At the close of the order for questions Mr. David Mills put a question to the Minister of Public Works, significant in itself but rendered doubly so by the purposed ambiguity of the answer. Mr. Mills remarked that it had been reported that the Government were about to appoint or contemplated appointing Mr. Jennings as chief engineer of the Public Works Department. He would like to ask whether there was any foundation for the statement because it certainly would affect his functions as the engineer employed by the Committee of Privileges and Elections. This was Sit Heetor Langavia's reply, "I saw that in a paper but this is all the information that we have about the matter."

MRY NOT FURLISHED?

Mr. Beausoliel moved for "copies of correspondence between the properiotor of Government, also of any correspondence between sny member of the Government and any other person in relation to the suppension of the publication in the said newspaper, Le Canada, of the table showing the arrival and departure of mails at the Ottawa postoffice. Mr. McMillan corrected the stetement made by Mr. Wallace that there was no money invested by the members of the Salt Association. Dr. Coleman, of Seaforth; Ransford Bros., of Clinton, and Rightmeyer, of Kincardine, members of the association, had large amounts of mouey invested. He said he was strongly opposed to combines, but he did not think the salt manufacturers under the presvested. He said he was strongly opposed to combines, but he did not think the sait manufacturers under the present tariff had received justice. If the duty on fuel, plate, pipes and other articles which euter into the manufacture of salt was removed they would be willing to have the duty on salt throwa off altegether, and they would sell it at 60 cents a barrel. Hon. Mr. Bowell objected to going back so far, and said that if the Liberals carried out this programme he could go back to 1875. He had in his possession certain documents from Winnipeg relating to expenditure under the Mackenzle regime.

Mr. Barron replied that they had information that systematic irregularities had been carried on by this man fett, the immigration agent at Emerson, and they wanted to bring them out to make the present charge the more apparent.

Finally it was agreed that the House should be asked to grant the necessary permission to make the inquiry. DROWNED.

VICTORIA, B. C., July 20.—A sailing yacht containing six youths capsized yesterday off Donegal. Five of the occupants were in the neighbor of the protection and that the special papers in regularities that it had been used for the manufacture of the duty on fuel, plate the duty on fuel plate the duty on fuel plate the regular from the regularities would be willing to have the duty on fuel plate to other a solid to combine, but he did not think the fact form the protection of some time to resome time the contractors and the forent the form to her addition of the days of the duty on fuel plate and the duties on articles controlled by a combine when evidence of the oppressiveness of such combine was furnished.

Sir John Thompson argued that combines were not the result of protection and that protection could not be held responsible for them. The English Parliament had from the earliest years been passing laws to prevent combinations. Combinations might be one of the abuses of protection, but there were other reasons—distance for instance. He defended the mover of the bill against the imputations of insincerity. He did not think the fact that the mover had left in the bill the word "unlawful" was sufficient reason for the statements which had been made with regard to bis motives.

Mr. Laurier said there was no doubt there were other causes of combines than protection, that distance and the difficulty of transportation might give an advantage which would make a combine possible. But distance was a untural condition, while the other was a law made by men. There was no answer to the contention of this side that protection was a cause of combines. The best way to prevent combines was to remove the cause. It was logic itself. You have created a monopoly by legislation, and certainly the way to remove the legislation. The fact was clear that the way to remove protection under protection was to remove combines under protection was to remove protection (Applause.)

Messrs. Mills, Fraser, Barren and Mulock made pointed speeches along the line of the contention of the Opposition. Mr. Mulock
