Varicose Veins and Itching Piles

Usually Arise From Same Cause—Relief and Cure Effectuated by Dr.
Chase's Ointment.

Nearly everybody knows of Dr.
Chase's Ointment as the most effective treatment for piles or hemorrhoids that medical science has been able to compound. So much suffering and misery arise from this ailment that one is not long in telling his friends when he has found an actual cure.
This accounts for the enormous sales of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

This letter tells of relief from the suffering of various cases by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Many suffer from these troubles and relief can be obtained by the use of this great soothing ointment.

Mrs. E. J. Evans, 127 Munro street, Toronto, writes: "We have used Dr.
Chase's Ointment for years. I have been troubled with varicose veins, and find it the only thing that gives relief. For every purpose when a soothing, healing ointment is needed there is nothing so good as Dr. Chase's Ointment." (Dr. Chase's Ointment is sold by Messrs. Edman, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.)

The Open Door.

Open the door, let in the air;
The winds are sweet and the flowers are fair, Joy is abroad in the world today,
If our door is wide it may come that way.

Open the door.

Open the door of the soul; let in sympathy, pure thoughts which shall banish sin; They shall grow and bloom with grace divine And their fruit shall be sweeter than that of the vine.

Successful Dairying.

There are such excellent concrete examples now and again outcropping of men who prove that it pays to take up cow testing, that their records of success make stimulating reading for dairy farmers all over the Dominion.

Here is a good sample of what one at Cedar Hill, Que., in the Gaspé peninsula, accomplished by carefully watching his fairly good cows and feeding them better. The first year his eight cows gave him 33,511 pounds of milk, an average of 4,188 pounds at a feed cost of $35.50, netting a total profit of $75.82, or an average of $9.60 profit per cow. Two of the best cows in the herd the first year were lost accidentally, two heifers made up the herd to eight again; a pure bred sire is kept.

The next year his eight cows gave him 47,408 pounds of milk, an average of 5,926 pounds, or 1,000 pounds of an increase per cow. The feed cost $42 more per cow, but the total profit was $177.29, or an average of $22.16 per cow. This is an increase of one hundred and thirty per cent in the profit. It pays to give additional feed if the cows kept are of the type to make use of it profitably.

The forcible realities are these: the gross income from milk increased by $133.43 from the same number of cows, the profit far more than doubled and the owner has received every encouragement to try for still better results. That is where a trial cow testing trip generally lands the herd owner.

Surprising Cure of Stomach Trouble.

When you have trouble with your stomach or chronic constipation, don't imagine that your case is beyond help just because your doctor fails to give you relief. For over a year past I have been troubled with my stomach. Everything I ate upset it terribly. One of Chamberlain's advertising booklets came to me. After reading a few of the letters from people who had been cured by Chamberlain's Tablets, I decided to try them. I have taken nearly three-fourths of a package of them and can now eat nearly everything that I want. For sale by all dealers.

Fear.

Fear is about the biggest bugaboo that failure sends out, for its red flame of destruction gets to the heart of more men and women than any other agency of evil. It is a force of fire that sooner or later is sure to burn the noblest soul to dust, if not mastered.

Fear is never without. It is always within.

Fear is inside of yourself—if it is anywhere. Your job is to smother it out. And here are a few suggestions.
First, trust yourself. Then trust other people. And finally, trust God—for there is a God, somewhere, somehow. Where there is trust, there can be no fear.

No one can ever win so long as he feels his success.

It has been inspiring to read: "He either learns his fate too much, or his deserts are small, who dares not put it to the test, to gain or lose it all." The conquering of fear is the grand business of life.

At the moment that you feel no fear, you begin to live.

The happy warrior fears no foe.
The efficient, courageous worker fears no task. He is unafraid of his job.
Oh, you who read this little talk, fear nothing. The purpose of a great world runs through you as it runs through all mankind. Smile and be sprayed by its truth. This day is an important part of the whole. And you are an important part of this day.

Walk past fear. It is easy. And you can.—George Matthew Adams.

Back to Canada Movement.

Whiteville, a prosperous town 30 miles west of Boston, is being deserted. In two days recently, 50 French Canadian, former residents of Quebec, left for Edmonton. Many are giving up positions in the mills in town near Whiteville, families are being broken up in many cases, and stations present a sorry sight.

The immigration to Canada from this and other New-England towns is becoming alarming to local business people and an effort will be made to induce the residents to stay. The Canadian Government is working actively through agents all over New England to entice the Canadian-born people to their native country.

