

Double-Ender and Driver.

In the passing of Charles Clarke at his Toronto home, the Canadian Pacific lost one of its oldest locomotive engineers. In the pioneer days of Canadian railroads, the late Mr. Clarke used to drive an old wood-burning engine known as a double-ender, and the engine on which he made his first run as engineer on the Canadian Pacific is shown above. He was born in England 76 years ago and started railroading at the age of eighteen with the old Midland line, joining the company from whose service he was retired about twelve years after.

Why Jewett never "stalls," "jerks," nor clashes Gears

YOU can change gears in a Jewett as fast as you can move your hand—or as slowly as you please. No "clash" is heard—and you never "miss." You can even drop from "high" to "second" at 30 miles an hour. Let up the clutch pedal as fast as you can move your foot, and lewett neither jerks nor kills its motor.

Such superb handling ease comes largely from the new Paige-type Jewett clutch. Its driven member weighs less than 31/2 pounds, one-third the usual weight. So it stops spinning instantly -adjusts itself to speed changes quickly-helps you change gears. And the six clutch, springs instead of one, and twice the friction surface of the ordinary clutch, give the smooth, gradual engagement which prevents jerking or motor stalling. Please try Jewett's ease yourself.
