Wealthy Albert E. Osborn Begins an Action for Absolute Divorce—The Wite's Sad Story.

Wite's Sad Story.

New York, July 29.—Albert E. Osborn, a wealthy member of the Union League Club of Brooklyn, is seeking an absolute divorce from his wife Margaret, to when he was married on July 14, 1873. Besides the statutory ground Mr. Osborn pleads that his wife has become an habitual drunkard. They have three children, the cidest of whom is 18 and the youngest 11 years old.

to a private inebriate asylum at Amityville.

Mrs. Osborn remained there a month and was then discharged as cured. She had mot been free more than a week, however, when her old weakness again manifested litself, her husband delares, and she indulged in a number of prolonged "sprees." On one occasion she was picked up in the street in a helpless condition by a policoman. She was arraigned on a charge of "drunk and disorderly." Her release was secured and she was again sent to the inebs riate asylum, where she was kept unti.
August, 1892, when she professed penitence and protested that she was forever cured of her drinking habit.

After this her husband took her to a boarding house in Joralemon street. They lived in the boarding house but a short time, Mr. Osborne says, when his wife's old enemy again assailed her. Then he left ber and took up apartments at the Union League Club. Mrs. Osborne went to live at 408 Lexington avenue, in this city.
There according to her husband's complaint, she met a man of the name Davis, with when she is now living. Her husband also says that she has behaved improperly with other men.

To the charge of infidelity Mrs. Osborn, through her counsel, Frank A. Doyle, sets up an absolute denial. She admits that she has been an excessive drinker, and says that she first became addicated to liquer in the summer of 1891. She was sick in June of that year, she says, and her physician prescribed whisky. That started her.
Lawyer Doyle appeared before Judge O'Brien, in Supreme Court Chambers, yesterday, and asked for a limony and counsel fees, pending the suit. Brewster, Kiesan, of To Wall street, in behalf of Mr. Osborn, asked for an adjournment. This motion was granted. Mr. Osborn is a wholesale paper dealer at 37 Warren street.

Mr. Tarte, M.P., and His Critic.
To the Editor of the ADVERTIBER: The Hamilton Spectator insinuates that I might be the author of an article published in the New York Sun on Mr.

need not tell you that there is no truth in the insinuation. Mr. Mercier is responsible for his doings and for his words. None of us have any control over him. He is acting by himself, as he has a perfect right to do The only object of the Spectator is to raise prejudices against Mr. Laurier and his friends in making us responsible for other people's actions. We have no objection to bear the responsibility of our own political position. But we beg leave to go no further.
By the way, will you allow me to state
