THE SIX VOTES MYTH.
NEW YORK, Aug. 11. Discussing what it terms the renewal of the "Six British Votes Myth" at Washington, the New York Times, this morning, makes a strong plea for re-consideration of the British Dominion's coming Disarmament Conference. The Times says that the whole mission of the Japanese Alliance was of this clearing the way for President Harding's proposal for a Disarmament Conference, and was due entirely to the Dominion Press, as was much of the change in British sentiment which was evident during the Imperial Conference.

FOREST FIRES IN ENGLAND.
A letter received last night by Mr. H. Keefe, from Lord Morris, says things are far from bright in the Old Land. Trade is passing from the country. The decreased output of coal, caused by shorter hours of work and absence of modern methods of mining is having a detrimental effect on the life of the nation. Referring to the drought, the letter says it lasted for 12 weeks from the first of April, with scarcely a drop of rain in the interim. The thermometer rarely went below 79 in the shade. Everything was scorched, the harvest was almost ruined, root crops being 10% below average yield. Forest fires were very frequent, and caused immense destruction. Lord Morris is describing a journey by motor to Leicestershire says he counted no less than 10 distinct fires and there was not one half mile of railway embankment for the whole 500 miles to and from London that was not burned.

PARK CONCERT.—The Methodist Guards Band gave a splendid selection of music at the concert held in Bannerman Park last night. A large number of people were present, and seemed pleased with the programme.
