THE SCOTT ACT IN PARLIAMENT.

A Reselution Regarding it Voted Down-The Government Will Not Take Charge of a Bill to Amend the Act.

In the House of Commons at Ot tawa on Tuesday last when the orders of the day were reached, and Sir Chas. Tupper moved that the House go into the following amendment:--"That this House do not now go into committee, but that it be resolved that in the opinion of this House it is the duty of the ministry to submit to Parliament as will remove all legal impediments to the efficient working of the Canada Temperance Act." After a somewhat lively debate participated in by Messra. Mills, Macdonald (Sir John), Laurier, Jamiesou, Scriver, Macdonald (Huron), Froman, Fisher, Wilson (Elgin), Foster and Davies, a division was taken with the following result:-

The discussion was carried on to a large extent on party lines, several of the Liberals who took part taunting the Conservatives with refusing to vote for a temperance resolution, and the Conservatives in tuen accusing the Liberals of attempting to make party capital out of the prohibition question. It will be noticed that the division was a party one the question being almost tantamount to a motion of want of confidence in the government. We trust that it is not In any sense an indication of what i fate of the Jamieson amendment bill when that measure comes before the House.
