

OBSCENE LIBELS—Continued.

- offence of posting obscene books, etc., complete, if posting in Canada, 35.
- opinion of Osler, J.A., as to meaning of "obscene" in section 207 (a), 32.
- opinion of Cockburn, C.J., as to honesty of motives in publishing, 29.
- opinion of Blackburn, J., as to honesty of motives in publishing, 30.
- pleadings on charges of, 42.
- posting obscene books, etc., enactment against, 35.
- "public good," when publication for justified, 35.
- questions for judge and jury on charge of, 28.

ONTARIO,

- law of England applicable to, 193.

PARLIAMENTARY PROCEEDINGS,

- (See Reports of Parliamentary Proceedings, 95.)

PARLIAMENTARY PAPERS,

- publication of, 126-135.
- contest between the English Courts and the House of Commons as to the protection of publishers of, 132-135.
- copies of, publication of, 127.
- decisions on English enactment corresponding to Canadian enactment, 128-131.
- decisions on the English Parliamentary Papers Act, 1840, (3-4 Vict. c. 9), 131.
- defence for publishing libellous extract from or abstract of, 128.
- defendant's remedy in case of prosecution, 127.
- enactment conferring privilege on publication of, 126.
- origin of English legislation on the subject, 132.
- privilege of three kinds of defamatory matter in, 126.
- publication of, privileged, 126.

PARTICULARS,

- object and use of, in connection with counts in an indictment, 253.
- of counts in indictment, may be ordered from prosecution, 254.
- of defamatory libel, 70.
- of justification unnecessary where stated in libel itself or plea of truth, 309.
- of justification must be set out in plea, otherwise it may be quashed, 306.
- procedure as to obtaining and use of, 254.

PETIT JURY,

- conviction where juror sworn by mistake, 349.
- 'jurors' affidavits inadmissible on motion for new trial, 362.
- questions for, on charge of obscene libel, 28.
- questions for, in libel trials, 337.
- right of Crown to require jurors to stand aside is a question of law that may be reserved, 348.
- rights of, on libel trials, 330.
- selection of, is a question of law that may be reserved, 348.