

Obituary.

JOHN W. KINSELLA.

(H. F. SHORTIS.)

A wide circle of friends in every part of the country will hear with feelings of the keenest regret of the sad news of the death of John W. Kinsella, which occurred at his residence, King's Bridge Road, last evening, after a short illness, fortified by all the rites of the church he loved so well. John W. Kinsella was born in St. John's 68 years ago, being a son of the well-known Mr. John Kinsella, blacksmith, a rattling Irishman, who came to this country from the County of Wexford in the early part of the past century. The deceased received his education at St. Bonaventure's College in the days of the illustrious prelate, Rev. Dr. Mullock, and as a youth was commended for his high ideals. Some time after leaving College, he entered the General Post Office, on the 18th January, 1877, and step by step he advanced to the responsible position of Superintendent of the Parcel Post Department in that institution—thus he was one of the oldest officials in the public service at the time of his demise. His honesty was proverbial, and his sobriety and moderation in all things were his outstanding characteristics. He was generous to his Mother Church, according to his means, and charitable to her less favored children. In his family he was a model head. Is it any wonder that such a father brought up a family of God-fearing children and worthy citizens. John Kinsella was an omnivorous reader, and a man of profound literary ability. He possessed a pointed wit and lively imagination; his communication was rapid, copious and interesting; he possessed a vein of humor rich and luxuriant. He was a storehouse of anecdote—a reservoir of good things—a lively chronicle of past times. The principles of honesty and integrity marked his character through life, and being united with gentlemanly manners and an amiable disposition greatly endeared him to his friends and a numerous circle of acquaintances. His literary productions, both in prose and poetry, published in the Telegram and other newspapers and magazines would fill volumes, were of a very high order, and widely perused throughout the country. When mail-officer on the S. Grand Lake and other ships, some years ago, his communications to the Daily News were both luminous and instructive, and few people could describe output life more interesting than the subject of this brief sketch. He had great power of portraying character; also possessed shrewdness and wisdom, a strong imagination, rich humor, deep pathos and a loving fondness for the beauties of Nature. John Kinsella was a man of strong Catholic faith and high intellectual qualities, and as a member of Holy Church he not only practised his religion, but most zealously championed it. His faith and piety were no less remarkable than his rare gifts of mind. As generous as he was humble, his knowledge and time were always at the disposal of others. Mr. Kinsella was one of the oldest members of the Benevolent Irish Society, and always took the deepest interest in the welfare of that time-honored institution. The deceased leaves a widow, one son, three daughters and numerous relatives and friends to mourn their sad loss, to all of whom the Telegram extends sincere sympathy. "Eternal rest grant to him, O Lord, and let perpetual light shine upon him. Requiescat in pace."

MEETING AT CARBONAR

Four delegates of the United Fishermen's Movement left here this morning to attend a public meeting at Carbonar. The meeting place last night in St. John's was before a large and enthusiastic gathering; and according to a message to the Daily News, was of unanimous support. The meeting was organized by the United Fishermen's Movement for better living conditions. The meeting was crowded and the gathering representative of all classes of men. Mr. Thos. Marks acted as chairman.

The resolutions, adopted at a meeting held at the C.L.B. in St. John's, on Wednesday last, were read to the meeting. John Rorke, who strongly endorsed them and moved their adoption. Resolutions which called for public expenditure, reduction of the Legislature for the despatch of business, were seconded by Captain Len in a practical address.

Other speakers to the meeting were Messrs. Robert Duff, Sainsbury, Peter Roberts, W. R. Stewart Winsor, George Brodie, E. J. Worrell and Leonard Ash. The speakers, Messrs. Sainsbury, Winsor and W. R. Roberts, who arrived here by train this evening, and their remarks were particularly well received. The resolutions were put to the meeting and were unanimously adopted. Perfect order prevailed throughout the meeting, which was not prolonged in order to enable a number of the audience, including delegates, to patronize the Fair which was being held in Rick's Hall. This necessitated speeches, but they were none the less interesting and effective.

A vote of thanks to the delegates, proposed by M. J. A. and seconded by W. F. Peters, was heartily tendered. On the part of Mr. A. Earle, seconded by Forward, a vote of thanks was tendered the Carbonar Committee. This Committee, it is understood, remain in being to further the interests of the movement.
