That Mind of Ours.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

What a world travelling life transformation, lighting flash force is this strange power of thought that presumably separates man from the beasts! Last night I was thinking of a certain woman. Just a few seconds later I found myself thinking of a place I visited eight summers ago. What made me think of that place, I wondered? And then I traced back with conscious effort the road over which—subconscious thought had flown so quickly. The woman I thought of is a certain type. I had been analyzing her and had thought of two other women whom I felt would be peculiarly congenial to her. Then my mind had picked out for contrast a woman of the opposite type. I wondered what this woman was doing this winter; I remembered that the last time I heard of her she had been to the tropics. I thought of the summer I went to the tropics myself, I thought of a horseback ride I took then, and then of another I took in the place I visited eight summers ago. My Mind Did All This Travelling in A Few Seconds.

All this, which I have chronicled so tediously, passed through my mind in a few seconds. Just think of it, I had recalled four personalities, travelled thousands of miles and ranged over the experiences of years in that brief time!

Did you ever realize how much of our life is mental—that is how much consists in thoughts rather than sensations? The animal's only life is in his present sensation (or at least that is the general opinion). While with us, the memory of past experience, the anticipation of future experience and the creation of imaginary experience play a far larger part in our life than the present sensation.

Could Anything Be Much More Vivid?

Of course the mental life is less vivid than the physical. And yet when Tennyson wants to describe a transcending sweetness, he does not use as his measure any actual sensation but rather the mind's creation of imaginary sensation—"sweet as kisses by hopeless fancy feigned on lips that are for others."

If you lived right on the side of a mountain and never went any farther away from it you might never realize what a tremendous height it was. If you pressed your face up too close to a wonderful picture you might never know what a beautiful thing it was. And that is why I have tried to push you away from this power we all take for granted in order that you may get for an instant a vague conception of what a world travelling, life transforming, lighting flash power it is.

With My Letter Friends.

Question—A woman who says her husband's friends and relatives are cruel enough to laugh at her because she makes mistakes in etiquette and grammar asks me, "Couldn't you publish the names of some books that would help me?"—"Weary."

Answer—I have both sympathy and admiration for you, for you are evidently trying to do your best. Couldn't you pick out one of the least hostile relatives, explain your ambitions, throw yourself on her mercy and ask her to help you? No need a living critic and teacher. Another help to correct speaking is to read good novels. Any book store or public library will recommend what you want. If you will send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, I shall be glad to send you a list.

November.

By GEORGE FITCH.

Author of "At Good Old Slawsh."

November is a month which is now being introduced by the calendar for the 1915th time in the hope of making it popular as a thirty-day sentence imposed by Nature on humanity and served out principally under an umbrella.

November is a month which would like to become winter, but which hasn't quite got the nerve. It is usually composed of ten rainy days, ten cloudy days and ten snowy days or freezing days with a pinch of sunshine between the various divisions. It is useful because it makes December seem pleasant in comparison.

In November the trees finish disrobing and as they wave their bare limbs against the sky, the wind converses through them. There is nothing more talkative than a November wind. Along about 10 p.m. on a bleak damp night, a November wind likes nothing better than to come along and hang around the entire evening, reminding you that the rent is almost due, and that it is a long time until spring, and that Death by freezing is particularly sad, and that unless you pay your last winter's coal bill pretty soon you will have to go to bed to keep warm. A November wind is more pessimistic than anything on earth, except a Wall Street operator during a spasm of public honesty.

November was invented by the Romans, who did so many terrible things in the early Christian era. It was so named because it was the ninth month at that time. The growth of business has compelled the addition of two more months since then, both of them being of much better quality.

In November, automobilism, croquet and lawn socials begin their long winter's sleep, but football is very popular because it is easier to keep warm in a football game than it is in a house where the furnace is being repaired. Football in November is the game to decide whether the player will dent the ground or the ground will dent the player. The ground usually wins. Corn husking and riding to the polls in an opposition carriage are also two popular outdoor sports during this month.

