Jas. Bailey, a butcher of Bowmansville, injured his fingers slightly in a straw cut-ter last week, and died on Wednesday from lockjaw.

William Crooks, a brakeman on the Whitam Crooks, a brakeman on the Whitey railway, while coupling cars at Lindsay Thursday morning, met with a serious accident. He was walking back-ward with a pin in his hand when he stum-bled and fell across the rails, and the cars passed over his leg, severing it close to the body. He lies in a critical state.

Patrick Aikinson, a brakesman on the Grand Trunk Railway, whilst engaged in his duties on train No. 31, from the West, his duties on train No. 31, from the west, on Thursday morning, was struck on the head by the overhead bridge on North Front street, Belleville, and died an hour and a half later. Deceased when struck was on a refrigerator car, which is two feet higher than the ordinary cars, and the body was found on top of the cars.

UNITED STATES.

San Francisco, April 17.—The Giant Powder Works district of Berkley, across the Bay, exploded yesterday, killing twelve whites and twelve or fifteen China-men. This is the third explosion the company has sustained, all attended with loss of life. The explosion occurred in the packing room; all at work there were killed. There was about 6,000 pounds of killed. There was about 6,000 pounds of powder in the room. All the victims were blown to atoms. Six houses inside the works were all blown to slivers. The cause of the explosion is supposed to have The been careless

THE CATHOLIC WORLD.

The Catholic World has at last fallen into the drift of magazines in announcing the names of its writers. This will be to fill. grateful news to its readers, for when a good thing is said or done it is only natural that men should desire to know who said or did it. No one suspected the Catholic World of concealing the names of its contributors through the feebleness of its writers, for its articles invariably display the stamp of exceptional ability, even where they may not always meet the popu-lar taste. In the array of writers presented the stamp of exceptional ability, even, where they may not always meet the popular tat, taste, in the array of writers presented the Catholie World very fairly justifies its title. There is one bishop, Dr. Keene, of Richmond, and four elergymen : Father Hecker (the editor); Father Hewit, of the Paulist congregation. Father Joseph O'Con-nor, a scentar; and Father Kader, a Bene-dictine. There are six lay writers, two of them of what the Catholic Church ealls "the devout female sex." The ladies are Miss Kathleen O'Meara, who is widely known as an accomplished novelist and biograph er, and Miss Edit Cook, who contributes to the Gottolic World may be set down as "do the mole writer. Father Hecker's "Intellectual Outlook of the Age " is a bold attempt to grasp the current drift of thought and show how it may be turned into the great show how it may be turned into the great Catholic stream. This is seconded, though unintentionally, by Father Hewit's calm and beautiful exposition of "The Genesis of the Catholic Church"; while Rishop Keane makes quite a lively inroad into the "New Christianity" of Matthew Arnold, Dean Stanley, and folk of that ilk. Father Kaeder's paper on the Benedic-tines might be called a glowing bird's-eye view of his historic Order. Altogether the number presents a variety of features promptly attended to FITZGERALD. the number presents a variety of features of interest and worth. Camillus P. Maes of the diacese of Camillus P. Maes, of the diocese of Detroit. The name of Father Nerinckx is a household word in the State of Kentucky, and we doubt whether, among the bright galaxy of missionary priests in the United States of America during the first quarter of this century, there is one more worthy of the tribute of admiration and gratitude of our countrymen than that illustrious priest, Reverend Charles Ner-inckx.

Honored, through the influence of the most Reverend Doctor John Carroll, with a nomination to the Episcopal dignity, a responsibility which his humility led him persistently to refuse, Father Nerinckx spent himself for Christ's sake in the humbler walks of the sacred ministry, and laid deep and solid the foundations of Religion and Education in the "dark and bloody land." The history of his life records the establishment of a great number of cities and towns in Kentucky. No scholar who takes an in-terest in the development of the Church in America, and of its educational institutions, can afford to be without this treasure of unpublished documents, which the author spent four years in collecting. The work also notices the wonderful emigration which set in from the shores of the Old World to the fertile regions of our Western Continent, and describes its beginning and its causes. In a word, it is a contribution to the Catholic history of the United States, and supplies with the necessary data a void that has been noticed by many, but which no one has attempted
