FRENCH ACTRESS SAW VESSEL SINK

What Her Eyes Have Seen, Your Eyes Shall

REGENT ALL NEXT WEEK

"Lest We Forget" One of the Finest Photodramas of Today.

"What her eyes have seen your eyes shall see" is the slogan that has made the people of Toronto wonder, but the wonder will grow and the interest increase when the story is revealed. It means that what the eyes of Rita Jolivet, the renowned French actress, saw when as a passenger on the torpedoed Lusitania she saw that vessel go down, the eyes of the whole world shall see. From her vivid story detail after detail of that catastrophe has been reproduced in such a way as to show mankind what is probably the greatest calamity ever visited upon innocent people by a warring nation. "What her eyes have seen your eyes shall see" also means that the vast stretches of ruins which the Germans left in their wake as they plowed thru Belgium and as they retreated on the Somme will be shown, conveying the lasting memory of what the Hun is capable of doing. Further, the secrets of the German spy system are revealed in a manner which has to date been almost an impossibility, and date been almost an impossibility, and this phase of the story is perhaps among the most interesting.

It is good to note that a beautiful love story is interwoven thruout the entire play, which holds one in rapt attention. The fortunes of an opera prima donna and a young millionaire carry one thru the great scenes which have been prepared at so much expense, and the happy ending leaves one in a frame of mind which would not be possible were the picture nothing but an expose of horrors.

In order to produce "Lest We Forget"—the immense photodrama at the Regent next week—the United States ernment gave its support and cooperation, placing one of the German ships which had been seized, at the disposal of the company.

The scene showing the sinking of the Lusitania was taken in New York Bay and at one time there were 200 persons swimming and floundering around before the battery of cameras A host of expert swimmers had been engaged and the the waters were not free from their winter ace, they carried the scene thru without interrup tion or mishap.

There are some 3,000 persons taking part in the picture, which required hundreds of scenes, so that it ranks among the largest productions as yet attempted. The battles are as realistic as is possible without the actual use of death dealing instruments altho this cannot be discerned, so well has the fact been concealed.

DIVERGENT VIEWS ON OLEOMARGARINE

Some Members of Commons Claim It Will Work Injury to Dairy Industry.

CRERAR SAYS NO

Member for St. John, N.B. Says Coal Situation is Desperate.

Ottawa, April 3.—The house assembled this afternoon almost immediately after the conclusion of the long caucus held by the Union governorm. ernment supporters on the Quebec situation and the Military Service Act. By common consent, however, no reference was made to this subject beyond the statement by the prime minister, which summarized the official reports on the richs to date. If cial reports on the riots to date. If there is to be a discussion, and that seems likely, it will come up tomorrow on a motion to adjourn the house, of which Col. J. A. Currie, North Simcoe, has given notice.

Instead of discussing war and insurrection the members turned their attention to the subject of oleomargarine. The question was brought to the floor by Mr. Armstrong, East Lambton, who criticized the regulations respecting the importation of oleomargarine, and contended that they worked a great injustice to the dairy industry. He was followed by a number of speakers, several of them Union government supporters, who went much further in condemning the action of the government. Dr. with oil Steel (S. Perth), Mr. Nesbitt (N. Ox- stitute. ford), Mr. Robb (Huntingdon), and Mr. Sutherland (S. Oxford) asserted that the importation and manufacture of oleomargarine were unnecessary for the relief of the consumer, and were bound to seriously injure the farmers and dairymen of Canada. ter and oleomargarine, but pointed out the inconsistency of the government in putting an embargo on many necessary commodities from the United States and at the same time encouraging the unnecessary importation of a butter substitute free of duty.

Mr. Nickle, of Kingston, stated the price of butter had become prohibiive, and that the working people of the country had to have oleomargarine or eat their bread unbuttered; and he of butter, so that the argument put was supported in his contention by Mr Keefer, of Port Arthur, and Dr. Manion, of Fort William. Mr. Crerar was not apprehensive that the Canadian dairy industry was going to suffer because the price of oleomargarine was lower than that of butter. During the period of the war and for several years after, he said, the dairy industry would have a big market in Europe. AUTHORITY IN ARMY.

Military May Be Authorized to Put Men in Khaki and Then Consider Exemptions

Ottawa, April 3.-The riot situation in the City of Quebec has produced a political situation here in Ottawa, the capital of Canada. The question is no longer the riot and conflict in the streets of the City of Quebec, but the demand here for the enforcement of the Military Service Act in the I'rovince of Quebec. There is both an open resistance more or less strong in that city, but the really serious thing for the government to deal with is the passive resistance to the law of conscription that prevails generally should not bring into their plants thruout that province.
