Where We Played. BY J. W. VALLANDINGHAM.

Of all the world, the cearest spot,
That memory fond gives thought to-day
Is one which ne'er can be forgot,
Where I with others used to play.
My mind oft wanders to it yet;
And then, as in the days of yore,
I meet with those I there have met,
And play before the cottage door.

There, often when the sun was low,

There, often when the sun was low,
And evening shadows ran out long,
As westward fast the light would go,
And night-birds sang their mellow song
We'd meet in childish ghe to play
The games so oft played o'er and o'er,
And pass the evening bours away
With joy before the cottage door.

With marbles, tops and other toys.
That children always love so well,
Which add far more to youth's bright;
Than either tongue or pen can tell,
We played; glad songs in glee were sun
Sweet joys, we never more can see;
Sweet pleasures are but for the young,
And only once we young can be.

'Twas thus we many hours would hass; And often when we weary go.''.
We'd tall askep upon the go.'s, amist the drops of spanting dew;
We were then kindly the in, And gently laid to evep once more,

Long years since then have past away,
And some of those whom there I met,
Browell the sod in silence lay,
White others linger with me yet,
Those offage stands the same to-day
As in those happy days of yore.
And other children gladly play
As wa did then before its door.

Shot after shot went over and exploded beyond on the shore. We were now rapidly approaching Galveston barbor, and it seemed as if she was to the word lot for a small load of wood. How to DISAPPOINT A BALKY HORSE -A We were now rapidly approaching Galveston barbor, and it seemed as if she was going to get away in spite of us. Her captain for the last hour had been walking the bridge between the wheel-bouses, with both hands in the pockets of his pea jucket, smoking a cigar very unconcernedly. But the there was the would not straighten a tug. 'I pea jacket, smoking a cigar very unconcernedly: but that there was a feeling that their lives and property hung only on a single thread was manifest in the way those wheels flew around, leaving a track of boiling foaming sea far astern, and the thick, huge volumes of black smoke that poured out of the funnels told a story that did not need a trumpet to announce. The channel now began to widen, and if she could only hold her own for treating that the would not straighten a tug. I made up my mind,' said the farmer, 'when that borse went to the barn he would take that load of wood. The night was not cold. I went to the barn, got blankets and covered the horse warm, and he stood until morning. Then he refused to draw. At noon I went down and he was probably hungry and lonesome. He drew that load of wood the first time I asked him. I recould only hold her own for treating that the farmer, 'when that borse went to the barn he would take that load of wood. An interesting ceremony took place at mington, England, recently, on the oction of the 'home-coming?' of a man med Hall after twenty years penal sernate for wife nurder. Thousands of sple, it is stated, met Hall at the rail y station and gave him an enthusastic eption, greeting him with loud cheers in he was driven off to a cab with his atives. These tokens of sympathy and community has been as a rather serious offence, in when, as in the case of Hall, it was smothed under circumstances of extreme production.
