

RHEUMATISM KEPT HIM IN BED

Suffered Torments Until "Fruit-a-Lives" Cured Him

McMILLAN'S CORNER, ONT.

Sept. 20th, 1910

"Your remedy, 'Fruit-a-Lives' is a perfect panacea for Rheumatism. For years, I suffered distressing pain from Sciatica or Sciatic Rheumatism, being laid up several times a year for days at a time. I went to different doctors who told me there was no use doing anything—it would pass away. They gave me mustard plasters and other remedies that did no good. Finally took no effect on me—except to blister me and make raw spots. I took many advertised remedies without benefit, but fortunately, about two years ago, I got 'Fruit-a-Lives' and they cured me.

Since then, I take 'Fruit-a-Lives' occasionally and keep free of pain. I am satisfied 'Fruit-a-Lives' cured me of Rheumatism and they will cure anyone who takes them as directed. If this letter would be of value to you, please write to JOHN B. McMillan, Ltd., 101 St. George Street, Toronto, Ontario, Canada. It is a certain cure. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, 12 for $4.50. At dealers or from Fruit-a-Lives Limited, Ottawa.

Prohibition in Maine.

So many persons permit themselves, without examination of the facts, to be persuaded that prohibition in Maine is a failure, that the following statistics will have a steady influence.

There are more schools in proportion to the population in Maine and more teachers in proportion to the pupils than in any other state in the Union.

2. Compare Boston, Mass., under license, with Portland, Maine, under prohibition:

(a) Boston has 426 arrests; Portland 84 for drunkenness for every 10,000 of the population.

(b) Boston pays $3.00, Portland $1.05 per capita to police the city.

(c) Boston pays 29 cents, Portland 2 cents for jails.

Massachusetts has 35 criminals, Maine 13 in the penitentiary for every 10,000 of the population.

4. Massachusetts has 28 insane, Maine less than 14 for every 10,000 of the population.

5. Massachusetts has 19 in the poorhouse, Maine 46, for every 10,000 of its population.

6. Massachusetts has a death rate three times greater than Maine.

7. Compare prohibition in Maine and licensed Pennsylvania, and we find Maine has about $100 in savings banks for every inhabitant, while Pennsylvania, the greatest license state in the Union, has about $16.

According to government statistics, the amount of liquor sold in fifty illegal places in the state of Maine is not equal to the amount of liquor sold in one average saloon in a license state.

Prohibition for Maine means less drunkenness, less poverty, less criminality—greater respect for the law. It would mean the same for Canada.

Garden of Eden Found.

Forty miles west of old Bagdad, in the vast level valley of the historic Euphrates, near Hit, of the Hittites, lies the traditional Garden of Eden. Such is the interesting conclusion of Sir Wm. Willcocks, the famous Egyptian engineer and Bible student, and many other authorities agree with him, says the Christian Herald.

"Out of Eden came a river which watered a garden, and from thence it was the first river, known in Bible days as the Pison, Gihon, Hiddekel and Euphrates—the ancient River Babylon—have been identified by Sir Willcocks.

It was while studying surveying and mapping Chaldaea previous to starting work on the great irrigation scheme planned for Mesopotamia, that Willcocks became convinced that the Garden of Eden lay in the region described. The Garden of Eden, the story says, lay in the region of the Tigris and Euphrates, and Sir Willcocks has been able to draw many striking parallels to the story. He says that the Garden of Eden was a fertile plain, and that the Tigris and Euphrates were the two rivers which watered it. He also says that the Garden of Eden was a fertile plain, and that the Tigris and Euphrates were the two rivers which watered it.

New Method of Preserving Fish.

A Russian scientist claims to have discovered a new process for preserving fish, says the New York Press. Before a recent invitation luncheon was eaten, the guests saw fourteen day's old fish in glass jars, immersed in a liquid which is the professor's special preparation. The fish were taken out of the jars, and the guests saw them cooked and afterward ate them. The fish had been sealed in glass jars in the presence of impartial witnesses.

The discoverer claims that by this method he can keep fish fresh for three weeks or a month. He also has a process by which he can keep fish in jars for two years, and they will still be thoroughly pure and edible. He worked for fifteen years before he brought his experiments to a successful issue. He asserts that his invention will revolutionize the fish industry.

"Don't you think women are getting too daringly original in the matter of dress?" "Original! They are getting positively aboriginal."

Nothing Like It for Colds.

