

was severely wounded. Amongst the officers from whose active exertions I derived the greatest assistance, I cannot omit to mention my Aid-de-Camps, Captains Javis and Loring, likewise Holland, Aid-de-Camp to Major General Riall. Captain Loring was unfortunately taken prisoner by some of the enemy's dragoons, while in execution of an order. On reviewing the action from its commencement, the first object which presents itself as worthy of notice is the steadiness and good countenance of the squadron of 19th Light Dragoons, under Major Lisle, and the creditable and excellent defence made by the Incorporated Militia battalion under Lieutenant-Colonel Robinson, who was dangerously wounded. Major Kerby succeeded Colonel Robinson in the command of the Incorporated Militia Battalion, and continued very gallantly to direct its efforts; this Battalion had only been organized a few months, and much to the credit of Captain Robinson of the King's Regiment (Provincial Lieut. Colonel) attained a highly respectable degree of discipline. The determined attacks which the enemy made upon our centre for the purpose of gaining at once the crest of our position and our guns, and the steadiness and intrepidity displayed by the troops allotted for the defence of this Post, were never surpassed; they consisted of the second Battalion 89th Regiment, commanded by
