

There is a Tide in the Affairs of Man which taken at the Flood leads on to Fortune.

We have Good Cause to Believe we have taken on the Tide in our Affairs at its Flood.

We do not claim to be endowed with greater wisdom, or to have a keener insight into the future, but fortune and a singular combination of circumstances has favored us, and we are confident in our judgment. We will offer you the following terms for FALL GOODS, which we believe are unequalled:

For Fall we will offer you 20% Goods which if we had to buy today, we would have to pay from 25 to 30 per cent more; for you see that we can sell our Goods at just about what buyers will have to pay who have left us no time to make advantage of the low prices of Goods a month or six weeks back.

Two circumstances led to our placing our orders earlier than usual. Our regular buyer, Mr. D. Williamson, of Glasgow was on an extended vacation throughout the months of March, April and May of the prospective rise in almost every line of Dry Goods, and urging us to send him our order as early as possible, we delayed as long as possible, as it would have been disastrous to have been beaten by some very practical advertising by a number of our American friends of ours who buy for the American trade, wrote from London, Eng., urging us by all means to place our Orders at once we did so, and have ever since been gratifying ourselves on the fact.

We have not space to publish all our letters in this issue but will do so later.

Unless Goods are bought right it is impossible to sell them right. With very few exceptions, ours are all direct from the manufacturer and remember BOUGHT BEFORE THE ADVANCE.

Great Reduction.

WE ARE OFFERING ALL OUR FANCY EMBROIDERED, BEADED AND COMBINATION COSTUMES AT COST PRICE. THIS IS A GRAND CHANCE TO GET SOMETHING REALLY HANDSOME IN A DRESS AT VERY LITTLE MONEY.

J. D. Williamson & Co.
GUELPH AND GLASGOW.

WM. WATSON
Would call the attention of the Public to his fine selection of Goods of Black and Colored Worsted,
Scotch and English Tweeds,
Black and Fancy Pantings
and a fine line of Spring Overcoatings.
Customers Wanted.
Affectionately Yours
WM. WATSON

The Red Flag, Corbet's Block
DRY GOODS CHEAP.

Great Bargains in Hosiery,
Great Bargains in Gloves,
Great Bargains in Dress Goods
Great Bargains in Towels.
Great Bargains in Towlings,
Great Bargains in Table Linens,
Great Bargains in Underwear.
Great Bargains in Straw Hats.
Always Big Bargains at the Red Flag Backlog Stock
Emporium.

D. H. MACDONALD.
N. B.—Be sure and get in the RED FLAG STORE.

H. MACDONALD,

Next to O'Brien & Keough's

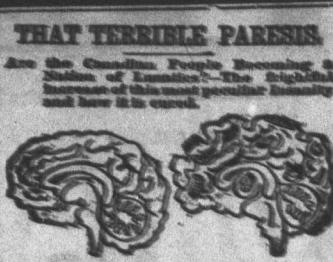

Hot Weather will be with us in a Day or Two.

Ladies' Underwear in Gauze, Baldrigean and Silk, 25c. and up.

Men's Linen Underwear 25c. and 25c. ap.

Keep your Eye on our Ladies' Straw Shapes at half price.
5,000 pairs Ladies' Black Cotton Hose, at 25c.—a Bargain.

AT
H. MACDONALD'S,
Next to O'Brien & Keough's

THE BRAIN (From a photograph.)
With Prof. Lister.

These are very well known men confined in our Asylums who lost a short time ago their judgment among our business and social circles.

Why are they thus?

Not at all. It was a gradual but positive growth. They overused nature. The drain on their vitality, their nerve powers, their brain tissues, were great, and gradually lessened until they were lost. The way they did bring this sad end about are probably the same things that are being done by thousands of men and women to-day, not necessarily to such an extent. The way they did bring this sad end about are probably the same things that are being done by thousands of men and women to-day, not necessarily to such an extent.

Prof. Phelps, of Dartmouth College, knew this fully when he began his experiments which resulted in the discovery of the wonderful Fairchild Compound. His findings are given in connection with the brain that was great. It was not the brain that was great, but the man himself, and it had occurred to him that John, being absent on the spot, had made Luke in case of need or danger.

With this idea in his mind the young man determined to drive over to Todmorden, Eng., as might be, to stay the night with his friend, Mr. Greenhalgh, of Todmorden, and reached Todmorden and reached Todmorden, Greenhalgh's residence just as a gigantic specimen of mankind was about to enter from the way from the mill. John, who was the manufacturer's wife, had come home, and had gone up stairs as far as the top of the stairs, and was about to go down again.

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.

"Indeed—yes." John had been leaning against the top of the stairs, and calling to a man who was about the stable. "Take this gentleman's horse and see that he goes well after him."

"I am at Littleborough," replied Mark, with an execrable smile, "and made up my mind to call upon you."

"That's right; and I'm glad to see you," said John.