KING OF SIAM'S WARNING.

The King of Siam has addressed a ssage to the many Siamese students being educated in England (the ing himself was at Oxford) in which gives the following warning: Do not on any account take a Euroyean wife. We have seen quite a numer of such cases but have not seen hem result in lasting happiness. Conditions are different in Siam om what they are in Europe, and the pean girl married to a Siamese els the need of frequent visits to her

Besides, the fact is that neither the opean nor the Siamese respects the erson who marries one of a different ace. . . . Never despise one of your wn people. That would be to stamp urself as an inferior person. There are good and bad in all races, nd the Siamese have as many elenents of worthiness as any race.

Hidden Dangers in

FLOUR ADULTERATION AND BAK-ER'S DISEASE DISCUSSED

AT CONVENTION.

London, Sept. 3 .- Two questions of paramount interest to the whole community were raised at the conference of the Amalgamated Union of Oper-

First came the question of the dangers arising to all who eat bread, from the increasing number of injurious

The second dealt with the terrible disease of dermatitis, from which bakers increasingly suffer, and which was declared not only to be dangerous

On a resolution from South Wales, which called upon the Ministry of Health to protect the public from injurious substitutes and the unnecessary adulteration and bleaching of flour, Mr. Banfield, the secretary of the union, said that whatever the cause, the quality of flour to-day was not what it was in years gone by, and the use of chemical substitutes undoubtedly made the work of the oper-

The matter was at present receiving the attention of a Departmental Inferior Flour.

T. Ferris, vice-chairman of the Executive, said many of the chemicals at present introduced into flour during manufacture were centrary to the interests of the consumer. The bleaching and treating of flour, for instance, was quite unnecessary, and made it possible for an inferior quality of flour to be foisted on the public

There were also grounds for suspecting that chemicals were affecting the health of the operatives.

Upon the subject of dermatitis, Mr.

Banfield said it was not a very nice thought for the consumer that his bread was perhaps being made by a man suffering from a nasty, filthy

The Home Office had intimated that it was inquiring into the matter.

The causes of the disease were at present pure guesswork, but it was a peculiar thing, calling for investigation, that in South Wales there were more cases of dermatitis than in all the other districts of the union com-

This enormous catch has once again aroused fears that whales in these waters will be exterminated, as at present more are being killed than are born. It is suggested that the catching of whales should be prohibited for five or six years.

General Motors Co. Buys Austin Firm

LONDON-The General Motors Company, according to a report published here recently, has bought the Austin Motor Company, founded here 20 years ago by Sir Herbert Austin, one of the automobile pioneers of this country. The Austin factory is in Birmingham.

The present Austin Company's capitalization is $25,000,000, of which $16,750,000 worth of stock has been issued and borrowing power of $10,-000,000 has been authorized.

It is believed here that this move of General Motors is the result of the action of Prime Minister Baldwin's Conservative Government in re-imposing the 33 1-2 per cent. war-time duty on imported automobiles—a duty which its predecessor, Ramsay Mac-Donald's Labor Government, had abolished. Shortly before the Labor Government took office it was reliably reported here that General Motors was planning acquisition of a manufacturing plant here, but the scheme lapsed for the time being when the mport duty on cars was taken off.
