

PISTOL SHOT ENDS GANGSTER'S CAREER

Italian, Five Times Convicted, Slain in Front of His Cafe.

New York, Sept. 1.—John Pelletieri, who had several aliases, was shot and killed while sitting in front of his cafe at 42 Monroe street. The slayer held the revolver so close to the back of his victim's head that the skin was burned with powder. This is the latest in a series of murders of criminals in the Italian section. If it keeps up, the police say, there will be little left for detectives to do.

Pelletieri first came to the attention of the police twelve years ago when he was wounded and his father killed by an assailant against whom the son refused to testify. His latest contact with the police was in connection with the murder of his partner in the ownership of a ice cream parlor in Kearsburg, N. J., last April. Pelletieri and Kate Alessio, twenty-one, were held as material witnesses to the shooting, and were released on bail in New Jersey only recently. In between these episodes is a long record of assaults and burglaries, with five convictions.

The murderer crept up on Pelletieri from the back of the Monroe street cafe, which reaches back to Hamilton street, shot him, and, hurdling children and boxes of produce on the sidewalk, raced east to Market street and then south to Hamilton, where he disappeared. Kate Alessio, who lives at 66 Mott street, was on the scene immediately after the shooting and attempted to minister to the already dead man. Because of rumors that she had quarreled recently with Pelletieri, that he had struck her, and that her brother George had shown resentment, the Alessio girl and her brother were taken into custody by detectives of the Oak street station, questioned and released. Pelletieri, who lived at 51 Henry street, was married and had three children.

Bernard Leveque Finds Path-er in Montreal When He Uses Newspaper Columns.

Montreal, Sept. 1.—Bernard Leveque of 816 West 26th street, New York City, came to the end of a nineteen-year-old quest in a Montreal hotel, when he was reunited to his father who left him in an orphanage in Odessa, 28 years ago, when Bernard was only five years old.

The death of his wife caused Leveque Senior to place his child in an orphanage. Bernard thrived and lived at the orphanage until he was eleven years old. Then he was sent to work on a farm of Keene Centre, New York. He was fourteen years of age when he left the farm and went to New York City to earn his living.

Every year Bernard spent his vacation touring through the various districts of New York State in search of his father. Three weeks ago he chanced to visit the farm where he had worked for three years. He was told that five years ago his father had been there in search of him but not being able to find him had returned to Montreal, where he probably still lived.

The son immediately set out for Montreal, armed with a 32-year-old photograph of his father. He searched the city. Directories and telephone books led him on false trails but he finally advertised. Leveque Senior will probably return to the United States to make his home with his son.

Clippers Defeat Phantoms.

In eight innings of fast and exciting ball, the East End Clippers, leaders of the East End Intermediate League, trimmed the Phantoms last evening, by a score of 9 to 1. M. Griffin, star pitcher of the clippers, pitched a steady game and was given great support. Ramsey in right and Haslewood in centre both pulled down some long flies that were labelled for home runs. The losers played a loose game in the first innings while Burns was hit quite freely, the Clippers scoring seven runs. The Phantoms' shortstop played a great game making a shoe string catch behind third base, besides having a nice three bagger and scoring the losers' only run. The batteries were—For the Clippers, the Griffins brothers, for the Phantoms, Burns and Jones.

Careless Shampooing Spoils the Hair

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just plain, Multifold coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Multifold in a cup or glass with a little warm water, is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Multifold coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure you get Multifold. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.

ITALIAN FLEECE OF HIS SAVINGS

Confidence Men Work Old
"Italian Charities" Trick on Victims.

Toronto, Sept. 1.—Following hot upon the heels of the Richmond swindle, in which confidence men relieved a woman of more than $2,400, is the case of Salvatore Parri, fruit merchant, aged fifty of 341 Parliament street, who was robbed of $860 by two men by means of the hoary old game of "Italian charities." The men have disappeared, and as a memento of their fleeing visit Parri retains his grief and a tin box containing two handkerchiefs stuffed with paper, a local weekly paper and two one-dollar bills. Parrie is penniless.

The police say that Parri met a compatriot, whom he claims to know, in Centre avenue. This man suggested to Parri a whiskey-selling scheme, which, however, Parri was not enamored of. In a moment or two they were joined by another Italian, who, after a short conversation, said that he had $15,000, which he intended to distribute among the Italian poor of the city, if he could get some reliable Italian to handle the money for him. For this task the distributor would be rewarded in a suitable manner.

The upshot of the affair was that Par-ri handed over his money as a bond to the confidence men, and received in return the box containing the supposed $15,000, which he took home with him.
At the time appointed for the distribution Parri waited in vain for his erstwhile companions and when they did not come he got suspicious, opened the box and discovered the swindle.