There are three great uses for the month of November. It kills malaria, flies and political campaigns. None of these are able to survive the climate of this month. If it were not for November political campaigns might go on right up to Christmas and entail vast suffering among the rich. Most of our public officials are elected in the month for this.

November was first put prominently on the map by the Pilgrim fathers. About 1630, when they discovered that there were only a few days of the month left, they instituted a Thanksgiving festival, which has been observed ever since with increased gratitude and devotion as each November has worn away.

Tobacco Arrives.—The Furness Line's Tobacco, Capt. Yeomans, reached port yesterday afternoon from Halifax. The run occupied 65 hours. Much fog was met. She brought 1,000 tons of general cargo. The ship sails again to-morrow for Liverpool taking an outward cargo of fish and oil.

C. C. C. Parade.

The Catholic Cadet Corps under command of Lieut.-Col. Conroy held a church parade yesterday, attending Last Mass at the Cathedral. Headed by the band under command of Capt. Arthur Bulley, the battalion numbering about 300, marched from their armoury to the Cathedral grounds where an inspection was held by His Grace the Archbishop, after Mass, which was celebrated by Rev. Father Carter, the Corps assembled in the Aula Maxima where they were addressed by His Grace, who expressed his pleasure at meeting them officially for the first time. His Grace referred to the good work done by the Corps in the past and exhorted all present to live up to the ideals of the Corps and to fulfil their obligations as Catholics and as citizens. After hearty cheers had been given for His Grace the battalion returned to the Armoury the band discoursing lively music along the route.

Large Funerals.

MR. REEDY (H. M. C.)
The mortal remains of the late Mr. Michael Reedy were laid to rest at Mount Carmel Cemetery yesterday afternoon. The funeral was one of the largest witnessed in St. John's East for some time. The procession included over two hundred mourners, amongst whom was a representation from H. M. Customs of which deceased was an efficient officer for over thirty years. At the R. C. Cathedral Rev. Fr. Ryan officiated.

MRS. COTTER.
The funeral of the late Mrs. Catherine Cotter, whose death occurred with such awful suddenness, took place Saturday afternoon and was largely attended. Rev. Fr. Carter recited the prayers for the dead at the Cathedral. Interment was at Belvidere Cemetery.

It will be noticed that the catch for this year, reported to date is 22,555 quintals in excess of the catch for 1913 which was considered a good year.

A druggist can obtain an imitation of MINARD'S LINIMENT from a Toronto house at a very low price, and have it labeled his own product.

This greasy imitation is the poorest one we have yet seen of the many that every Tom, Dick and Harry has tried to introduce.

Ask for MINARD'S and you will get it.

Anniversaries of Local Historical Events.

On this date 45 years ago two girls, Mary Sullivan and Mary Martin, were killed by a plank falling from the tower of the R. C. Cathedral.

On November 1st, 1886, three men, David Kenny, Thomas Costello and John Martin, were burnt in a railway section tilt, near Conception Harbor, and this day in the same year the streets in the city were first lit by electricity.

Hon. D. Morison was admitted to the Bar 24 years ago to-day.

This date 1852 the British Hall first opened and the Torbay T. A. Society was founded on November 1st, 1879.

It is just 20 years ago to-day since the first load of native coal reached St. John's from Grand Lake; also it was on this date two decades ago that part of Harbor Grace Island collapsed.

A New Departure.

The first cargo of herring ever shipped to France from this port will be going forward in a few days time by the French barquentine Raymond. This vessel came here recently for repairs, having had her rudder carried away and other injuries sustained during a storm. Mr. Tasker Cook, the well known shipping agent, is despatching the herring cargo.

Back From the West.

The S. S. Portia, Capt. J. Kean, returned from Bonne Bay and intermediate ports last night. Going West fine weather was experienced and a good run was made, but on the return trip dense fog was met, and the ship was detained. She brought a full freight and these passengers in saloon:—Messrs. S. Spencer, O. Hickey, J. H. Mahar, J. Day, E. Fleuming; Mesdames Jas. Lockyer, T. H. Grandy, S. Gibbons; Misses M. Hallett, A. M. Gibbons in saloon and 10 in steerage.
