One island, we are told, is tenanted by as many as forty families; the green sward and mossy rocks are dotted in every direction with white tents, and bunting, and so soon as one picturesque or prominent spot is vacated, it is taken possession of by a new arrival, and thus this animated scene of life and jollity is constantly varying, but never losing (rather increasing) in frolic and pleasure. How the "Mail" Consoles Itself-It is not the first time that Sir George has been beaten in Montreal. It was a fortunate thing for Mr. Glad-stone that South Lancashire rejected him at the last general election. It cannot be disputed that Mr. Young will be a useful member of the new Par-liament.

City constituencies are fickle to a de-gree. M. Jette has certainly achieved a vic-tory of no ordinary kind, though we are indisposed to accredit it to any political considerations whatever. No man has identified himšelf more with the growth and advancement of Montreal than Mr. Young. East Montreal in a rampant mood has gone in for a change. We cannot say West Montreal has dis-graced itself by the election of Mr. Young.