Leap from Aeroplane

WILL BE SENSATIONAL FEATURE AT THE PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION.

List of attractions for the Big Fair, September 1 to 11.

Manager Hall has completed arrangements for the grand stand attractions for the Provincial Exhibition, September 3rd to 11th. The great sensational feature will be the demonstration of the Stevens Safety Pack. Harry B. Brown and Arthur Lapham enter the aeroplane and make an ascension. While they are floating at almost a mile a minute, Lapham leaps from the aeroplane and descends to the earth in the Safety Pack. Nothing like it has ever been seen before in this province, and it has been the star feature of the Aeronautical Society meets during the year.

The other attractions will include: Hugh F. Blaney, (who sings to beat the band), the Paragon Park melodist, who is well known throughout the musical world.

The Great Novikoff, who gives a clever performance on the tight wire.
On a silver thread he performs the most difficult and dangerous feats, jumping over chairs, tables, jumping rope, turning hand springs and numberless other feats.

The four Laddells, acrobatic comedians. They claim to be the only act of its kind in the world. They execute all kinds of twisting somersaults and jolly tumbling with grotesque features. As knockabout comedians they are unsurpassed.

The five Martells, famed bicyclists.
They perform any trick possible on the wheel. Their work represents the highest possibilities of bicycle manipulation.

Polist, the man on the pole. His entire performance is given on a slender pole which towers over seventy feet in the air. The pole used by Polist tapers on the end on which he performs to two inches, making almost whiplike in limberness, and as he performs way above the heads of the spectators the pole sways and bends like a tall sapling.

The Flying Brontostians. Their performance is given on the aerial bars, and it is a sensational act, by sides being a novelty, as the principal features of the young and attractive ladies. Double somersaults, pir-ouettes and twisters are accomplished in mid air with perfect ease.

The Loretta Twins & Company, triple-bar performers. The Loretta Sisters may not be the pioneers of their sex in this style of work, but they rank well up with the best of their brother performers in the same line. Swings, crossbar work, doubles from the bar, and all the feats long recognized as being in the triple bar act are expertly executed by these clever sisters.

Will Hill, the greatest of all wire walkers, the most sensational act seen outside of the greatest cities.
He ascends to the highest point of the wire, dressed in the costumes of an old woman, and there begins a lot of stunts that simply cause astrophis-ment. Then he disrobes and starts preparing a meal in mid air, after which he dances, turns flip-flop and many other hair-raising feats.

Mlle. Margaret Hill's animals. A magnificent European production which makes its first appearance at the Halifax Fair. Mlle. Hill is not only a beautiful woman, but a remarkable animal trainer. The drill and manoeuvring of her ponies are so accurate that they seem possessed of almost human intelligence, but watch the leaping of her Siberian and keep baby healthy. The horses and the Canadian monkeys are also wonders.

Insolvency Law.

It is pointed out by a contributor to "Industrial Canada" that Canada is one of the three remaining countries in the world which have no bankruptcy system. The other two are China and Japan, and unless events move quickly in this country there is some probability of Canada's being left alone to enjoy the distinction. There is a story of a man, who, having been compelled to sleep on a rack for a number of years was allowed to return to an ordinary bed, but asked to be permitted to return to his rack.
He found it more comfortable.

Since the repeal of the Insolvency Act of 1875 business men of this country have become so accustomed to adapting themselves to the varying laws and practices of the different provinces of Canada that a change would not receive an unaimed welcome. There is every probability that the subject will occupy the attention of Parliament at the next session.

Bankruptcy legislation is still associated in the minds of many people in this country with certain evils which arose out of the bankruptcy legislation of England, but these evils have long since been eliminated by changes in the English Act. It will be interesting to see how much of the old prejudice will develop when the question comes up for discussion in Parliament.

Mother—I've been most unfortunate to day.

John—How so?

Mother—Well, I saw a piece of bread and jam in the road and poked it with my walking stick. A few minutes later I was arrested for disturbing the peace.

John—Really? What hard luck! A friend of mine had a stiffer experience the other day. He saw a bad peony lying in the road and walked past it. Soon afterwards he was arrested for passing bad money.

The Best Argument.

The case of young Vincent Astor is likely to make more converts to Henry George than any amount of preaching or pamphleteering.

