Montreal, Jan. 25.—Burling everything that hockey should be, the Canadiens handed the Wanderers a 10 to 2 beating in the Arena last night, and thereby tied for first place in the N. H. A. race with the Ottawa and 22nd St. sevens. Last night's game brought out all kinds of new stunts which the hockey fans had not seen before, but no real hockey was offered from start to finish of the farce.

Ottawa Beaten. Toronto, Jan. 25.—Ottawa went down to defeat last night at the hands of the Toronto in a N. H. A. game in the Arena by a score of 8 to 5. The locals led at the end of the first period, 4 to 1, and the second, 7 to 4. In the final period each side tallied one, Keats and Shore scoring.

Soldiers Won. Quebec, Jan. 23.—Although the 22nd Battalion defeated Quebec by 12 goals to 4 at the local arena last evening, the score is by no means an indication of the play. Lockhart's sensational goal keeping on the one part and Quebec's sieve-like defence on the other were responsible for the discrepancy in the figures.

BASEBALL STRIKE IS A RESULT OF POOR DIPLOMACY

New York, Jan. 22.—There is no questioning the fact that the majority of major league players do not welcome the strike with open arms, yet on the other hand there is no reason to believe they will not go through with it. On the other hand, the evidence shows that most of the players who signed pledges will stick.

Despite the fact that contracts have been out since the first of the month, there are only two cases on record where players violated their pledges. Sallee and Stange, both of them veteran players who have but a few seasons left in them and are not jeopardizing their futures by joining a strike.

The decision of the two major leagues, to refuse the players' fraternity further recognition and Fultz's stayment of last Saturday tell how far the rival factions are drifting apart.

Nothing but a miracle—or perhaps a little horse sense—can prevent this fight from dragging on through the training season and into the regular season as well. If it does there can be no telling what will be the offshoot of this situation. The pumping of fresh life into the corpse of the Federal League is one of the possibilities.

There is grave doubt among many baseball laymen of the justice of the major league players involving owners in this mess. But one fact stands out—the stubbornness and lack of diplomacy of the minor leagues exemplified by their secretary, John Farrell, in their dealings with the fraternity.

TWO CANADIANS START IN RED RIVER DOG DERBY

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 24.—The "Red River Derby," the 802-mile dog race from this city to St. Paul over the old Pembina trail, said to be the longest race of its kind ever attempted, started at noon Wednesday. Louis W. Hill of St. Paul, president of the Great Northern R. R., and others prominently connected with the St. Paul outdoor sports carnival under whose auspices the event is being held, came to witness the send-off of the men and dogs. Eleven dog teams, each composed of six or more of the best "bunkies" obtainable in the northland and driven by veterans in the game, were sent on their journey by Mayor R. D. Waugh of this city at ten minute intervals beginning at twelve o'clock. With favorable going the winning team is expected to reach St. Paul on Thursday evening of next week.

WHEN CANADIAN WOMEN SHOP IN THE MOTHERLAND They Find Many Words in Their Vocabulary Have Varying Interpretations

At the present time, when so many Canadian women are in England to be near their husbands whose military duties require their presence abroad, many amusing incidents must be brought to their notice relative to the interpretation of many commonplace words on that side of the Atlantic. "Take the word 'homey' for instance," says Every Woman's World in its January issue. "This word applied to an Englishwoman would signify her to be domesticated, hospitable, and kind-hearted. In fact, would embrace all the qualities essential to the making of a womanly woman. A plain featured person would be called ugly."

Especially in shopping do these Canadian women find their vocabulary not quite understood. The article continues: "On going into an English shop, and asking for a spool of thread, the clerk would be at a loss to know what you meant. A request for a reel of cotton would bring forth the desired article. "He wearing apparel, the term shirt-waist is practically unknown, but a blouse is dear to the heart of every Englishwoman. "My lady's suit is a costume, her waist, a bodice. "Men even do not enjoy the sole possession of boots; women's footgear is also known under the same name. Shoes apply only to low-cuts and house slippers. "Shopping, as the word implies here, is not tolerated in some parts of England. Many tourists will be ready to testify to this. It is not the easiest thing in the world to enter a place of business—say in a provincial town—just look around, then endeavor to walk out without making a purchase, especially if the clerk has disarranged any of his stock for you. With a polite, "Just a moment, Madam," the floor-walker is summoned, the assistant explains that you are not suitable, then follows a cross-examination by that autocrat, and to say the least, the situation is embarrassing doubly so, if you had not any intention of buying, and the excuses given were purely fictitious. "In London and Liverpool, however, this system is being abolished by the larger firms, and many have notices to the effect that ladies are invited to inspect and admire without being pressed to buy."

A Difficult Question Catherine seemed such a reliable girl that Mrs. Moran had no hesitancy in leaving her in charge of the children while she went for a long drive. "How did they behave during my absence?" she asked on her return. "Beautifully, madam," Catherine replied, "but in the end they fought terribly." "Why on earth did they fight?" "To decide which was behaving best."
