FAMOUS AUTHOR

Ends Long and Useful Career

Edward Eggleston Whose Books Have Entertained Thousands is Dead.

Special to the Daily Nugget. Chicago, Sept. 4.—Edward Eggleston, the famous American author, is dead. (Edward Eggleston was born at Xevay, Ind., Dec. 10, 1837. He became a Methodist preacher and at different times was editor of the "Little Corporal," "Sunday School Teacher," "Hearth and Home," and other similar publications. In 1879 he retired from the pastorate of the church of the Christian Endeavor, Brooklyn, N. Y., and devoted himself entirely to literature. His chief works of fiction are "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," "The End of the World," "The Mystery of Metropolisville," "The Graysons," "The Circuit Rider," "Roxy," "The Faith Doctor and Duppels." He also wrote a history of the United States for school use. For the past few years he has been engaged on a "History of Life in the United States.")

A GOOD TIP.

While many a life is saved by drugs there is many a fatality caused by same, not but what they are a good thing if they are fresh and properly used. Never patronize a drug store that is not up-to-date in stock. Old drugs and medicines do more harm than good. Cribbs, the druggist, carries only fresh, up-to-date drugs and at virtually outside prices. A trial order will convince you.

VENEZUELAN REBELS ARE HELD IN CHECK

The Government Is Gaining Ground—Important Seaport Captured by General Velutini—Government Now Has Ten Thousand Available Men—Revolutionists' Ability to Attack Is Problematical.

Special to the Daily Nugget. Caracas, Sept. 4.—During the past fortnight the Venezuelan revolution has lost time and ground. The insurrectionists were in undisputed possession of Carupano, Cumana, Barcelona and Guiria, which districts include all the eastern coast of Venezuela, but owing to the skill of General Velutini, a large commercial port has been wrested from them by Gen. Castro at San Casimiro, his vanguard being at Camatagan awaiting reinforcements to attack the revolutionists at Alta Gracia De Orituco. His army is estimated at 5,000, well armed and disciplined. Castro's first lieutenant, Gen. Leopoldo Bastis, is at the Villa De Cura with 2,000 men and Gen. Arauco has 3,000 men posted on the frontier state of Trujillo. These are all the available forces of the government. The troops of the revolutionists must be disseminated. Gen. Matos, the revolutionary leader, is inactive at Searaza surveying the arrival of 5,000, 000 cartridges which are reaching him slowly. The revolutionists more- over have been obliged to construct bridges without tools or engineers. The revolutionists were dangerous before, the government set out to attack them but now their ability to attack the government is problematical. It is no longer a local war they will be constrained to carry on but an invasion. This does not mean that the revolutionists will lose, nor is this suggested, but Castro is now in a good position to defend himself. He will nevertheless have much to do to emerge victorious because the revolutionists in addition to Matos' army have 3,000 men at Alta Gracia. The environs of Valencia are overrun with revolutionists. Los Leques is in their power and 1,400 of them are lodged in the mountains between Caracas and Lagunair. Nevertheless the government still lives, commands and is feared. A battle is expected within four or five weeks either near Alta Gracia, D'Orituco or between Ataguila and Santa Lucia valley, by which the revolutionists must attempt to pass in order to reach Caracas.

RETURNS ISSUED

Special to the Daily Nugget. London, Sept. 4.—Parliamentary returns issued today give the final casualty list during the South African war as follows:—Number of killed 5,774, wounded 23,029, died of wounds 16,168. The total casualties amounted to 44,961.

Election at the Forks

The enterprising little village of Grand Forks had its second election yesterday, selecting a successor to Walter Woodburn, mayor and general overseer, whose term of office has expired. Many of Mr. Woodburn's friends endeavored to persuade him to accept the nomination for a second term but he declined the honor not wishing to monopolize the one lone office that is within the gift of the people.

There were two candidates placed in nomination, Mr. W. F. Dalgleish and Mr. McDonald, but after about two dozen votes had been cast Mr. McDonald withdrew in favor of his opponent and his election was made unanimous. Mr. Dalgleish is from the province of Quebec and is a hero of the Edmonton trail in the days of '97 and '98. He is in the general merchandise business at the Forks and is very highly spoken of by his friends.

A NEWSPAPER MAN SHOT

In San Francisco by President of California Jockey Club—Wounded Man Alleged to Have Slandered a Young Lady.

Special to the Daily Nugget. San Francisco, Sept. 4.—Fred Marriott, publisher of the San Francisco Newsletter, was shot this morning by Thos. H. Williams, jr., president of the California Jockey Club, and Truxton Beale, former minister to Persia and Greece. Williams, whom Marriott alleged did the shooting, said, "We considered it our duty to punish Marriott for allowing to be published an article reflecting on the reputation of a young lady not named but clearly indicated." After shooting Marriott, it is claimed that Williams fired two shots at Mrs. Marriott who had rushed to her husband's assistance as he fell. It is possible the wounded man may live.

Vault to be Added.

Work will shortly be begun upon the construction of a large fireproof vault at the courthouse for the use of Clerk of the Court Macdonald. Not since the establishment of the territorial court for the Yukon has there been a place of security for valuable papers and records such as always accumulate in the courts, many of which could never be replaced in the event of their destruction by fire. The new vault will be sixteen feet square in the clear and will be placed adjoining the northwest corner of the building. When completed Mr. Macdonald will occupy the quarters now used by the court stenographers and the main office of the sheriff, a door being put in to connect the two apartments. The stenographers will take the sheriff's private office and the latter will move into the quarters now occupied by the clerk.