Do not suffer from colds, coughs, croup, whooping cough, influenza, and all other ailments of the throat and lungs. Do not let your children suffer from these ailments. Do not let your children suffer from these ailments. Do not let your children suffer from these ailments.

At the recent Highlander's camp at Barrie, Ont., the officers allowed themselves a little liquid refreshment after which came the speech making. One young officer got up and tried to tell a story. His imitation of the Scotch brogue was, however, painful. An old colonel arose, and looking at him very hard, said, "Oh, mon, there's naething Scotch about ye but 'y' breath!"

Another Woman Recovers.

Sometimes I would suffer for seven hours at a time. Different doctors did the best they could for me until four months ago I began giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and now I am in good health."

King George as a Reader.

Despite his innumerable public duties, King George is not only an ardent reader of newspapers of different politics, but is a consistent book reader as well. Unlike King Edward, who was never happier than when reading a French novel, and in this, at any rate, found a bond of sympathy with the late Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, King George's tastes lie in the more vigorous young writers of the day.

His library shelves at York Cottage contain works by H. G. Wells, Arnold Bennett, George Bernard Shaw, R. L. S. Kipling, John Galsworthy, G. K. Chesterton, Maeterlinck, and many other writers of to-day less known to the general public. A selection of these is now being catalogued, and will be transferred to the private apartment at Windsor Castle, at Manchester Evening News.

A Word of Gratitude.

"In justice to humanity, I want to tell you that I was a great sufferer from kidney pain, and have found Dr. Chase's Kidney Pills the best remedy obtainable," writes Mr. Fred Hill, Brookings, S.D., "I give these pills and can recommend it to any sufferer from this dreadful disease."

Nova Scotia Has Many Autos.

The province of Nova Scotia, or rather the people of the province, have about $1,000,000 invested in automobiles and other motor driven vehicles now, and every day the total is growing so that the outlook is that by the end of the year the sum invested in this class of vehicles will be well on toward two millions. Halifax has about 250 cars and 22 motor cycles. To date there have been registered in the province just 1377 motor driven vehicles, while 671 was the number last year. These machines are required to pay a provincial license fee each year, the fee running from $5 up, according to the horse power of the machine. One auto, a very high powered one, paid a license fee a few days ago, of over $20, but the average fee is not over $10.

Porcelain Houses.

Mr. W. Miles Turner, a member of a great pottery family, has a scheme for building houses of porcelain. He has spent forty years in obtaining porcelain tiles strong enough to build a house of the required strength and cheapness, and it is his contention that such a house would be especially suitable for rural districts in England.

His houses will consist of a steel framework to which are fitted by simple means large porcelain tiles which no other designer has yet been able to manufacture. The tiles are one inch thick, and the doorways and windows are of steel. The walls, floor and ceiling are all of porcelain, and not only waterproof but steam proof also.

The best cherry pies are made longish fashion. Chop a deep, round pudding or baking dish, and line the sides only with pie crust. Put a crust cap in the centre, bottom upwards and put in the fresh cherries, sprinkling liberally with sugar. Cover cap and cherries with pastry, roll it not too thin; place a pastry 'nose' in the centre and bake. When served, the nose covering the cap should be cut out, the cap removed and eggs replaced. The cap holds all the juice.

Several hundred children in the Detroit schools have received drinking buckets, with which they supply water to thirsty horses and dogs during the hot weather. The city has been divided into districts, and a number of children have been assigned to each.

The lingerie waist, in spite of all that is said about its going out, is in so much demand that it is being made in place, either for summer or winter. Thin blouses are even more fashionable than bustle or linen.

Carbonate of soda will remove the most obstinate mud stains. Rub with a cloth or with sugar. A teaspoon of carbonate of soda dipped in the soda, then press well on the wrong side of the material with a warm iron.

To increase the bloom of lilies and geranium blossoms, water the plants with copper water. A teaspoonful of copper sulphate in a gallon of water is the right proportion. It should not be allowed on the foliage.

Cold cocoa made without cooking is a good invalid's dish. Mix one teaspoon of cocoa and another of sugar in a smooth paste with a little cold milk; then beat in a glass of creamy milk with an egg beater.

Grain juice can be made into a good sauce by thickening with cornstarch. Use it with lichen meringue, mustard or Bavarian cream. It can also be made into a jelly with whipped cream.

