Information About Ties and Poles

When a visitor at a summer resort calls up by telephone the doctor at the nearest village, or his business partner in the city, he does not stop to think that the great increase of telephone conveniences in Canada means a greatly increased use of telephone poles. The same is true of the extension of telegraph lines, while new railways mean millions of new railway ties. Cross-ties and telephone, telegraph and electric light poles make up a good part of Canada's timber business. Realizing that Canadians want to know as much as possible about their own business, the Department of the Interior in its field makes provision to supply this need. In the case of forests and forest products the Forestry Branch issues periodic bulletins and between the issues if a citizen desires information on a special point he will be gladly supplied if he writes to the Branch. A bulletin on

Poles and Cross-ties in 1914 will be off the press shortly and will be sent free to all who apply. Questions and requests should be addressed to the Director of Forestry, Department of the Interior, Ottawa.

Job's Jottings

Few men live long enough to discover how much their friends appreciate them.
Girls who marry for love often get a gold brick.
Among office seekers the proportion of the elect is small.
A widow usually selects a different sort of man the next time.
The master key of wisdom is knowledge of your ignorance.
Most married couples fool themselves longer than they do their neighbors.
The man who judges his future by his past is apt to become discouraged.
It might be well for a woman to remember that a frown begets more wrinkles than a smile.
Marriage is a lottery--except for the poverty-stricken nobleman who marries an American heiress.

A married man imagines he is having a good time when he does anything he knows his wife wouldn't approve of.

It sometimes happens that an old bachelor loves little children, although they probably worry him as much as women do.

Many people are either rich or happy, but few are both.

The way of the transgressor often leads to another's pocket.

An eloquent prayer doesn't get any higher than the other kind.

Men crow when they win a bet, and women crow when they win a suit case prize--all of which goes to show that men and women resemble poultry.

Do not allow worms to sap the vitality of your children. If not attended to, worms may work irreparable harm to the constitution of the infant. The little sufferers cannot voice their ailment, but there are many signs by which mothers are made aware that a dose of Miller's Worm Powder is necessary. These powders act quickly and will expel worms from the system without any inconvenience to the child.

Frank Fair, at South Woodlee, has found an easy and simple way to cut grain in a soft field, and has worked it out to his satisfaction. He took a wire a little smaller than No. 9 fence wire and fastened one end to a stout stake at the point where he commenced cutting, and passed the wire once around the bull wheel of the binder, and placed two bars on each side of the wheel to keep the wire in its place. The other end he fastened to another stake on the opposite side of the field. He used a corn planter stake at this end of wire. When putting the wire around the wheel have them cross next to the ground.

Dealers throughout Ontario have sold a large number of gasoline engines to farmers to be placed on their binders for cutting grain. As these engines can also be used on corn binders, it is expected that they will be used when the farmers cut their corn this fall, if the ground should be soft at that time. The farmer disconnects the bull wheel from the mechanical part of the binder. The horses pull the whole outfit, and the engine power operates the binder, thus relieving the heavy part of the work from the horses. The American farmer is trying another wrinkle. They place an empty beer keg back of the bull wheel, and if the wheel settles three or four inches, the keg carries the weight, and yet the friction on the ground is enough to operate the binder.

Canadian Born

We first saw light in Canada, the land beloved of God.
We are the pulse on Canada, its marrow and its blood;
And we, the men of Canada, can face the world and brag
That we were born in Canada, beneath the British flag.
Few of us have the blood of kings, few are of courtly birth,
But few are vagabonds or rogues of doubtful name and worth;
And all have one credential that entitles us to brag
That we were born in Canada beneath the British flag.
We've yet to make our money, we've yet to make our fame,
But we have gold and glory in our clean colonial name;
And every man's a millionaire it only he can bag
That we were born in Canada beneath the British flag.
No title and no coronet is half so proudly worn,
As that which we inherited as men Canadian born;
We count no man so noble as the one who makes the brag
That we were born in Canada beneath the British flag.
The Dutch may have their Holland, the Spaniard may have his Spain,
The Yankee to the south of us must south of us remain,
For not a man dare lift a hand against the men who brag
That they were born in Canada beneath the British flag.

Found a Treasure

(Forest Standard)
Two years ago Daniel Paxman a former resident of Forest, returned after a number of years absence to renew old acquaintances.

While here he related an incident that occurred some months previous while in one of the large American cities. The story was that he had consulted a clairvoyant, who informed him that he had at one time erected a house on property on which were four evergreen trees and beneath one of these was buried a treasure by an old man, who at one time resided there. The description of the property answered to that owned by Mr. C. W. Beatty, and together they made an unsuccessful attempt to locate the prize.

Monday evening Mr. Beatty was relating the story, and Thos. Pilling decided to make a search. Under the tree to the north a box was unearthed, and in this enclosed in a sack Mr. Beatty has announced was sufficient gold and silver coins to purchase the best 100-acre farm in the district.

Probably later on more detailed information will be given, but up to the present Mr. Beatty has not exhibited any of the coins and has not stated what amount the sack contained.

Councillor Beatty's friends have been showering him with congratulations the past few days. All are interested because the town will benefit greatly by the increase of Mr. Beatty's income by several thousand.
