The hearing of evidence in Robert's case was concluded yesterday afternoon but owing to its nature which was most revolting its publication is precluded. Lucille Martin was re called to the witness stand this morning to answer the question as to when she left Paris, Robert having sworn that he left there in December of 1901. At first the woman said she could not remember but being pressed for answer said she left Paris for America about the middle of Oc

Attorney Aikman for the accuse spoke 40 minutes. He reviewed the evidence of all the witnesses, going closely into that of the police and his client. He closed with a strong plea for dismissal of the charge.

SENTENCED

Hard Labor

Bartlett House on the

When the police court adjourned to day for lunch it might truthfully be said that the den of iniquity on Third avenue known as the Bartlett house was properly on the bum. General manager Robert had been nonths and all three of its female nmates, Lucille Martin, Marcelle Martin and Louise Carrigoud had been sent to jail at hard labor for a period of two months.

The women had previously pleaded guilty to the charge of conducting and of being inmates of a disorderly ouse. They evidently expected to get off with fines as the imprisonment and hard labor clauses appeared to cause consternation as much chattering and considerable boo-boo ng was noticed as they were marched over to the iail.

Marie Chiviex pleaded onducting an immoral house in Clondike City. She was convicted and sentenced to one month's imprisonment at hard labor but as it was her first offense (she has been in the country only four weeks) the sentence was suspended; but she was nformed that should she ever again come up on a similar charge the sentence will become effective. Marie is a very hard-luck appear
