MARSHALL BROTHERS.

The Ingraham Here.

The tug Ingraham, Capt. Marmaduke Rose, doing the work of the wrecked Louise arrived from the Northward at noon to-day. She took up the service at Indian Islands and went down to Exploits and returning made all the ports of call. She experienced N.E. winds, rain and fog, and had this until yesterday when it cleared. She brought some mail and three passengers, Capt. Geo. Barbour, Jas. Winsor, Messrs. House, Robbins, the Postmaster at Cat Harbour and Capt. B. Barbour and crew of the Louise. The Ingraham sails North at noon to-morrow.

Two Saved by Dog.

Terrible Experience of Family in Forest Fires.

Grand Manan, Mich., May 13.—John B. Elving and his wife, with their young baby, together with their six other children, the eldest of whom is 15 years, have reached here in an almost famished condition, after a thirty mile trip through the forest between here and Upper Brule Lake. It took five days to cover the distance and they were alternately almost burned and frozen to death. Two of the small children were saved from drowning in the swift current of the Brule River by the family Newfoundland dog. When Elving and his family were routed from their beds Sunday by advancing fires, they beat a hasty retreat with a small stock of provisions. They found themselves entirely surrounded by fire. Elving with his hand axe cut limbs from trees on the bank of the Brule River, sought a favourite place in the stream, and stationed himself and his family near, deep in the cold water beneath a wetted screen of underbrush which they saturated from time to time until the fire burned out.

McMurdo's Store News

WEDNESDAY, May 18, '10.
Moxie is a drink which seems to stand by itself, and certainly it has many friends. We had been out of Moxie for some time, as being non-alcoholic it is liable to freeze in winter, and cannot be shipped. Now, however, we have a full consignment of it, and anticipate a strong demand from old friends and new admirers of this refreshing drink. At the fountain, 10c a glass; by the bottle, 30c.

Why suffer discomfort from the harsh winds? It is always possible to have a bottle of Cream of Lilies at hand, which will instantly allay all soreness and irritation of the skin. Price 25c.—adv.

ROYAL CORTEGE TO WESTMINSTER HALL.

Procession Passed Thro' Double Lines of Red-Coated Soldiers and a Mass of Silent Black-Garbed Humanity.

Special Evening Telegram.

LONDON, May 17.

The body of King Edward the Seventh, the Peacemaker, was taken with stately pomp this morning from Buckingham Palace on the first stage of the journey to the grave, and now lies in State in Westminster Hall where hundreds of thousands will pay a last tribute to the dead monarch before the march through the streets of the Capital on Friday. The procession from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Hall passed through double lines of red-coated soldiers, flanked with rows of stalwart policemen and a mass of silent black garbed humanity. The buildings along the route were heavily draped with mourning. The first intimation that the crowd, which had been waiting for hours, had of the approach of the funeral cortege was the booming of 68 minute guns. Then a guardman with sword reversed, came down the street in measured tread, two other guardmen following close behind. Then came the officers of the Headquarters Staff, the Army Council and the Board of Admiralty. As these appeared the troops came to a half salute with reversed guns, and remained thus until Field Marshal Lord Roberts and Lord Kitchener, the Admirals of the Fleet, the India Orderly Officers in black uniforms and the Aides de Camp of the late King passed. When the gun carriage on which the King was borne approached, the order "Rest on your arms" was sharply given. With heads bowed the soldiers kept their eyes on the ground while the body of their late King passed, and by coming to attention again for the Royal Standard, which was carried immediately behind the casket and in front of King George, who, like the officers and other members of Royalty, was afoot. The greatest interest of the crowd was aroused at the approach of the Royal carriage, for in this rode the Queen Mother, Alexandra, to whom the hearts of all have gone out during the past week. Her Majesty, wearing the deepest mourning, had lifted her veil and the people reverently raised their hats to the pathetic figure who, even in the hour of her great grief, acknowledged the silent testimony of sympathy by bowing repeatedly. The dominating characteristic of the procession was the impressive simplicity. There were 12,000 troops afoot and mounted.

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, May 17.

A decree convoking Congress was issued to-day. The session will last 15 days during which time the situation will be thoroughly discussed. The first Red Cross Ambulance Corps have been organized and will leave for the front soon. Colombians continue to offer their services to Ecuador in the event of war with Peru. An alliance between Ecuador and Colombia has been in existence since 1905. It is announced here that General Clement the French Military Instructor has been appointed Commander of the Peruvian Army and that the Peruvian Secretary for War has left for the frontier.

Explosion Kills Workmen.

Special to Evening Telegram.

CANTON, Ohio, May 17.

With a roar that was heard three miles away a battery of several boilers of the plant of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Co., exploded this afternoon killing from 20 to 30 men and injuring about 50. Among the injured are half a dozen who it is said will probably die before morning. The cause of the explosion is at present unknown. The firemen and engineers who were in the boiler room are dead. No one else about the plant who survived the accident can give an explanation. The force of the concussion was terrific. The big plant is in such a state of ruin as to be practically a total wreck.

The King and Peace.

King Edward's two greatest qualities—statesmanship and tact—have often aroused the admiration of foreign observers. The enthusiastic tribute paid to His Majesty by the Washington Post, which declares that he is "the greatest Prince of his dynasty," is but one of many similar appreciations.

His Majesty has frequently been praised by prominent Germans for his services in the cause of peace. Count Berstein has said that King Edward "has won with his own people, as with all the nations of the world, the name of a Prince of Peace. He is incessantly endeavouring to bring nations more closely together, and to clear away misunderstandings between them."

The Count's phrases were echoed by the Berlin Tageblatt. "King Edward," said this influential journal, "knows no greater ambition than to work for peace. If one judges the King otherwise than as a peacemaker, one is bound to form wrong political conclusions."

With Austrians the King is exceedingly popular. In Vienna His Majesty's rare gift for diplomacy is highly appreciated. The last time he was in Austria a noted diplomat declared: "It does not matter to us who is your Foreign Minister; for it is your King, luckily for you, decides your foreign policy."

His Majesty has no warmer admirers than the French, even among his own subjects. According to the Figaro Illustre, he is a "Prince of Culture," and "the most democratic and august of ruling Sovereigns."

The Reine de Paris is equally enthusiastic: "To-day he is recognised not only as the ablest diplomatist of his country, but as a great Constitutional Sovereign. Side by side with the German Emperor, and at his expense, he has conquered a great place in world-politics."

To these tributes, which are only typical of many, must now be added that of the influential Washington journal, which firmly believes that "King Edward's greatest desire is to preserve the peace of the world and to keep the balance of power adjusted."—M. A. P.
