"The Sign of the Slate"

on a SLATER SHOE means just what the signatures do on a Bank note. The paper may be the right kind—the engraving may be faultless—but unless the names of the proper officials are signed in their proper places—the note has no legal value. The signatures make the Bank responsible for the payment.

"The Sign of the Slate," either stamped on the sole or sewn on the lining of a shoe, makes it a SLATER SHOE—proves that it was made in the Slater factory by the famous Goodyear welt process—makes the Slater Shoe Company responsible for its wear, service and comfort. "The Sign of the Slate" means that the shoe has been examined—that factory experts could not find a flaw in it—that they deemed it worthy to uphold the high standard set by SLATER Shoes.

"The Sign of the Slate" is just as important to shoe buyers, as the signatures are to the holder of a Bank Note.

Drunken Logger Crashed Into Window of Laundry

Attempt to Arrest Him Leads to Furious Onslaught

San Francisco, Oct. 16.—As a result of an attack on a Japanese laundry Monday night, the proprietor and one of his employees are in a hospital, many whites are nursing bruises caused by the clubs of the police, and the exterior of the laundry is a wreck. The trouble was occasioned by Joseph King, an intoxicated logger, who crashed into the window of the laundry conducted by Umekube at 422 Fell street.

The proprietor and Omura rushed out and dragged King to a rear room, where he was placed in charge of a young Japanese, who stood guard armed with a section of gas pipe, while the other Japanese hurried to summon the police to arrest King. Three intoxicated companions of King planned to rescue their friends. Other whites were called in, and there followed a combined attack on the laundry. The streets were soon filled by a large crowd, and a dozen Japanese on the inside sought to repel the invaders.

Policeman Thomas Collier attacked the crowd single-handed. Another officer soon arrived in an automobile, and a riot call brought strong reinforcements. The police charged the crowd with clubs, and many persons were hit. Umekube and Omura were conveyed to a hospital, where it was found the former was cut about the head, while Omura sustained a fracture of the shoulder. King was found asleep in the rear room, innocent of the trouble he had caused. Attorney Walker of the Japanese Society of America is procuring evidence about the affair.

WILL RE BUILD

The Planet, in a short interview with W. M. Drader, whose two mills here were recently destroyed by fire, was assured by that gentleman this morning that it is his intention to rebuild.

"Things are still in an unsettled state," he told the reporter, but it is our intention to build again. I could not say just now as to whether we will construct one large mill, combining both the planing and stave business, or whether we will erect two mills. This matter has not been decided upon as yet, but I can give you some news as to this point later on."

DIED OF OLD AGE

George F. Ecklin, aged 89 years, 2 months and 9 days, passed away this morning at the residence of his son, C. W. Ecklin, corner of Hilliard and Forest streets. Deceased was a widower, his wife having passed away twenty years ago. He leaves a family of six to mourn his death. They are, C. W. Ecklin, of this city; G. W. Ecklin, of London; F. M. Ecklin, of Toronto; Mrs. B. McNichol, of Woodstock; Mrs. W. B. Graham, of Goderich, and Mrs. F. Hathaway, of this city.

Deceased was born in Ireland, but has lived the most of his life in Canada. He came here only last September, and at the time he was quite feeble and had been ailing for some time. Death was the result of extreme old age. He was not at any time considered seriously ill, and was talking pleasantly to the members of the household half an hour before he passed away.

The funeral will take place Friday morning at eight o'clock to the Grand Trunk Station. The remains will be taken to Goderich for interment.

Mr. Ralph, of Wonderland, left this afternoon for Chicago on a purchasing trip.
