And every movement that has brought humanity nearer to God has, in doing this, elevated human thinking and living into realms where they have become more gentle and pure and good. So, when such a move-ment as Christian Science should come into the world, it was inevitable that there should be a divinely ordained one to reveal and lead way; and because it is inevitable that knowledge which is Divine power shall come in gentleness, beauty, purity and light, it was in the native order of the divine fitness of things

The Discovery edge that Mary Baker Eddy is the overer of Christian Science, that this discovery came about through her own healing—a healing that came through the touch of divine power,

It is by no means a thing anomal-ous and unprecedented in Christian history that one should be healed through faith, in answer to prayer. It is a matter of authentic record that spiritual healing was known in the work of Wesley and his early followers, among the Quakers, or ends, among the Scotch Covenant-Luther healed his young friend Melanchthon. All down through the process of the Christian centuries, after eliminating everything that seems to bear the stamp of fanaticism or superstition, there yet remains in the Christian church a continuous record of those who came so near to God that in the hour of need they proved that He is one who not only forgiveth all our inquities, but who healeth all our diseases. One of the great orthodox thinkers and writers of last century, one whom some have thought even the greatest, Dr. Horace Bushnell, has said this: "The first cutes this kind of inquiry apart from all prepossessions and saws of tradi-tion, will certainly be that the clumsy assumption commonly held, of a cessation of the original, apostolic gifts, at about some date, is forever exploded; for, as in fact they never consented to be stayed or concluded by any given time, so in history they persist in running by all time until finally the investigator comes into the discovery that the stream is a river, flowing continuously through all ages, and always to flow." Mrs. Eddy felt there was a law back Mrs. Eddy felt there was a law back of her healing, and that she must know what it was. Under this Divine impulsion she retired from society for three years, and giving herself to a study of the Scriptures, "sought the solution of this problem of Mind-healing;" as she herself has put it, "devoted time and energies to discovering a positive rule." (Science and Health, page 109). Through this
