"A capital book throughout, full of both entertainment and instruction."—The London Quarterly Review.

"In every way full of interest."—Illustrated Missionary News.

"An intensely interesting book."—Methodist New Connexion Magazine.

"I regard it as one of the most fascinating, instructive, and stimulating of modern missionary books."—ARTHUR T. PIERSON.

"Another happy combination of adventurous narrative, graphic description, humour, detailed information about the Indians, and a record of earnest, self-denying missionary work, which makes his 'By Canoe and Dog-Train' so deservedly popular."—London Missionary Chronicle.

"The narrative is an enthralling one."—Manchester Courier.

"His stories of work and adventure are not only smartly written, but they are exciting to a degree, and far more entertaining than many a popular novel."—Lincolnshire Free Press.

"Thrilling missionary stories and incidents. More interesting far than any romance."—Bible Christian Magazine.

"Mr. Young tells his stories in such a simple, earnest way that we read on and on, regardless of the flight of time."—Sheffield Independent.

"As a book of adventure, this rivals in interest and excitement many of the most popular works of fiction; as a record of missionary zeal and self-sacrifice it deserves to take high rank with books which describe the toils and triumphs of the servants of Christ in all lands."—Christian Miscellany.
