And the Worst is Yet to Come—

The Housing Problem.

The housing problem of St. John's is becoming more and more acute as the days go by. The daily cry here nowadays is for houses and still more houses. We are credibly informed that all the real estate agents are continually besieged with demands for houses, and it is said that one, in particular, has had some hundreds in to see him during the past few days. Unless the promoters of the Housing Scheme soon get busy, it looks just now as if the State will have to step in and solve what certainly has become the most serious problem confronting the citizens of this, the oldest town of the New World. A second '92 fire might not be as serious a disaster as the last, and it would at least have the good effect of forcing somebody—the authorities or others—to erect some new and modern dwelling houses for the people that dwell here. Many cases of people who are prompt in paying their rent being forced to leave their houses and seek others elsewhere have come under our notice, and, we understand, the promoters and organizers of the Dominion Co-operative Building Association are kept busy answering enquiries, both verbal and written, as to what can be done in connection with housing the people. It would be undoubtedly interesting to know the local position of evicting people who, having always paid their rent, are forced to go on the street just because the owner has seen fit to sell the house or rent it to another.

A Plan Worth Trying.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir:—In your issue of this evening's paper under the heading of "Warehouses Going Cheap," the thought struck me would it not be well if the Government would secure the services of one or more of these ships from the British Government and place them as in Concepcion Bay, Harbor Grace, Carbonar or some other harbor, and one in Placentia Bay (in one of its suitable harbors) to be used as a Reformatory where boys of tender years could be sent, in place of sending them to the Penitentiary. I know it would cost considerable to equip such ships as work shops, schools, etc., as well as a staff to look after the youths; but if the reports of all the petty thefts are correct, in the near future a Reformatory will have to be built at a very large cost to the rate payers, and of course it will be in the city—while I take it that the city is not the place for it. But the children so brought up in a ship would be quite away from anything like a prison and would in years to come forget all their early habits and make good citizens. I believe Britain would help us in this and the cost would be far less than building a Reformatory. I hope some one able to write on this matter much better than I can, will take the matter up. All the exercise and learning could be attended to far better on a training ship than in a City Reformatory. May we expect the "Briton" which has trained some of the Navy's best men to be replaced very soon by a modern ship for the same purpose. We all hope no use will be found for further war, but one can never tell.
Yours truly,
CHARITY.

Hr. Grace Notes.

Mr. Moses Brown, of the West End, died early yesterday morning, after a long illness.

Mrs. Bernard Parsons passed away yesterday morning, after a long illness. Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Parsons and family in their great bereavement.

We regret to record the serious illness of Dr. Cron, who is suffering from a severe cold, with symptoms of pneumonia. All the doctor's friends are hoping for a change for the better soon. He is being attended by Dr. Stenford, of Carbonar.

The fire bells ringing wildly on Saturday night, sent crowds of people up Water Street to the premises of Mr. Joseph L. Pumphrey, where it was said a fire was in progress. A few sparks from the chimney was the cause of the alarm. No damage was done.

The many friends of Capt. Grant Paterson, one of our boys, who did so well in the late war, were pleased to meet him in town last week. His uncle, the genial Major Paterson, who accompanied him, is always sure of a royal welcome from his old Harbor Grace friends.

R.N.R. George Pike returned home last week from the other side, where, after many attempts he succeeded in getting to do his bit to down the German foe and assist in bringing in peace and victory to the old Union Jack. Welcome home, George.

No Country for Poor Man.

Rio de Janeiro, the most wonderfully reconstructed city in the world, was also, until recently, one of the most pleasure loving. Today the president is endeavoring to instill war economy into the nation before it feels the brunt of war—a by no means easy task. Economy is not easily preached in a country where state lotteries are of daily, and public holidays of all too frequent, occurrence. The most popular of the latter is the carnival, which occupies the four days preceding Ash Wednesday.

Brazilians who complain of the high cost of living will probably wish to see war economy continued in times of peace. It costs about $7.20 a day to live at all comfortably in Rio. Some manufactured articles are now difficult to obtain, and the cost of everything "owing to the war" and the colossal protective tariffs, is such as to make unaccustomed English folks feel faint with terror. A ready-made drill jacket, though cheaper in back streets, will be commonly priced at $10.80 in shops on the Avenida Rio Branco. A tailor-made man's suit will cost about $50.—From the United States Naval Institute Proceedings.

Porridge in Warfare.

A wounded officer describes the novel way in which a small party of surprised Highlanders met an unexpected enemy attack.

"The Germans got further into the trenches," he writes. "So far, indeed, that they surprised a party of Highlanders in the peaceful occupation of porridge making for a section due for night duty. The porridge makers had no time to seize weapons. Instead they seized their precious pot of porridge and flung it in the face of the advancing foe. There were yells of rage as the scalding porridge fell among the soldiers of the Kaiser. One of the funniest sights of the whole war, I am told, was to see a German officer trying to look dignified before his men in a uniform covered with porridge. The method of repelling the attack was novel, but effective. It was more deadly than liquid fire, I fancy, for it put an end to the attack in that quarter."

"When we relieved the Highland porridge makers we found them in a terrible funk, they didn't mind facing the worst attack the enemy could make, but they were quaking at the prospect of explaining to hungry comrades what had happened to the porridge. I tried to console the man with whom this brainy idea originated, by telling him he ought to have the V.C. He would have none of my consolation. 'That may be,' he answered, 'but what about Wee Jock—'s par-tice? He'll hammer h— out o' me when he comes back and finds it's a' wasted on the German devils!'"