The will of the late John Jacob Astor, who went down with the Titanic, has just been probated. It was the largest ever entered in the United States Court, disposing of about eighty eight million dollars in all. Of Mr. Vincent Astor, a youth who has just come of age, receives seventy-seven millions. He must pay $5,000,000 of an inheritance tax, but although this would worry most of the young Astor can settle it up to the last cent and still have something left out of one year's income from his estate.

The point about the whole thing is that neither Vincent Astor nor his father, nor to a certain extent, his grandfather, have done a thing to earn the money. They have displayed no enterprise and sinned not a cent of their fortunes. They have sat down and watched their fortunes grow, grow so fast that they could not spend the income from it, grow like a snowball, the bigger it became the bigger the increase.

And it has grown upon and out of the enterprise and intelligence of others. Others have made the old Astor farms worth thousands of dollars a square foot. The Astors have reaped where they did not sow; their swollen fortunes is the best argument against a system of taxation which penalizes progress and subsidizes stagnation.

The founder of the Astor fortune made his first "hit" in the fur business. He left turned his attention to New York real estate. For three generations the Astors have been land values soaring higher and higher and more and more millions were thus added to their pile.

They have done little or nothing to add in the great forward march of the United States. They have waxed fat by the enterprise and industry of others. Ours has not to go out of Nova Scotia to find the Astor system of money making in full force. Land is held for speculative purposes. It is not even cut up in streets or lots. A growing population,—made possible by the ventures and investments of live citizens and by the thrift and industry of the workmen, enhances the value of the holdings of those real estate owners and the price of their property is doubled and trebled, without any credit being due them. Some day there will be a system of tax imposed which will remove the burden from improvements and place it upon the men who are making fortunes out of land that cost them little or nothing but which has become valuable by the enterprise of others.

Causes of Stomach Troubles.

Sedentary habits, lack of outdoor exercise, insufficient mastication of food, constipation, a torpid liver, worry and anxiety, overeating, partaking of food and drink not suited to your age and occupation. Correct your habits and take Chamberlain's Tablets and you will soon be well again. For sale by all dealers.

Summer Heat Hard on Baby.

No season of the year is so dangerous to the life of little ones as the summer. The excessive heat throws the little stomach out of order so quickly that unless prompt aid is at hand the baby may be beyond all human help before the mother realizes he is ill. Summer is the season when diarrhoea, cholera, infantum, dysentery and colic are most prevalent. Any one of these troubles may prove deadly if not promptly treated. During the summer the mother's best friend is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and keep baby healthy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Londoner's mother was sitting at the window watching the children play; so she asked who was the mother.

"I am," said Mary, "and Jack is the father. Nellie is our little daughter and Harry is our baby."

The mother saw little Tom sitting in a corner all by himself, and said:
"Where does Tom come in?"

"Hush," said Mary, in a surprised tone, "he ain't born yet."

New Steamer for Digby Route.

"It is probable that a new boat will be put on the route across the bay this summer." Alex MacGregor, Supt. of the D. A. R., told the St.
John Telegraph lately. "Improvements for the acceleration of the service to Digby are well under way, and to cope with the increased traffic, this addition will probably be made.
I do not know exactly when the arrangements will come into effect, but it will be some time this summer.
Business is increasing very steadily, both on the boats and on the railway, and improvements are going on in both departments. All the larger bridges are being strengthened. That at Clements' point is nearly complete.
Work is under way at Allan Creek bridge, while the work on Bear River bridge is being rushed night and day.
Many other changes and alterations are under way, the bulk of the work being done between Windsor and Digby."

Where Language Fails.

Perhaps the most charming of all Joachim Miller's works is his prose romance on autobiography, "Life Among the Modocs," a story of Indian life, in which the soul of the red man is more sympathetically figured than in any other book. Take this passage:

"I said to the old chief one day:
'Your language is very poor; it has few words.'"

"We have enough. It does not take many words to tell the truth," he answered.

"Ah, but we have a hundred words to your one."

"Well, you need them."

The old Indian rose as he said this, and gathered his blanket about his shoulders. His dog lay with his nose on his two paws, and his eyes raised to his master's. "You have not words enough in all your books to give a single look from the eyes of my dog."

Ben Butler was once chairman of a meeting at which Rufus Choate was booked for an address. Mr. Choate was about to begin his address when a man crawled up to Butler, and wis-pered to him that the judge in the floor and the supporting beams were giving way because of the heavy pressure on the floor, and they were likely to collapse any moment. Butler turned to the man and whispered to him
