JOHN DOE, MULE, FINED.

Took Nap on the Tracks and Refused to Shift.

"John Doe" mule, was fined $25 for obstructing Jersey City traffic the other day.

John wandered from home in the rush hour this morning and lay down for a nap across the Greenville car line tracks at Ocean avenue and Dwight street. The first car that came along tried in vain to budge the mule by striking it. The crew tried mule suasion with equally vain results.

After fifteen minutes ten cars were tied up. The combined efforts of the ten motormen and ten conductors brought nothing but an annoyed kick from the mule. Finally the reserves were called from the Ocean avenue station. Their attempts were equally futile until Police-man Rogers revealed some "cigar" of Italian origin in his pocket. Three puffs from a lighted "cigar" so affected the mule it tottered to its feet.

Before it regained full consciousness the mule was bound "hand and foot" and lifted to the rear platform of one of the trolleys. It was given a free ride to the Ocean avenue station, where its owner may have it upon payment of the $25. The mule was looked at by John Doe, and charged with obstructing traffic.
