Resolution of Condolence.
At the regular meeting of the members of Maitland Lodge, No. 216, A. O. U. W., it was moved by Bro. Richard Ross, seconded by Bro. Cowan, and Resolved, that we, the members of Maitland Lodge, No. 216, A. O. U. W., desire to express our deepest sympathy with Bro. J. R. Williams and his bereaved family in the removal, by death, of his beloved wife; and we desire to convey to them our heartfelt expression of profound sorrow in this sore bereavement.
We feel it unnecessary to remind Bro. Williams and his bereaved family that in seasons of trial God is a Refuge and Strength to his people, and we most sincerely pray that the God of all consolation will most graciously sustain you and them so that you may be enabled to bow submissively to His wise though mysterious providence.
Signed on behalf of the members of Maitland Lodge, D. SANDERSON, ROBT. TOUNG, Master Workman, Secretary.

Laklet.
To-day (Monday) a young man from Harrison, named Napoleon Vale, rented the east blacksmithshop from Mr. John Moore, of your village. Mr. Vale comes highly recommended from a town in which there are some of the most efficient blacksmiths in the Province. It appears Laklet cannot exist if there is not stern opposition in all lines, and if there is a living for two smiths our burg can stand the ingress of a few more people; hence to our new man we extend a welcome.
A social in aid of the Methodist Church will be held in the house of Mr. John Scott on Thursday evening. A good programme will be rendered, and doubtless a pleasant time spent.

Halliday's sale and concert is sure to be a success.
Mr. Kesang, the weaver, is doing well here. Carpets and cloths of all kinds are turned out weekly in 50 and 100 yards each week. Call round everybody, the old people deserve your patronage.

The Binder Twine Question.
Editor Gazette.—Having noticed a communication in Feb. 23, headed "Binder Twine," it created in me a desire to draw the attention of your intelligent readers to a close scrutiny of this farmer's letter. The writer is certainly a man worthy of admiration on account of his business abilities, also as a philanthropist, and not less worthy for the amount of cheek which he displays.
We notice that he informs the farmers and Patrons that they may be led into a trap by the promoters of this scheme, who, he says, are showing large dividends for the shareholders in this company. I would just here say that no such inducement has been held out to the men of this township; but notice the business tactics of the writer when he shows how that by the establishment of this factory in the city of Brantford, and the government manufacturing it in the Central Prison, will reduce twine to a little more than the cost of manufacturing—which would be about 6c. per pound for the best manilla. Now the average farmer, a year like last year, will consume 100 pounds on 100 acres of land, for which he pays 12c. per lb. If the price is reduced, as he says it will be, by this undertaking, to 6c. per lb. instead of 12c., it will mean a saving to that shareholder of $6, which is equal to $6 gained on a dividend of 60 per cent. to the small shareholder; at this rate those men, which he says are going to get into a trap, will in two years have their money back with a pretty good interest for the amount invested.
He also sets forth ideas which are misleading when he says in the event of the depreciation of stock to the amount of 25 or 30 per cent. some of the small shareholders would get uneasy. As no man has the privilege of taking stock in this company excepting farmers, it will be to the interest of the promoters and large shareholders to deal fairly with the smaller ones (who are all consumers) in order that they may increase the output of this factory, thereby giving a larger dividend to all.

Let us now take a look at him as a philanthropist. He is certainly a man who would lie behind the fence in ambush while his fellow man was giving his life for his country, and would be ready to share the spoil or shout the shout of victory. The Patrons are working for the good of this uncharitable-Cannie who is afraid to risk $10—say nothing of his own life—in a scheme that is bound to take millions of dollars out of the grasp of greedy monopolists and give it to the industrious tiller of the soil, to whom it properly belongs.
Perhaps the part which is the most worthy of admiration is the quantity of cheek displayed in his letter. The inspired penman tells us "in a multitude of counsellors is wisdom." This scheme has been discussed in all the Patron Associations, and although we have not all taken stock we unanimously agreed that it was the proper thing to do; yet this Solomon of the nineteenth century, undertakes to dictate to a company of Canada's shrewdest business farmers who could teach our learned friend for some years to come, and thereby prevent him from showing his ignorance, as is manifest in his letter to your esteemed paper where he plainly contradicts in his own words the very idea he tries to convey to others: I refer to this paragraph where he says "such a coadjutancy might arise," to say nothing of the insult he offers to honest, intelligent business men. Oh, no, Mr. Farmer, the Patrons of Industry are capable of attending to their own business, and if that does not meet with your approval we would recommend you to weigh your ideas before you send them broadcast over the land.
Yours, A PATRON.

Glenarrow.
On Friday evening last about one hundred guests assembled at the box social, held in Mr. Thos. Bolt's new house. A very enjoyable evening was spent by all present.
Mr. David Gemmill, jr., who has been travelling for some time, and will have a sale of his farm stock on Thursday, March 16th.
Mr. Jos. Kitchen, of this place is at present visiting friends at Galt.
Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Campbell, of Wellesley, are visiting friends here.

Wingham.
(Too late for last week.)
One of the saddest accidents which has happened in Wingham for a long time occurred on Tuesday morning of last week in the furniture factory of Mr. Thos. Bell, the unlucky victim being Mr. Jno. Bell, brother of the proprietor. It appears that a belt had come off a revolving pulley and Mr. Bell, as he had often done before tried, to put it on with his foot, as the pulley was low down. The belt caught his foot, which had a rubber shoe one and in a moment his leg was whirling around in the spokes of the wheel smash'n; the bone in such a manner as to cause amputation of the fractured member, just below the knee, necessary. Just the week before, in the same factory, Mr. Sheffield was the same victim of a rather severe joke, by the buzz plainer, the result being that he lost the four fingers of one hand.
A charity social was held in the temperance hall, by the relief committee of the Y. P. S. C. E. of St. Paul's Church on Thursday evening of last week and was very well attended. A neat little sum was realized which will be divided among the poor of the parish.
Rev. E. W. Hughes having received a parental call to England to settle some business affairs of his widowed mother, sent in his resignation as rector of St. Paul's Church, in consequence of which a vestry meeting was called and his resignation was reluctantly accepted. The reverend gentleman since he came to Wingham has won the hearts of every person in the neighborhood and his absence will be keenly felt.
A skating contest between Sam Elliott, champion of Wingham and R. McNaughton of Brussels, took place on the rink here on Tuesday of last week and was won by the latter by about ten yards.
