been treated by the Berlin press in the spirit of the Arthurian legend. The finer weather of the past two days has enabled him to spand much time out of doors to his great benefit, as it is certain his removal to Potsdam caused a slight relapse. His appetite is still enfeebled by the heat and his lassitude and the doctors are trying to augment it. Dr. Leyden has again joined in the consultations. Dr. Hovell returns at the Emperor's special request as soon as his private affairs will permit. The Emperor has decided that no summer fetes or other festivities shall be stopped on account of his condition or the death of his father. The Emperor hased a fair day to-day. This afternoon Dr. Mackensie, in the presence of Dra. Bardeleben, Wegner and Krause, changed the canula in the Emperor's throat. His Majesty afterward drove in an open carriage in the bank, where he met the Crown Princess.

The Empress during her tour of the flooded district stopped at Jonasdorf, Altefelde, Elbing, Direchau and Schueidemuhl, visiting the sufferers by the floods and receiving the town officials. She will return to Potsdam at midnight to-night. Her Majesty has sent a kindly answer to the address presented to her by the women and girls of Gorlitz.

Prince Bismarck is expected at Kissingen on July 7 for a three weeks' sojourn. His wife's illness has been serious, but the danger is now averted, and the Princess is able to leave her bed at intervals.

The National Zeitung states that the Government has abandoned for the present its intention of increasing the duties on Russian grain. This announcement had a good effect upon the Boerse, which was quiet during the week, with the exception of a disturbance which was caused by a rumor that the Government contemplated the conversion of the four per cent. Prussian consols into three and one-half per cents. It is believed that the Minister of Finance is in favor of such a project, but the present circumstances are not favorable for an operation of such magnitude.

Begunning with the month of July, the circulation of foreign coin will be prohibited throughous the empire, except in districts near the Austrian and Swiss frontiers. This measure is mainly directed against the French coin in circulation in Alsace and Lorraine.
