NEW GOVERNOR-GENERAL QUALIFIED FOR OFFICE

"He is a Man Everyone Trusts," Says London Daily Telegraph.

NOT BRILLIANT SPEAKER

But His Earnestness and Practical
Common Sense Lend Great Force.

LONDON, June 28.—The Daily News says: "As to the fitness of the Duke of Devonshire's appointment it is a case for the nominee to justify his choice. The duke has to his credit a political career, which if not marked by any particular distinction, has, at any rate, been free from any breath of reproach. It may be left to Canada to add the distinction."

"The selection is one," says The Pall Mall Gazette, "which we believe will justify itself increasingly in Canadian eyes with time and experience. The Cavendish type is not one of exuberant brilliance, but it is unmatched in staying power and balance of judgment and discretion."

The Westminster Gazette describes the choice as excellent. The new governor by training and character is admirably fitted for the high, responsible work awaiting him in Canada.

The following from The Daily Telegraph may be taken as a fair summary many of the new governor's personal qualities: "He is a man everyone trusts, because of the earnest conscientiousness with which he discharges his duties and the simplicity of his character. He is not an orator, but convinces his audience very much as his uncle did, by strong common sense and the practical wisdom of his recommendations and the obvious sincerity of his temperment."

"If he ever gives the impression of weariness or boredom, it is only to those not acquainted with the Cavendish manner and who mistake certain slowness for carelessness. Careless he never is, but is not anxious to put himself forward unless certain his advice is wanted."

Shrewd in Business.

"He is an admirable man of business, possesses a great deal of method, has a good head for figures. Everyone instinctively feels he is a safe man, a man who is wanted because he inspires implicit confidence. His chief merit is resolution, strength, unquenchable will. He is an ideal servant of state on the ground, not so much of actual performance as of character. He has convictions and acts upon them, as shown by his advocacy of the interests of the church in Wales, with unshrinking courage. No one is better fitted than he duke to represent in Canada all that Great Britain means and stands for in the world."

"Everyone who knows him will look forward with the utmost confidence that a career is awaiting him across the Atlantic."

A Charming Hostess.

"After leaving Cambridge University the duke served with a firm of accountants and acquired a sound knowledge of finance. Later he studied law in Temple."

"Canada will possess a very charming hostess in the duchess. For some years she has been mistress of robes to Queen Mary. Their principal seat at Chatsworth, Derbyshire, is famous with tourists the world over. Nearby is a model village, Edensor, where many of the Cavendish family are buried, including Lord Frederick Cavendish, a victim of the Fenians in the Phoenix Park tragedy. Devonshire House in Piccadilly, one of the most prominent houses in London, has been since the first week of the war a Red Cross centre."

AEROPLANES FOUGHT AT RIGA BAY OPENING

Germans Claim Bringing Down of Three Russian Machines.

BERLIN, June 28.—(Via London, 6 p.m.)—An official statement, issued here today, reports two aerial engagements at the western entrance of Riga Bay.

In one case it is alleged a German naval plane fought five Russian aeroplanes and brought down one. The other fight was between five Russian and five German aeroplanes, in which two Russian machines were brought down badly damaged.

One German plane, because of damage to its propeller, dropped and sank, but its crew was rescued. The remainder of the German craft returned undamaged.

CHARGED WITH BIGAMY IN CRIMINAL COURT

Case of Catherine Donnelly and Neil McLellan Postponed One
Year to Secure Evidence.

Catherine Donnelly and Neil McLellan appeared yesterday in the county criminal court before Judge Winchester charged with bigamy. The woman accused had married Francis Robert Shaw on Dec. 25, 1912, but having no communication with him for three years and two months, she married McLellan on June 2 of this year. It was contended that she had not reasonable grounds for considering her husband dead before undertaking the second union.

His honor postponed consideration of the woman's case for one year in order to allow her to secure evidence of his death. She was not found guilty.

In the case of the man, sentence was also postponed for a year. If the other man was dead he has committed no wrong in cohabiting with the woman. He was urged to enlist. The ages of both accused were given as twenty-four.
