

SHORT'S

STEEL BARB WIRE

is adopted by all the stock raisers and farmers on account of its SUPERIOR STYLE OF BARB, which passes between the two wires, then wound around both, and afterwards galvanized by a PATENT PROCESS, which prevents the bar from rusting, and consequently when an animal is punctured it will heal quickly and not fester as is the case with rusty and ragged barbs.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla, FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandragora, with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, make the most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflictive. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humours in the system, that under the influence of the skin are the appearance of the surface, and those that should be expelled from the system. Internal derangements are the determination of humours to some internal organ, or organs, where they derange, and whose substance they cause and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humours from the blood. When they are gone the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptions of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Tumours, Ulcers and Sores, Scald-head, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhoea arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns. Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass., Practical and Analytical Chemists. Sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine.

Scientific and Useful.

RESTORING A CANARY'S VOICE.—I give a safe and sure remedy for restoring a canary-bird's voice! Get a pure article of rock candy and keep a small lump in the bird's drinking water. My bird had lost its voice, and I used the above remedy, and he now sings as strong and sweet as ever, or even better.

TO MAKE BLANC-MANGE.—Put four table-spoonfuls of corn-flour into a basin, and mix it smoothly with a tablespoonful of cold milk; then put one quart of milk with three ounces of loaf sugar into a saucepan. As soon as the milk boils stir in quickly the corn flour, and let it boil eight minutes, stirring continually; when done pour into your mould, which must have been rinsed in cold water. When the blanc-mange is cold turn it out on to a dish, and it is ready for serving.

COAL ASHES.—The value of coal ashes for small city gardens has been frequently alluded to, and now that such ashes are more abundant and easy of access their value as a fertilizer will be more often tested. The "Husbandman" reports an experiment made with coal ashes, applied at the rate of 200 bushels to twenty square rods, or ten bushels to the square rod. The soil was compact and heavy. The ashes were drawn on late in the autumn, and spread on the ground, which had been recently ploughed. In the spring the ploughing was repeated, thoroughly mixing the ashes with the soil. The ground was planted with garden vegetables. The beneficial result was in the correction of the heavy character of the soil, the ashes acting mechanically, and not as a manure and producing a satisfactory improvement.

SOUP FROM REMNANTS OF JOINTS.—The following will be found useful at this season: Take a leg of mutton, after all the meat available for a hash has been cut away from it. Break up the bone into convenient pieces; put them into a two-quart saucepan with two carrots and turnips cut in pieces, two whole onions, a small bunch of parsley, a bay leaf, and a few sprigs of marjoram and thyme. Fill up the saucepan with water, add half a dozen cloves, a heaped tablespoonful of whole pepper and allspice in equal parts, a small quantity of Worcester sauce, and salt to taste. Set the saucepan on the fire, and let the contents boil for four hours. Strain the broth, free it from fat, and use it as stock for any kind of thick soups. E.g., pass through a hair sieve the carrots and one of the onions used above; melt an ounce of butter in a saucepan, add a tablespoonful of flour. When the two are well mixed add a little of the stock, then the carrots and onion pulp, and gradually so much more stock as will produce a purée of the consistency of pea-soup. Pour it boiling hot over small dice of toasted or fried bread.—Queen.

EATING LEMONS.—A good deal has been said through the papers lately about the healthfulness of lemons. The latest advice how to use them so that they will do the most good runs as follows: "Most people know the benefit of lemonade before breakfast, but few know how it is more than doubled by taking another at night, also. The way to get the better of a bilious system without blue pills or quinine, is to take the juice of one, two or three lemons, as the appetite craves, in as much ice-water as makes it pleasant to drink, without sugar, before going to bed. In the morning, on rising, or at least half an hour before breakfast, take the juice of one lemon in a goblet of water. This will clear the system of humours and bile, with mild efficacy, without any of the weakening effects of calomel or congress water. People should not irritate the stomach by eating lemons clear; the powerful acid of the juice, which is almost corrosive, infallibly produces inflammation after a while, but properly diluted, so that it does not burn or draw the throat, it does its full medical work without harm, and when the stomach is clear of food has abundant opportunity to work on the system thoroughly.
