The Diamond Jubilee.

Awake, ye nations from afar,
Vio tribute to you Eastern Star,
Victoria, Queen of British power,
Whose honors wave on foreign tower.
What nation, then, can boast of fame
Like her who holds the power and name.

Bids nations come unto her will,
The worst that comes, "Let peace be still!"
These missionaries sent abroad
Proclaim the message of God's word
In India, where the famine dwells
Speaks of wonderful love can tell.
Let peace be still, and love to all;
This is her theme to great and small.
This reign of sixty years has come;
Let all give honor to the Crown.

There is an eye looks from above
Upon this Queen of earthly love;
A rich reward by him who gives,
Who in his Son believes shall live.
May this reward of faith be thine,
The Queen of England ever shine.
Let every nation that is free
Hail all the Diamond Jubilee.

Ye mariners and jolly tars
Who bring good tidings from afar,
This joyful time will be a treat,
Forever shall in memory keep.
Come, every nation, all but one--
You'll have enough with Greece at home.

Your company's not good at best;
Greece soon will bring you to the test.
Our Motherland shall wave the flag--
Those that are there will not be sad.
Those that are still away from home
Will long to see that morning come.
When drums and cannon loudly ring
Shall shout with joy on every shore
The triumph of our land to see--
Hail all the Diamond Jubilee!

The Thistle, Rose and Shamrock true,
With all their colors you can view,
In that fair land where peace doth flow,
Beside the winding stream did grow;
And rustling leaves, in moonlight beams,
Will obey the call of our Sovereign Queen;

But many a one on that coming day
Will sleep alone in the silent clay.
Let all then hope--tis one of three,
Along with Faith and Charity;
Come, nations all, except that one,
And sing with mirth that joyful song
And let us not forget the King
Who reigns above all earthly Queens.
In sparing her these years to see
The winding up of the Jubilee!

RHEUMATISM CURED.

Eighteen Months Trying to Get Cured--
Had the Best Doctors--He Found
What He Wanted in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Godrich, March 7.—A case of great interest here just now is that of Mr. Alexander J. Sharkey, who for some time has been an extreme sufferer from Rheumatism. His statement to the correspondent is as follows:

"For eighteen months I was a victim of Rheumatism, and during the whole of that time was trying every means to cure it. I had the best doctors in Canada, and took their prescriptions with faith and patience. I got tired at last, for I found the disappointment nearly as killing as the disease."

"But one friend wiser than the others convinced me that my disease must be cured by way of the kidneys, and recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills. I have used this course of the pills to effect a perfect cure and I don't care who knows it."

TUESDAY, MARCH 9.
BREAKFAST—Fruit, Flaked wheat, Oyster omelet. Buttered toast. Coffee.
LUNCHEON—Barbecued ham. Queen potato puff. French rolls. Tea.
DINNER—Brown farina soup. Veal olives with oysters. Stewed tomatoes. Steamed potatoes. Carrot salad. Apple pudding. Coffee.

These recipes out and paste them in a scrapbook.
Oyster Omelet—Chop twelve oysters very fine. Beat yolks and whites of six eggs separately, the white until it stands in a heap. Put three tablespoonsful of butter in a frying-pan and heat while you are mixing the omelet. Stir a cup of milk into a deep dish with the yolks and season with a large half teaspoonful of salt, half a teaspoonful of pepper, and a little chopped parsley. Beat the whites until they are stiff, then beat vigorously, as you add them gradually. When they are thoroughly mixed add a tablespoonful of milk, and put the mixture in the pan. Do not stir it, but when it begins to slip a broad-bladed knife around the sides and under the omelet, that the butter may reach every part. As soon as the center is fairly "set" turn upside down into a hot dish.

Barbecued Ham—Lay slices of underdone ham in a frying-pan, pepper each slice, and lay upon it a quarter of a teaspoonful of made mustard. Four about them some vinegar, allowing half a teaspoonful to each slice. Fry quickly and turn often. When done to a fine brown transfer to a hot dish. Add to the gravy in the pan the juice of half a lemon and a teaspoonful of white sugar.

Queen Potato Puffs—Sift together five dessertspoonfuls flour, half a teaspoonful of baking powder and a saltspoonful of salt. Grate into a large bowl boiled potatoes; add half a cup of milk, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley and two well-beaten eggs. Place over a fire a spider containing melted lard; when smoking hot, drop the mixture into it by the dessertspoonful and try to make it brown. Drain the puffs on brown paper and serve very hot.

Veal Olives with Oysters—Cut large, smooth slices from a riblet of veal, spread each neatly with a force-meat made of half a cup of bread crumbs and a quarter cup of chopped pork, seasoned with a saltspoonful of salt and quarter saltspoonful of pepper, moistened with a little hot water or milk. Over the force-meat spread some chopped oysters (about three to each good-sized olive). Roll them up carefully and closely and bind with pack-thread. Lay them in a dripping pan, dash a teaspoonful of boiling water over them and roast, basting at least twice with melted butter. When they are brown remove to a hot dish and cover while you add a little omelette, a pinch of salt and a dash of pepper to the gravy in the dripping-pan. Let this simmer for three or four minutes, thicken with a teaspoonful of butter, flour, and boil one up; cut the pack-thread, pour the gravy over them and serve.

English Syndicate Owns It--No One
Lives on It--Proposition to Make

Isle Royal, so named by an early French explorer in honor of Louis XIV., of France, is the largest island in American inland waters, being more than 40 miles in length. It is the scene of the siskiwit, a game lake fish found only in Lake Superior, and which is the most valuable of the game fish of the northwestern lakes. The island is practically uninhabited, and although a number of years ago it was a well-fledged county, it has been disorganized and for judicial purposes is attached to the county of Keweenaw.
