Thinking it over for a week, no one now believes the $10,000 per diem tax will stop horse racing on the big tracks. In Queen's Park it is expected the bill as printed will become law, and there is nothing in it to stop the high cost of racing. So, like Sir Joseph, the jockey clubs will merely charge more for their wares and get the profit just the same, instead of going out of business. The man who bets will let $3 go at the gate just as readily as $1.50 lif the Woodbine wants it and the law allows it.

Carpentler rapidly gained weight after winning from Ledoux and was forced out of the feather, light, welter and middleweight divisions and into the light-heavyweight class. Ledoux retained his original weight, and is today about the best European bantam,
