

CONTENTS.

xiii

| CHAP.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | PAGE |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------|
| XXXIII. PERITONITIS—APPENDICITIS—ASCITES . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | 494  |
| Peritonitis in the foetus and newborn, 494; symptoms and treatment in older children, 495; appendicitis, 498; symptoms, 498; causes, 500; diagnosis, 501; prognosis, 503; treatment, 503; peritoneal abscess, diagnosis and treatment, 504; ascites, 506; secondary to adhesive mediastinitis, 507; treatment, 508                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |      |
| XXXIV. BLOOD DISEASES: DISEASES OF THE SPLEEN . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 509  |
| Characters of blood in infancy and childhood, 509; anæmia, 510; primary anæmia, 512; splenic anæmia, pseudo-leukæmia, 513; leucocythæmia, 515; splenic enlargement, 517                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |      |
| XXXV. AFFECTIONS OF THE SUPRARENAL BODIES . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 519  |
| Addison's Disease, 519; hæmorrhage into the suprarenal capsules, 519; suprarenal sarcoma with metastases in the skull, 520; precocious development, 522                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |      |
| XXXVI. DISEASES OF THE LIVER . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 524  |
| Icterus neonatorum, 524; congenital obliteration of bile-ducts, 525; congenital family cholæmia, 526; catarrhal jaundice, 527; cirrhosis, 529; syphilitic hepatitis, 532; simple enlargement, 534; functional disease of the liver and lithæmia, 534                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |      |
| XXXVII. DISEASES OF THE GENITO-URINARY ORGANS . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 537  |
| Characters of the urine in childhood, 537; hæmaturia, 538; hæmoglobinuria, 541; anuria, dysuria, 540; diabetes insipidus and mellitus, 541; pyuria, 543; acute pyelitis, 544; scrofulous kidney, 547; renal calculus, 548; acute nephritis, 548; nephritis in infants, 549; complications of nephritis, 551; chronic nephritis, 552; functional albuminuria, 555; paroxysmal albuminuria, 556; renal tumours, hydronephrosis, 557; traumatic cysts in connection with kidney, 558; perinephric abscess, 558; new growths, 559; nocturnal enuresis, 560; incontinence of fæces, 564; calculus vesicæ, 565; vaginal discharge, 565; noma pudendi, 567 |      |
| XXXVIII. DISEASES OF THE NERVOUS SYSTEM . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | 569  |
| Inflammation of the dura arachnoid, 569; meningitis, its varieties, 571; suppurative meningitis, 572; posterior basilar meningitis, 575; diagnosis, 579; treatment, 581; epileptic cerebro-spinal meningitis, 582; symptoms, 582; treatment, 584                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |      |
| XXXIX. TUBERCULAR MENINGITIS—TETANUS . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 586  |
| Tubercular affections of the brain, caseous tumours and meningitis, 587; association with tubercle elsewhere, 588; symptoms, 589; ophthalmoscopic appearances, 591; diagnosis, 593; treatment, 595; tetanus in infants, trismus neonatorum, 595; in older children, 597                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |      |