When preparing chicken or turkey for roasting, try rubbing it inside with a piece of lemon. It will whiten the flesh and make it more tender.

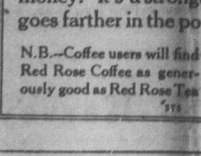

Looking down on others is not the way to make them look up to ourselves.

The real and enduring greatness of a nation always has its source in the home.

NEW VEGETABLES

Potatoes and Grain 1500 Miles North of Edmonton

T. Stefansson, the Arctic explorer and discoverer of the white Eskimo, is a lecturer at the University of North Dakota, describing that various varieties of potatoes and several different kinds of grains are successfully grown by the Eskimos 1500 miles north of Edmonton, Canada. The discovery of this vegetation, made by Stefansson on his last Arctic trip, has been a big revelation, as it has been popularly supposed that the vegetation line was far south of there.

Mr. Stefansson also proved by his expedition that the Mackenzie river is one of the finest streams in the world for navigation. He travelled on this river for over 1,500 miles, even though he had been told that it was not navigable for any great distance. According to the speaker, the summer in the Arctic region is more feared than the cold weather on account of the mosquitoes. The thermometer goes as high as 105 degrees above zero in the summer and rarely falls lower than fifty degrees below in the winter.

BLACK AND WHITE

Colored Mince Weeds the Girl With Whom He Eloped

The ending of the love story of a black man and a white girl was overshadowed at the London Session when a good-looking young man of color, named George Wilson, pleaded guilty to causing bodily harm to David Davies. For a long time, said Mr. Macdonald (for the prosecution) the two men had worked side by side. Then Wilson fell in love with Davies' daughter, a girl of eighteen. Her stepmother was in favor of the match, but nothing could persuade the father to give his consent. The lovers eloped and went to London, where Wilson went to a registry office, and held the customary fees. Before the wedding had taken place, however, the girl's father followed in pursuit, and, having obtained their address from an hotel in Hammermith, from which the marriage was to have taken place. There was a scene, and Wilson, in a fit of temper, struck "the typical old Englishman" on the jaw, which was fractured. Prior to the elopement, added counsel, the girl was warned that marriage would result in her being turned from home, but she was still determined to marry the man she loved. The marriage would now take place as soon as possible—probably next day—for the father had withdrawn his objection. At first he was heartbroken, but he had told earlier that he had a vision. "The Lord appeared to me last night," he said, "and told me to 'leave in a Christianlike way to this girl and man, and to forgive him, although he is black.'"

ACCIDENTALLY HANGED

A tragic occurrence took place in Cork involving the death of John Lawrence, aged fourteen. The boy was playing in the garden of Miss Mayo, on Patrick's Hill, having gone there on a visit with his mother. A rope used for the beating of carpets was suspended in the garden, with a hole attached to the end. His mother, who was in the house, was suspected from this by the post, presumably whilst playing, and though at once medically attended life was found to be extinct.

Judgment for the plaintiff was given at Monaghan Quarter Sessions in a case in which Miss Mary Griffin, a boarding-house keeper, sued Mr. Thomas Clarke, merchant, Monaghan, executor of the will of the late Benjamin Clarke, to recover damages for injuries to her premises caused by Benjamin Clarke, when residing as a lodger in the house of the plaintiff. It had been proved that the plaintiff had a consumptive disease, and that she was suffering from it at the time of the injury. The plaintiff was entitled to the full amount of her loss through the destruction of the house and the destruction of some of the articles, and to $20 for the loss of lodging.

Her stepmother was in favor of the match, but nothing could persuade the father to give his consent. The lovers eloped and went to London, where Wilson went to a registry office, and held the customary fees. Before the wedding had taken place, however, the girl's father followed in pursuit, and, having obtained their address from an hotel in Hammermith, from which the marriage was to have taken place. There was a scene, and Wilson, in a fit of temper, struck "the typical old Englishman" on the jaw, which was fractured. Prior to the elopement, added counsel, the girl was warned that marriage would result in her being turned from home, but she was still determined to marry the man she loved. The marriage would now take place as soon as possible—probably next day—for the father had withdrawn his objection. At first he was heartbroken, but he had told earlier that he had a vision. "The Lord appeared to me last night," he said, "and told me to 'leave in a Christianlike way to this girl and man, and to forgive him, although he is black.'"

His mother, who was in the house, was suspected from this by the post, presumably whilst playing, and though at once medically attended life was found to be extinct.
