We've Always Been Provided For.

"Good wife, what are you singing for? you know we've lost the hay; And what we'll do with horse and kye is more than I can say;

While, like as not, with storm and rain, we'll lose both corn and wheat."

She looked up with a pleasant face, and answered low and sweet: "There is a Heart, there is a Hand, we feel, but cannot see;

We've always been provided for, and we shall always be."

He turned around with sudden gloom. She said: "Love, be at rest;
You cut the grass, worked soon and late; you did your very best.
That was your work; you've naught at all to do with wind and rain,
And do not doubt but you will reap rich fields of golden grain:

of golden grain;
For there's a Heart and there's a Hand, we feel, but cannot see;

We've always been provided for, and we shall always be."

"That's like a woman's reasoning; we must because we must,"
She softly said: "I reason not; I only work and trust. The harvest may redeem the hay; keep heart, whate'er betide; When one door shuts, I've always seen another open wide.

She heard him with a cheerful step go whistling down the lane,
And went about her household tasks full of a glad content,

 The Doomed City, v. 16-20.

TIME. - April, B.C. 1451.

PLACES. - Gilgal, Jericho.

INTRODUCTORY.

This miracle followed directly the miraculous crossing of the river. Two spies had been sent across the Jordan. They went to Jericho and lodged with Rahab, whose house was built on the city wall. They were tracked by the soldiers of Jericho, but Rahab successfully hid them under stalks of flax on her roof and granter safely out of town. Explicit and governer under stakes of nax on her roof and governer safely out of town. Explicit directions were given to Joshua by God, and these orders he passed over to the people. Read especially verses 2-7 of this chapter.

What fate came on the people of the city?

THE Israelites had crossed Jordan, had created a memorial with stones, had circumcised the people, and had kept the passover and eaten of the corn of the land (Josh. 4, 5). Joshua went out to inspect the city of Jericho, and as he "lifted his eyes and looked beheld the "lifted his the city of Jericho, and as he "lifted his eyes and looked, behold, there stood a man over against him with his sword drawn in his hand; and Joshua went unto him and said unto him, art thou for us, or for our adversaries?" The answer soon came back, "Nay, but as captain of the host of the Lord am I now come." This struck Joshua and he fell on his face to the earth and there received his face to the earth and there received his orders as to their movements. Remember, the children of Israel did not come to the land of Canaan to have an easy time—had they not moved forward at the bidding of the Master they would soon have been driven out of the land. The Christian who expects to have an easy time after he enters the experience of soul-rest is mistaken. It means fight if he would gain possession of the richest blessings. The enemy is not so ready to retreat.

The plan of battle was a new one.

Joshua had never heard anything like it. They were to compass the city once each day for six days, and on the seventh day they were to march around the city seven times. Seven priests shall have seven trumpets, and as they march before the times. ark around the city these seven priests were to blow their trumpets. Notice the frequent use of the number seven. This is the covenant number between God and man. Number three stands for Divinity, man. Number three stands for Divinity, or God, and number four stands for humanity, and the sum of 3 and 4=7 means God covenanting with man. God covenanted with Israel to give them Jericho, but everything must be done accordto the command of God. Obedience God's commands and orders is the secret of success in all our conflicts.

LIFE is not worth living unless we live it for somebody else.

When Joshua laid his plans before the When Joshua laid his plans before the people we imagine we can see those men of war who had fought many battles, shake their heads and say, of all the plans of attacks on a fortified city we ever heard of this is the most silly. The idea of marching around these high walls and blowing seven trumpets how can we expect to take seven trumpets, how can we expect to take seven trumpets, now can we expect to take the city in this way. However it did not take Joshua long to get the people ready, for those grumblers and faultfinders had all died in the wilderness and he had a different lot of people to deal with than he had when they brought had the first had when they brought back the first report of the land forty years previous. Look at that host as they quietly march around the city the first day—40,000 men of war—and then without any further action they return to their camps. next morning the same procession marches around the city—quietly and thoughtfully they move on—and again they return to camp without taking action. What must the people in the city think of this strange movement? What is the next they will do? Jericho was, no doubt, filled with anxiety and fear, not knowing what would be the outcome of this strange movement. On the third morning and the fourth, and be the outcome of this strange movement. On the third morning and the fourth, and fifth, and sixth, the same procession is seen marching around the city. Think of it, 40,000 men in this quiet march, and not a shout! Not a challenge is heard. On the seventh day they get up bright and early, before daylight, for this day they have a great work before them. As they march round on that day the anxiety and fear of the people in the city is in creased. They marched round the seventh time on that seventh day, and the priests blew their terms. time on that seventh day, and the priests blew their trumpets when Joshua gave the command: "Shout, for the Lord hath given you the city." What a shout this must have been, from 40,000 men at one time! The walls fall and the sity was must have been, from 40,000 men at one time! The walls fell and the city was conquered. A glorious victory indeed.

We see obedience and unity in this conquest, and this is the secret of the success of God's people to-day. Oh, if men would only obey the Lord, what wonderous things would God do for them! They were not to shout until they were told. A Holy Ghost shout is all right and carries power with it, but were told. A Holy Ghost shout a right and carries power with it, but a self-made shout is as hollow as a drum. Then they were ready to walk by faith, for Then they were ready to walk by faith, for what prospects to the reasoner was there here of ever taking the city by simply marching around it? Reason would have prepared battering rams, but faith is satisfied to move at the Lord's bidding though it is against, or beyond reason. "But God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise; and God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty; and base things of the world, and things which are despised, hath God chosen, yea. and things which are not to bring to nought which are despised, hath God chosen, year and things which are not to bring to nought things that are." If you want to take possession of any promises in God's word, this is the way to go about it. The trouble to-day with most of God's people is they are not willing to take their place among the "foolish things," or the "weak or base things," or the "despised," and hence God can't use them. The Lord could do more with the stick in Moses could do more with the stick in Moses hand than with a thousand soldiers armed with Winchester rifles.
