OLD VARSITY VISITED.

A Stroll Over the Campus, and the Impressions The World Received.

It will be a good thirty days yet before those parts of the Queen's Park which are adjacent to the University and its surrounding buildings are again open to the life and activity which characterize them during the three-quarters of the year, which is the college term. For the most part the buildings stand rigorously locked and barred, and the central tower of Old Varsity is still lacking the card with the legend, that after June 15 these buildings will be open to the general public for only three hours in the day. The library is subject to the same disposition, and in the University Y.M.C.A. also, they have not yet commenced operations for the year.

Out on the campus the sod is dry and slippery, and seems to be in sore need of an autumn rains. A few of the trees are already assuming a straggly tint of September, but around the walks and terraces the grass has been kept well watered and the brilliant beds of geraniums and foliage plants lend pleasing patches of color to the scene.

Inside the Varsity, things would hardly look natural to-day. An old college man who might stray in, full to the brim of reminiscences. The corridors are invitingly cool and dim, but the accustomed sound of hurrying feet is not to be heard. Step-ladders and caretakers' implements stand conspicuously about. The lecture rooms are locked; one clock in the main hall is nearly an hour too fast, and the only one about, except a few of the old handials, is an occasional student who happens in to see the clock, and is utilizing his opportunity to revisit the best remembered of his former haunts. Such a one may possibly be seen in front of the notice-boards, hastily reading notices four months old, or

FOR TOOTH ACHE

To anybody who happens, just now, to be walking the floor or holding hot cloths to their faces for an aching tooth, we should like to say that if long neglect has brought the tooth to the point where skill can no longer make a new and better behaved tooth of it, we can remove it and its ache without one particle of pain and without loss of senses. The anesthetic used is a new discovery. It contains no Cocaine, and we guarantee positively that no bad after effects of any sort will result from its use.

THE MODIST MEET OPENS

General Conference of the Methodist Church Begins To-Day.

The History of the Gathering—Delegates From Many Lands—Officers—Business That Will Likely Be Taken Up This Morning—Program.

The most important meeting in the history of Canadian Methodism is that which opens in the Metropolitan Church this morning. It will be the fifth great annual conference of the denomination, and it will continue for at least two weeks. Some idea of the importance of the event may be gained when it is stated that no fewer than 282 delegates—half clergy, half laymen—representing every province of the Dominion, will be present, and one party is expected all the way from Japan on purpose to attend it. The jurisdiction of the Conference indeed is very large, including the whole of Canada and Newfoundland, with the Bermudas on the east and Japan on the west. Such a gathering of 2000 ministers and 2000 laymen, representing the four great branches of the denomination, is a rare event in the history of the church.

The General Conference is the immediate outcome of the annual meeting of the various Methodist bodies in the West. The Primitive Methodist, Wesleyan, and Methodist Episcopal, and other churches, all send delegates to the conference. The conference is held in the Metropolitan Church, Toronto, where it is again a matter of the first importance to the church. A WOMAN

With Two Heads and Only One Body Arrived in Toronto Saturday—Such is Millie Christine, to Exhibit at Our Fair.

Of all the curiosities ever exhibited by the immortal Barnum, none can compare with the most minute degree of this, a daughter or daughters—whichever the fastidious please—of the State of North Carolina, born at a Waterbury, Columbia County. Here we have a woman with but one body, but two distinct minds, borne by two separate heads.

The Biggest School

The Twenty-six to be taken into consideration. Briefly put, this proposal, which emanates from the original, calls for the payment of $100,000 to the city of Toronto. The proposal is to be taken into consideration by the city council.

General Conference

The General Conference, in all probability, will elect all the officers of the denomination. The conference is held in the Metropolitan Church, Toronto, where it is again a matter of the first importance to the church.
