory allies, "Marry and amen," as Robert Browning would say. FROM DUNWICH.

Last week witnessed the completion of a substantial building, since May last in course of erection for Mr. John Lynch, a prominent member of this thriving mission. On the morning of the 23rd inst. the new structure was blessed according to the rite prescribed by the Roman ritual and the holy sacrifice of the Mass celebrated in her presence. The Mass celebrated in her presence, the only many years past the home of Mr. Lynch has ever been the home of the clergy attending the Dunwich mission; and the celebration of the Holy Mysteries, on Monday last, was a special favor granted by His Lordship the Bishop of the diocese in acknowledgment of this long period of generous hospitality.

FROM MAIDSTONE.

The Maidstone parish annual picnic was held in Mr. Little's grove, adjoining the church, on Wednesday, 18th inst. The weather being everything that could be desired. At an early hour crowds came in from all quarters, and by noon the beautiful grounds were thronged with people, all intent on having a very pleasant day, and all intent on enjoying themselves to their hearts' content. The old folks chatted with their neighbors, and compared their own times with those of the present. Many an interesting episode in the history of the parish. While the fathers and mothers thus discussed the past, their sons and daughters walked around and talked of the happy future which we hope is in store for them. Meaning the committee of ladies of the parish were not idle. The refreshment booths they persuaded all to come and partake of the refreshing and tempting delicacies, which they dispensed with willing hands, their bewitching smiles giving an additional relish to their wares, while they raked in the shells that were so unparingly given in exchange for the same. Other ladies, with a persuasiveness that could not be overcome, induced all to purchase tickets for the drawing of prizes, and the rapidity with which a large amount of money was transferred from the pockets of the people was wonderful. In fact, every facility was given to all to get rid of their surplus cash, and we heard no complaints in this respect during the day. At noon dinner was announced, and all sat down to partake of an elegant repast, furnished by the ladies of the congregation. After dinner Mr. N. A. Caste, Warden of Essex, took the chair, and announced that several gentlemen present would make a few remarks, among whom were J. C. Paterson, M. P., Messrs. Olette and White, Windsor; Dr. Allworth, Kingville; Dr. Brian; Essex Centre; Morand, Revere of Sandwich East; J. E. Doyle, Maidstone; and Rev. Fathers Ferguson, Sandwich, and Cummings, Woodlee. One of the most interesting features of the day was the contest between Mrs. G. M. Guigan, Sandwich East, and Mrs. P. Thurman, of Maidstone Township, as to who would possess of the larger number of tickets on a sewing machine, to be drawn for among the ladies. Mrs. Thurman sold $277 worth of tickets, and Mrs. Guigan $145. Those ladies received a prize of $30 and $25, respectively, and they deserve great credit

For the large amount collected. The sewing machine was drawn by No. 1424, held by Harry Hayes, of Maidstone. Much credit is also due to the ladies who furnished the dinner, as also to those who waited on the table; not forgetting those gentlemen who for some days before the picnic worked hard and late to prepare the grounds and otherwise help to make the picnic a success. We congratulate Father O'Connor and his parish on the success of the picnic. The Essex Centre Band furnished excellent music on the occasion. The amount realized altogether will be upwards of $700.

FROM UTTERGROVE.

The Rev. W. J. McGinley, P. P., is going to have a picnic on Aug. 31st, the proceeds to be devoted to furnishing the presbytery. The Rev. Father has had the house thoroughly renovated at considerable expense and it requires furnishing in the worst way, and the proceeds of the picnic are to go to that purpose. It is to be hoped that there will be a grand gathering and that the picnic will be a financial success. The Rev. Father stands coming here in July has worked indefatigably for the good of the parish. We wish him every success. Mr. Gillespie, who has taught this public school for the past six years, has gone into the mercantile business, and in a few days there will be a vacancy in the school. It is a grand opportunity for a first class teacher. The crops around here are excellent. The Record requires a live agent here this fall to solicit new subscribers. It is a valuable Catholic journal and one that ought to be in every Catholic family. Aug. 23, 1888. VERITAS.

OUR HEROIC PRIESTS.

GENEROUS TRIBUTE TO THE CATHOLIC CLERGY FROM A LUTHERAN MINISTER.

A Lutheran minister writes the following beautiful letter regarding our Catholic priests to the Deutsche Landes Zeitung: Pope Gregory VII was well aware of what he was doing when he enforced with unrelenting strictness the celibacy of the clergy. He knew that the old canon laws of the priests in the Roman Church. Yes, we Evangelical pastors are great in words, and whoever overhears us in our private circle must obtain the highest idea of our courage; even whoeever hears us at our conference of the most serious matters not bound to us; but if it depends to transfer our words into actions; if it depends to make head against the world, and to cover with our bodies that flag which we have held up so defiantly but shortly before, then our souls fall to the ground, our courage is derided, and our children cry: "Let not that happen to you!" there, over-anxious friends will come, but what determines the whole issue is that our courage is artificial, that is wanting in solid background. The Catholic clergyman knows that God has placed real objects in his hands, but we dispose only of words. With us rhetoric has overgrown all; we are preachers, but we should be priests also; of that we hardly have the pretension. Many a noble education has been given into the bosom of the Roman Church on account of this contradiction.

FROM MAIDSTONE.

With amazement the world looks upon those men, who cannot be compelled by any force whatsoever to do anything contrary to the regulations of their Church. They allow themselves to be driven from office and from their tables; they allow themselves to be cast into prison, and uncured, they persevere, and repelled to-day, they will be found to-morrow at their old posts. They are priests, they are warriors, they are men. It is not the least prerogative of the Roman Church, that it has in its ranks, and in its ranks, that is, men of deeds and not of rhetoric or words alone. A half-year may have passed since the terrible vessel ran into a Spanish steamer in the darkness of the night, and sank beneath the stormy waves, ten minutes with passengers and crew. While the flood burst into the ship and startled from their sleep the unfortunate passengers, who gathered in wild disorder upon the deck, the one weeping, the other praying, the third staring in silent despair, a Catholic clergyman hastened from one group to another, announcing to all contrite of heart pardon of their sins in the name of God, before whose judgment seat they should appear in a few moments thereafter! Sublime picture of a priest! Praise your generals who in the battle's tumult present their bosoms to the hostile bullet; extol your statesmen who with tranquil eye look into the barrel of the pistol raised against them by an assassin; compared with the priest they must step into the dark. Where all have lost their presence of mind he is calm; where all shudder at the open grasp of death, he reaches up with safe hands into heaven and offers life to the dying.

The Assumption of Our Lady.

When Mary's stainless soul had passed away, And while her breathless body lifeless lay, While death, in joy, stood gloating o'er her grave, The fruit and crown of all his victories, "Assumpta est" a choir of angels cried, "Assumpta est" an empty tomb replied, Angels and saints, alternating to greet Their Queen in heaven, "Assumpta est" repeat.

Not with the golden beams of that glad day.

Not with the golden beams of that glad day, Has that sweet song of triumph died away: "Assumpta est" "Assumpta est" "Assumpta est" In every land, by every race and tongue, "Assumpta est" "Assumpta est" will be The song which saints will sing eternally.
