DELTA.

MONDAY, May 14.—F. Gravelle, late of Gananogue, opened a barber's shop at the Wells hotel. We wish him good success in his new venture. The general store of J. A. Bell was burglarized last Monday night. The safe was opened, the door being blown completely off. The burglars drilled two holes through the top of the safe. The safe was broken in pieces. They got no money, but took a lot of canned salmon.

A Conservative convention will be held in the hall next Thursday for nomination for the Ontario Legislature.

The Delta grist mill will be made into a roller mill by our enterprising miller, Geo. Haskins.

Mrs. Annie Dematt improves her house by building an addition to the roof, which makes lots of room.

We regret that John Horton is still at his home on account of illness. We wish him a speedy recovery.

GLENN BUELL.

SATURDAY, May 12.—The sportsmen of this usually quiet Glen were greatly surprised on learning that a colored champion of the glove and bat, who had been met for the first and, at all appearances, the last time in a twenty-four foot ring under Queensbury rules. Only a few of the parties present were present. These included the contestants, their seconds and backers, and the referee. The fight which came off under rather peculiar circumstances, was an exhibition of dexterity worthy of a New Orleans amphitheatre. Having provided themselves with necessary equipments at Brookville, they embarked in a commodious band wagon for Point Edward, the field of battle. Having staked out a twenty-four foot ring the colored man immediately entered the arena supported by his second and a large bottle of bug-jug. The champion appeared shortly afterwards, accompanied by his better-half in the capacity of second. The first round opened with some scientific sparring on the part of the Ethiopian, which the champion did his best to imitate. Failing in this he led out with his left, but missed, whereupon Pete waded in and for a few seconds the contestants were somewhat mixed. Suddenly, Peter's right arm shot out with amazing rapidity and alighted squarely upon the champion's left "peeper", causing him to retreat rapidly to his corner where he lay prostrated upon his back for several seconds. Serious wounds had not the results had not the champion's second interfered, taking Pete by the shoulders and shaking him till his teeth chattered. When time was called the champion was unable to rise. The referee duly declared Pete victorious. With a resounding war-whoop he bolted for the stakeholder's residence, and forthwith demanded the stakes. The stakeholder, who was ill with a second attack of a gripe, sent his private secretary to give the winner an interview. The secretary at first refused the immediate payment of the stakes, on the grounds of insufficient notice; but Pete insisted and the secretary, who delivered on behalf of his immediate possession of the money almost brought down the house. Seeing that nothing short of the money would satisfy him, it was handed over at once. The victorious pugilist and his admirers then set out for Jericho where a reception was to be held in his honor. On their way, paying more attention to their horses than to the drivers of the band wagon, the reins slipped from a large tree and lay-eyes-see Mr. Thompson there was a general split and the colored pugilist was picked up in a state of semi-consciousness and carried to his paternal residence where he was duly cared for and his wounds administered to.

Yet the vanquished slugger has not been interviewed, but if the report is true he is on a fair way to recovery.

The proprietor of the Model farm at Mt. Pleasant is improving his famous herd of sows by the infusion of some new blood from the Model farm at Glen Buell. We wish him success.

CHANTRY.

MONDAY, May 14.—Quite an exciting run away occurred near here on Saturday night. Mr. Wm. Barker, returning from Harlem cheese factory, met Mr. Scott, agent for H. R. Acton's hand made harnesses. Mr. Barker got off his wagon to examine the harnesses, leaving a boy to hold the horse. While standing talking, Mr. H. C. Smith drove up with a young horse which he was breaking; he also went to look at the harnesses.

Something frightened his horse and caused it to jump into the milk wagon, completely demolishing one wheel. The first jump it went over the wagon, upsetting the same and causing the driver to fall. This started Mr. Barker's horse and Mr. Scott's horses. Mr. Barker's horse ran down the concession breaking the wagon and harness to pieces, while Mr. Scott's horse ran into the side of the road, running over some large stones. They had not gone many rods, before the front wheels broke. Thereupon the two horses and the team went to Plum Hollow where they found the run-aways. Mr. Smith's only loss was a broken thill. No one appears to know what caused the horse to start in the first place.

LAKE STREET.

SATURDAY, April 14.—The rain of Saturday night cannot be appreciated too highly as the benefits are unlimited. Fishermen are quite numerous at present. Catches are good.

We are sorry to think that our street has gained the reputation that it did the other night in Athens, but we hope that others who practice the same business will take warning by our downfall.

The long farm is quite well tenanted at present. We would advise a careful reading of the by-laws, as it might prove beneficial.

Our Northern fisherman is on the war-path and is seeking for the complainant whom he threatens to scalp. An attack morning. Quite a few threats, but no shots were fired.

Mrs. Beulah Schofield has moved to Chantry.

Saturday morning, shortly after the alarm was sounded, a fire broke out in the street to the place of excitement. Later in the day they returned disappointed and reported a false alarm. The rapidity with which the news was spread and the time which our women made would do credit to a well drilled fire company.

"I do not know you," is the reply of an Athens lady to one of our "young men" who attended church.

We notice that our Plum Hollow gent still continues to baffle the old man. Opposition seems to be the life of the business.

We hear of a very quiet wedding on Front st. The groom denies the facts, but actions speak louder than words.

Our inhabitants were aroused the other night by the unusual yelp of pups along the creek. It was for a short time a mystery how they came there, but upon investigating we found that they had been placed there by "model" farmer, who has lately been engaged in the raising of canines. Having more than he could dispose of, he placed a few in a paper bag and dropped it into the creek.

Finding a deep sleep, he was awakened as quick as a flash by the yelp of the pups. He ran out and saw to the shore, but unable to restrain himself, he returned home, making up his mind to pay all expenses incurred in doing so.

It goes without saying that Mr. Brown will be the power vested in the village, and his manner will do well to set a fair way to recovery.

For the Boys.

Complaint has been made frequently of unbecoming conduct on the part of a number of young men and boys who assemble every Sabbath evening in and about the Methodist church. They do not appear to have a proper appreciation of the sanctity of the building nor of the solemnity of the service, but apparently regard both as being simply a means of passing a pleasant hour of waiting, and ultimately of "catering on." At the meeting of the trustee board of the church, held on the 7th inst., it was resolved that these unruly youths be vigorously dealt with, and the following motion was passed:

"Moved by D. Fisher, seconded by Chas. Johnson, that his trustee board authorize G. W. Brown to keep order in the church and also outside of the church (on church property), and that said board agree to pay all expenses incurred in doing so."

It goes without saying that Mr. Brown will be the power vested in the village, and his manner will do well to set a fair way to recovery.

Last week a tramp carrying a very heavy bag made the rounds of the town and insolently demanded money. He met with poor success, finding, as boards and in particular of the Kingston and Frontenac boards, as communicated by the Secretary, Mr. Thomas Keenan, against the proposal of the Government to appoint the Inspector of Weights and Measures to Montreal to act as referee in case of dispute arising between buyers and sellers as to the weight of cheese having been sold at the factory.

Chase factories usually sold their product subject to weight and inspection by railway, and they were desirous of continuing that practice. They did not wish to sell subject to inspection at Montreal.

A discussion ensued, in which Mr. Taylor, Dr. Sproule and Mr. Sutherland participated. It was concluded by the Government that there was a misapprehension on the subject. Though the Government intended to appoint an inspector at Montreal, and that sales of cheese and butter would be according to his determination of the weight, there was no intention to change the present system. The sellers and buyers could make their bargain for weighing any place all taken a day later in the morning. There was a misapprehension on the subject.
